An Attractive Offer.

MY DEAR GRIP,—Why don't you go into the scandal business? Your paper will never amount to a rush-light until you do. The public want pabulum of this kind. The rush for the London Free Press, on its daily arrival in the city, is something wonderful. Men, women and children scumper after the newsboys as if they would break their necks, in order to possess themselves of copies. I am a professional; and have for several years been employed in scandal-hunting. If "recommends" are wanted, I can get them by the bushel from the Free Press and several provincials. I have occasionally supplied the Globe and Mail with rare tit-bits. They pretend, of course, that they are above all this sort of thing. Its all gammon and mere pretence. They know their readers relish a bit of scandal, and they can't afford to lose the penny it brings them. I have a case in hand just now. It will be ripe in a few days. By way of whetting your appetite, I may just state that the parties implicated belong to the "upper ten." The gentleman in question is an M.D., is married and has a family. The lady is also married, but not to the M.D. I have been shadowing them for the last six months, and have some rich developments to make. They will cause a tremendous excitement in the city when the thing is known. I should like to furnish you with minute details of this case, if we can agree on terms. Be assured, my dear fellow, it will be the making of your paper. A line from you on the subject will oblige.

Yours truly,
BUZZARD SEN.
