was cleaning as fast as possible, that so they might cruile against the Enemy, who had taken the Faulcon, a Ship of 32 Guns, off of Cape de Gates in her Passage to Lisbon, from whence he had ordered Sir John Jennings to join him with the Ships under his Command, who was off of Gibraltar the 21st of May, with fixteen Men of War, English and Dutch, and about forty Transports, loaden with Corn, as also Provisions and Stores for the Fleet in the Mediterranean, and arrived at Port Mahon the 28th, from whence he guarded the Corn Ships to Barcelona, and was joined the 8th of All the Fleet June by Sir George Byng, with the rest of the English and Dutch jona. Squadron from Italy, and above two thousand Recruits for the Army in Catalonia.

A Council of War being called, it was determined, that fince the King of Spain, as the Polture of Affairs then were, could not come to any Refolution relating to the Fleet's affilting in the Reduction of thole Parts of Spain still in the Possessing of the Enemy, to tail to a Station ten Leagues South of Cape Thoulon, not only for intercepting their Trade, but to alarm them all that might be; but since it was necessary that a Squadron should be on the Coast of Portugal, Sir John Jenning; was sent thither with one Ship of the sir John Jen-Second Rate, four of the Third, five of the Fourth, and three of nings ent back to Lisbon.

They both failed together from Barcelona Road, and Sir George Byng arrived before Thoulon the 21ft of June, in which Harbour Sir George he faw only eight Ships, which were rigged, and their Sails bent, Byng some and one large Man of War on the Careen, the reft being difarmed, lon. which confirmed the Accounts he had before, that they did not intend to come to Sea with a Fleet, but only to guard their Tranfports for Corn with finall Squadrons; fo that after cruifing there iome time longer, he returned to Barcelona Road, where he found He returns to most of the Ships arrived from the Services whereon he had fent Barcelona. them, and the Dunkirk and Centurion were come from the Coaft of Barbary, being obliged to leave twelve Prizes, loaden with Corn, which the former and the Defiance had taken, in Porto Farina, for want of Men to fail them.

Upon his Arrival at Barcelona, he found the Court of Spain, at the Inflance of Cardinal Grimani, very defineus to have the Reduction of Sicily attempted, and was informed by General Stanbope, semethoughes that it was Her Majefty's Pleafure part of the Fleet should affift in of attempting the Defign upon Cadiz; but the Dutch Ships having been sepatacking Carated in bad Weather, and ours being too few to answer these, and dua many other Services the Court proposed, he suffered for some time the coming to any Refolution, being every Day in Expectation of the Ships of the States-General; but at length he formed a Dispofition of Her Majefty's Ships, and appointed Sir Edward Whitaker for the Service of Sicily, while he himself defigned to proceed on the other with General Stanbope.

The 26th of July the Court of Spain having notice of the Enemy's penetrating into the Ampourdan, with Intention, as was apprehended,
