POETRY.

From the Father's Magazine. A FATHER TO HIS MOTHERLESS CHILDREN BY MRS. L. H. SIGOURNEY.

Come, gather closer to my side-My little, smitten flock-And I will tell of him who brought Pure water from the rock-Who boldly led God's people forth From Egypt's wrath and guile— And once a cradled babe did float All helpless on the Nile.

You're weary-precious ones-your eyes Are wandering far and wide, Think ye of her who knew so well Your tender thoughts to guide? Who could to Wisdom's sacred lore Your fixed attention claim Ah! never from your heart's erase That blessed Mother's name.

Tis time to sing your evening hymn-My youngest infant dove, Come, press thy velvet cheek to mine, MAnd learn the lay of love, sheltering arms can clasp you all, My poor, deserted throng— Cling as you us'd to cling to her, Who sings the angel's song.

Begin, sweet birds, the accustom'd strain-Come, warble loud and clear-Alas! alas! you're weeping all, You're solbing in my ear— Good night—go say the prayer she taught, Beside your little bed, The lips that used to bless you there-Are silent with the dead

A Father's hand your course may guide Amid the thorns of life-His care protect these shrinking plants That dread the storms of strike But who upon your infant hearts Shall like that Mother write?
