Digby Courier—Dr. F. S. Messenger, physician and surgeon, has located in Digby and has been appointed port physician in the place of the late Dr. L. H. Morse. For the past eighteen years Dr. Messenger has carried on a very extensive practice at Petite Riviere, Lunenburg county, which he has just sold out to Drs. Burchell and Davis. Dr. Messenger is a graduate of Acadia and a New York University. Dr. W. F. Read has purchased the residence and practice of the late Dr. L. H. Morse, Digby, and will for a time have associated with him Dr. Patton, who after a few weeks will go to London. Dr. Read will occupy Dr. Morse's office in Mr. Randolph Babin's residence. Dr. Read has had seven years' practice in Middleton. He recently took a post graduate course in the Manhattan hospital, New York, and is a specialist on eye, nose and throat treatment as well as a general physician and surgeon.

Mr. Cecil Ruffee has the Monitor's thanks for copies of "Among the Clouds" and other papers published at the top of Mr. Washington, the highest peak of the White Mountains where Mr. Ruffee is summering. The issue of July 26th of the publication named says: "It was cold enough for snow on Mount Washington this morning, and summit dwellers are wearing fur caps and heavy overcoats. It seems remarkable, but it is true, that summit dwellers can sit around the stove and read of heat prostrations in the cities the previous day. If ever there was a hot place on the map even in the hottest days in summer—the top of Mount Washington is one. With the temperature around the fifty mark, there is no danger of any heat prostrations, so we urge all those who suffer with the heat to come to the Summit of Mount Washington and enjoy the cool invigorating atmosphere."
