To JAMES I. FELLOWS.

MY DEAR SIR,—As you are aware, I have long delayed writing to you any word regarding your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, because, although it came to me most highly recommended by many eminent authorities, I was anxious to thoroughly satisfy myself as to its value by the tests of a sufficient number of cases, and of length of treatment, in the person of my own patients.

Taking it for granted that Hypophosphites are now recognized as most valuable medicinal agents, in the treatment of diseases threatening or assuming a tubercular character, there can be no doubt in my mind that your preparation possesses very many advantages over others of a similar character, as also that its combinations are most skilfully proportioned and therapeutically most useful.

The cases in which I have found "Fellows' Hypophosphites" to be of service have been principally as follows :

1. Strumous enlargement of tonsils and of other glands in the region of the throat and neck in children.
2. Debility with imperfect assimilation in connection with nasal polypi, post-nasal catarrh, and post-nasal adenoids growths.
3. Ozena, especially if of a scrofulous character.
4. Chronic congestion of the larynx, with disposition to relapse, and ordinary cases of liability to catarrh, or cold-catching affecting the voice.
5. Dyspepsia and debility of a nervous character affecting singers, clergymen, and others, whose vocations call for considerable vocal effort often impaired by mere nervousness.
6. Several greatly varying forms of phthisis, especially those in which the tubercular manifestations first appearing in the throat, interfere with the digestion and nutrition of the patient.

I have notes of several cases of each of these classes of disease, and of many others in which I have administered your Hypophosphites and having thus a considerable experience of the preparation, I have much pleasure in advocating its use by my professional brethren, with a confident expectation that their experience will be equally gratifying with my own.

Believe me, yours faithfully,

LENNOX BROWNE.
