Gentlemen of the House of Commons :

I am glad to relieve you from further attendance in Parliament after a Session that has been protracted to a longer period than I had anticipated when addressing you on the Eleventh of last March.

The terms and conditions upon which the National Transcontinental Railway will be built and operated having been finally adjusted and agreed upon, the work of construction will proceed as rapidly as the surveys of the line and the location of the road will permit.

The consensus of opinion expressed on the changes in the tariff affords very gratifying evidence that the alterations have met with general approval.
