Tendered a Reception at Annual Meet. THE HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY'S TULIP SHOW. To the Editor of The Advertiser:

On the occasion of the annual meeting of the Ridout Street Methodist Church, twenty-five of the members who had been on active service were tendered a reception by the young ladies of the choir following the reports of the year's work. Rev. J. E. Holmes, the pastor, presided. A little over $4,000 had been raised for church work, including missions, in all the departments of the church. This is one of the most prosperous year's in the history of the church. A representative from each department read a little address of welcome to the returned men after which they sat down to a supper. An impromptu musical program was given by members of the choir and others of the congregation. The remainder of the evening was spent in games and the social hour was thoroughly enjoyed by the large number present.

The Editor of The Advertiser:

The strain and anxiety of the times we have endured have worked upon the nerves of even the most philosophical amongst us, and the horticulturist, whether he be trade grower or private gardener, has endured dour days for these four years past. It was therefore somewhat akin to a sudden burst of sunshine between murky clouds and blustering storms just to foregather for an hour yesterday in the basement of the public utilities building, for both the sight of the really grand display of tuilips and the greetings and chats with old acquaintances helped in a wonderful way to relieve the tension of mind and carry us back awhile to the time when we were wont to enjoy such functions as this more frequently, but methinks seldom more thoroughly.

These of us who are familiar with the ways of exhibitors, and have seen how good a show has sometimes been how good as how has sometimes been how good as how has sometimes been how good as how has sometimes been hered of the double dour days for these four years past. Those of us who are familiar with the ways of exhibitors, and have seen how good a show has sometimes been got together, even in most unfavorable seasons, went to the show in full expectation of finding something well worth seeing, but I am inclined to think that nobody anticipated so excellent a show as was there awaiting us.

One exhibitor remarked to me that as he was preparing his exhibit at home he chuckled at the thought of the sear. he chuckled at the thought of the sen-
