Basic Human Needs Priorities for
Canada's Aid Program

Certain Canadians place higher priority than other Canadians on all the basic human needs goals tested. Quebeckers and Atlantic Canadians, for example, place higher priority than other Canadians on all the basic human needs depicted in Figure 16, as do women. There is also a notable gender difference with regard to the priority given to family planning. Women are more likely to give this program highest priority (50%) than are men (33%).
