

Note.
The small map which the Canada Company have hitherto been accustomed to publish with their yearly programme, and of which specimens of 1870 are now in circulation, have at different times been abridged, having in some degree become obsolete, in consequence of the rapid extension of improvements, the formation of new roads and the multiplication of townships during the last few years in Canada West: the Company have thought it right to the present edition to substitute the above sheet, compiled from a travelling map of the province on an enlarged scale, which has been corrected from recent surveys made under the direction of the Company's Officers in Canada, and which the Company have now in the course of publication by J. J. Johnston at 25, Abchurch Lane, London.
