

over the Sharp-edged
world, whose breadth der's web, and whose e righteous shall pass impious and the un-
age shall endure, he through the want of
and precipitate them-
and blasphemers, with ve done few deeds of e shall be some among
be lighter and swifter t with temptations and ll have ill-observed in t will this formidable e from the Most High

that God did a create n among the number
s of the true religion, with him they shall be
of heavenly delights;
brighter than the sun;
inplate and adore the
shall be detained in the ssors, who have never released at the second
i immediately be washome forth whiter than ll, with the rest of the
there to enjoy all the t the body composed of als? To the which it and brightness of the works of such a charac-

Let us, I say, chiefly e to exert our utmost
f the fast of our vener-l ceremonies which are enth of all our goods.

ain, that there is a hell ngressors of the divine or whom it would have d to have never seen
place of torment is apt touching them, a fire thing but snakes and creatures, which shall ause them to feel grierhe implous and of the
and rage, incessantly