

Thistles Win on the London Greens

Two rinks of the Thistle Club bowlers visited the London Bowling and Rowing Club greens Saturday, and defeated a like number of that club's rinks by 8 up, in the Bank of Toronto trophy competition.

The rinks skipped by Wilbur Vining and George Nightingale played a draw, each rink having 15 points.

Bert Heaman's four was too strong for C. E. German's trundlers, and the victory went to the Thistles. The scores:

They scout at the talk of hard times coming winter, and point to their fields full of golden grain and barley as reason for their optimism.

Is Acting Mayor.

Ald. Moorhead is acting mayor today. There was little doing, with the exception of a few checks to sign. There were not many visitors. "I am sure that the street railway company does not see fit to give the two-way service on Ottawa avenue during Old Boys' week," Ald. Moorhead told The Advertiser. "The east end residents intended doing a great deal of decorating, and a two-way service added much to the effectiveness of it. I hope the company will have a two-way service on that street for the week, at all events."

DROPS IN STREET MAY NOT RECOVER

Harry Williamson, of London West, Overcome With Serious Illness in Market.

Overexertion caused Harry Williamson, of West London, to fall unconscious in the market place this morning, and when later taken to the Victoria Hospital but little hope could be held out for his recovery. Heart failure was given as the cause of the collapse.

Williamson, who is now past middle age, was once a fairly well-to-do citizen of this city. For the past few years he has been eking out an existence around the market, or wherever he could earn a little money.

This morning Market Clerk Mack engaged Williamson to sweep the sidewalks around the market, and he had been at work for perhaps ten minutes when he suddenly tottered and would have fallen had not Mr. Mack run to his assistance.

"I am dying, Charlie!" Williamson cried. Then he lapsed into unconsciousness.

Dr. Hogg was at once summoned, and upon his arrival ordered Williamson taken to Victoria Hospital. Williamson's condition is described by the hospital authorities as very critical, and it is doubtful if he can recover.

Williamson has a number of relatives in this city, but he has not been living with any of them for some time.

STORY OF A FENCE ON PORT STANLEY BEACH

One Man Puts It Up to Prevent Trespassing by His Neighbor.

Londoners who had not been to Port Stanley this summer prior to Saturday were surprised to find a barbed wire fence separating the two bathing-houses on the beach, opposite the pier. But few of the visitors, however, were aware of what led up to the erection of the fence, which extends from the Pere Marquette track to the water's edge, compelling those who would take a stroll up the beach to go around by way of the railroad or wade through the water.

The bathing-house nearest the sidewalk on the street leading to the lake is conducted by Mr. Thomas Hough, who erected the fence. The adjoining place of business belongs to Mr. John Howe.

Mr. Howe does not take kindly to the innovation, and by way of showing his disapproval of Mr. Hough's course he has erected within a foot of the fence a hand-shaped sign, pointing towards his competitor's place of business, and reading as follows:

"This Fence Was Erected by Thomas Hough."

The following letter to a St. Thomas paper from Mr. Hough explains the situation:

"Will you kindly allow me space in your valuable paper to state the facts, and also correct any false impression regarding the wire fence which was recently built between my property and that of John Howe, on the beach. This same John Howe has been using my property as a thoroughfare for a length of time, in the neighborhood of fifteen years, he having no other road to his residence and bathing place except across my lot. I asked him to discontinue this, and he refused. I then consulted a lawyer, who told me that if Mr. Howe used my property as a highway until the twenty years were past, he could claim a road through it, and it would be impossible to ever stop him, so the only thing to do was to build the fence. "I am sorry it is an inconvenience to the public, but there is consolation in knowing that I shall have to remain there only one year."

"THOMAS HOUGH."

A TREACHEROUS SHOAL

Supposed to Have Been Removed, But Still in the Business.

Port Huron, July 20.—The report that the shoal which has been making below the Standard Oil Company's dock at Sarnia has been removed appears to be premature.

Sunday the gas buoy was removed, and two hours later the steamer Mariposa, towing the Bryan Mar, bound down, pitched upon the shoal.

The Mariposa succeeded in releasing herself, but when the current caught the stern of the Bryan Mar, she was carried down the river broadside, and collided with the sunken steamer McIntosh.

The Bryan Mar's stern is damaged and she was towed to Lorraine for repairs.

SLAUGHTERED ON TRACK

Six Foreigners Killed Last Night in Buffalo Yards.

Buffalo, July 20.—Between midnight and daybreak this morning, six foreigners were run down and killed by trains in the railroad yards at South Buffalo. None of the dead men has been identified.

The first body was found on the Lake Shore Railroad just beyond the city limits. Two more were picked up by the crew of a Lake Shore switch engine at the Buffalo Creek Railroad crossing. The bodies were badly mutilated. Two hours later, the bodies of the other three were found 300 yards west of the Buffalo Creek crossing. Like those found earlier, the bodies were so badly cut up that identification will be very difficult. The six deaths coming within a few hours caused some talk among the foreigners in South Buffalo of a suicide pact among idle and dispirited laborers.

It is more probable, however, that the men were on their way to work or to seek employment and were run down in the fog which prevailed this morning.

WINTER WEATHER IN ITALY

Heavy Snowfall in the Mountains Near Agorda.

Rome, July 20.—There was an abundant fall of snow at Agorda, Lombardy, Saturday.

The snow covered the surrounding mountains after a persistent rain. The temperature now is almost that of winter.

The savages of Africa seek wisdom from their proverbs. Here is one of them: "One head impaled on the gatepost is more valuable than six on the shoulders of enemies."

In the United States the death rate among the miners is 3.4 to every 1,000 employed. In Belgium in 1906 the number was 0.94, in Great Britain it was 1.23, in France it was .84 in 1905, and in Prussia it was 1.8 in 1904.
