

VII.—STATISTICS OF THE WORLD'S MISSIONS.

JEWISH MISSION STATISTICS.

[These valuable statistics were translated and arranged for us by Prof. Chas. H. Schodde, Ph. D. Eds.

It is not generally known that our own day and generation has witnessed a growth of mission interest in the welfare of the once chosen people of God, which can compare favorably with the miracle of missionary activity that we see before our eyes in heathen lands. In the "Supplement," which Dr. Dalman has been publishing for the past two years to the quarterly called Saat auf Hoffnung, edited by that zealous and veteran friend of Israel, the translator of the classical Hebrew version of the New Testament, Professor Franz Delitzsch, of Leipzig, in the interests of Jewish missions, the former has collected the statistics of Christian work in this field, which are doubtless the most complete ever published. As a result of extensive correspondence and reading, Dalman has learned that there are 47 Protestant Mission Societies devoted exclusively to this work, laboring at 135 stations with 977 men and expending each year 1,800,000 marks (1 mark equal to 24 cents). In 1881 C. F. Heiman had published similar statistics, but reported only 20 societies with 270 laborers and an annual income of 1,400,000 marks. In other words, in scarcely half a dozen years the activity in this arduous field has literally been doubled. And this does not include the other societies who engage in the work in addition to other mission enterprises, such as the British and Foreign Bible Society, the American Tract Society, and others.

Dalman's summary of this work is given in the following table, and the whole is translated for THE MISSIONARY REVIEW OF THE WORLD.

Of these, the oldest is the Edzard endowment (in Hamburg), established in 1667. This had no imitators until in 1808, when the great London Society was organized. Other societies were established in 1823 (two), 1830, 1835, 1836, 1841 (two), 1842 (two), 1843, 1844 (three), 1849, 1860, 1861, 1870, 1871 (two), 1874 (two), 1875, 1876 (two), 1878, 1879 (two), 1880, 1882, 1883 (two), 1884, 1885 (five), 1886 (three).
