To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

I read Mr. McMorran's letter criticising Rev. Dr. Talmage and his lectures, and felt immediately as if I would like to answer it. I think he is finding fault without cause. Dr. Talmage and the others he names are right in looking on the bright side of things, for there is a bright as well as a dark side. Would to God we could persuade all the men and women in the world to look on this side more, for then all the many beautiful promises and prophecies concerning this grand and interesting world of ours would come to pass.

Mr. McMorran says: "Let Dr. Talmage or anyone else show two texts showing that we may expect the world to get better." I think we could show him hundreds and prove from examples all around us that they are true.

After all, what are our Bibles, our churches, our colleges, our schools and all our other Christian institutions for, if rightly used? Are they not all intended to lead us to God, the author of all good, both for this life and of the world to come, the Sun of Righteousness? When if men would only open up their hearts and let in the light it would quickly transform each desolate heart into a paradise, no matter what the station in life, or the circumstances of the individual so blessed.

"Few rightly estimate the worth
Of joys that spring and fade on earth:
They are not weeds we should despise,
They are not fruits of Paradise;
But wild flowers in the pilgrim's way
To cheer, but not protract his stay;
Which he must not too fondly clasp
Lest they should perish in his grasp,
And yet may view, and wisely love
As proofs and types of joys above."

Hoping that Mr. McMorran (and all others like him) may soon be brought out of the fog, so that he too may enjoy to the full all the glorious things around him, in this present life and afterwards attain to higher and better. Yours respectfully,

April 22, 1893. A. M. C.
