a character to warrant one. The lesson was read from Luke IV. 14. "The spirit of the Lord is upon me to proclaim the acceptable day of the Lord." He said he had been associated with St. Andrew's for ten years, and after the meeting of the Eastern Townships' a ministry, the imperfections of which Dairymen's Exchange, held today, they should have conferred this trust upon him, touched him deeply. Great and worthy men had occupied the pulpit and great and worthy things had been done by the congregation. They marked a standard. He who would live only in the past must be a mourn. marked—a standard. He who would live only in the past must be a mourner. He who lived only in the future would be a dreamer. They must escape these dangers

No branch of the Christian church should be wedded to a tradition which was bound to strangle the life out of it. China had the backward look and

A farmer near the Soo asked a neighbor boy to come over early next morning to help him shoot a deer that was destroying his oat field. The boy went the next morning but could not see the farmer; he then went to the field, when he saw the head of the deer, he fired. It was discovered he shot the deer and farmer also who was carrying the deer home. The farmer died in a few hours.

of the church, and the church militant had seemed to be forgotten.

Is the Church Worth While?

"Is the church worth while" he asked, "worth the time, the influence, the devotion spent upon it?" He was thinking of the church as it ought to be, and this was their responsibility and his. Three things were necessary Three Essentials Are Necessary to Make It So—Atmosphere, Message, Vision

Those who came distraught and discouraged would learn how to meet the world in the presence of Christ's sovereignty, and know that they could seek the Christ patience that never wearled, the Christ love that never wearled, the Christ love that never failed.
