* WAR SUMMARY *

THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

Note that the significant in northwestern France the Germans have not checked the advance of the allies, but their lines still have to give way wherever the British and the French choose to strike. Bad weather continues to impede the allied progress, but the British captured three villages and the French captured four yesterday. In addition the French have won all of the important lower forest of Coucy. This ground lies south of La Fere and west of Laon, and the French advance has now reached the western outskirts of the forests of St. Gobain and the upper Coucy. The French suffered slight losses, while they drove the enemy from the Villages of Petit Barisis, Vereuil and Coucy-la-Ville. They also stopped by their fire counter-attacks of the enemy to regain the enemy in the difficult country north of Sciesons they also made important progress on a line north of Neuville-sur-Margival and northeast the enemy in the difficult country north of Soissons they also made im-

The three villages taken by the British are Longavesnes, Lieramont and Equanoourt. These positions lie north of Roisel, on the Peronnetand Equanoourt. These positions lie north of Roisel, on the Peronnetand Ingention and Improves the British position between Roisel and Nuriu. British is and improves the British position between Roisel and Nuriu. British shows that the fighting is still in the open field. The allied soldiers believe, according to the enemy will not leave his new lines until the allies bring up their heavy guns. Then he will leave them lies until the allies in the west have made permanent lines untenable for the enemy, had withdrawn in order to counter-stack the allies and to compel them the fight him at a disadvantage before the restoration of their communications, his chance has gone, for by this time, in spite of add weather and destroyed roads, the allies' construction corps must have pretty well repaired roads and railways sufficient to permit the support of dequate artillery battering rams at vital points. called forth an illuminating statement on the present conditions confronting the allies. Paul Painleve, new minister of war, said that successful as was the beginning of the spring campaign, it would be puerile to consider the German retreat as a renunciation. The retreat, he added, was evidently rather by the force of the Anglo-French armies and the prudence of their co-ordination than because of weakening on the part of the Ger man army. It was proof of the necessity of the bringing together of their military energies by the allies. Germany was assembling an army, greater numerically and more solidly equipped than ever before. That Blair, 220th Batt., Toronto Industrial was the instrument of war over which the allies must triumph.

In Macedonia the French resumed their offensive against the Bulgarians and Germans north of Monastir and they captured about 430 yards of German positions in the direction of Cervraigna Crest, taking abou 100 prisoners. Unless the allies have unexpectedly modified their plans of campaign this spring they will soon attempt an advance northward into old Serbia. The fighting will largely comprise mountain operations. The enemy, it is said, has refused to strengthen greatly his forces in this theatre. He is deliberately leaving the Bulgarians practically to their own resources, it is said, in order to conserve his strength for a formidable blow somewhere with great masses of artillery. Italian troops are now holding the Cerna bend and they, supported by the French artillery, re pelled an attack of Bulgarians.

Germany, it is said, has offered tempting terms of peace to Russia. Despite rebuffs the enemy persists in the notion that like Germany all other nations are perfidious. She practically offers Russia much of what she would gain by winning complete victory. Instead of being Russian, however, Constantinople is to be international. Armenia is to be a Russian protectorate. Thus the kaiser freely disposes of the territory of the Italy now expects to be the target for an Austro-German offensive this spring. A while ago Russjan ministers announced preparations to receive a German attack on her northern front. A short time ago Cel. Repington of The London Times was writing alarming articles of a coming German offensive in France, but when challenged he had then to acknowledge that the enemy had not enough men to attack either the British or the French in the west. The enemy, it is known, has drawn his reserves to a large extent for the equipment of an extra force, be-Hered to be 45 divisions, at the present reduced strength of his establishbering 675,000 men all told, and students of this war believe that instead of frittering this fresh force away by a passive defensive, Von Hindenburg will make one more throw. What the allies have most to fear is not the extra force of men, but the increased artillery striking power obtained by the enemy with these 45 new divisions.

Falconer of the University of Toronto, in Convocation Hall last night. President Falconer's address concluded a series of four, which have been given weekly in that building. He said that to the Britisher the leading characteristics of Canadians were vigor, resourcefulness, strength. He declared Canadians were less subject to waves of emotion than Americans, due somewhat to the fact that Canadian newspapers did not indulge in "yellow fournalism." He said the Canadian had courage tempered with common-sense, and should gain the respect of the world. He reviewed the history of the eastern and western provinces, declaring that if the west had not been settled by pioneers from the eastern provinces, or if the Americans had settled the country first, the future of the Dominion would be different.

Speaking at length on the educational aspect of Canada, President Falconer declared that, the there were a few outstanding Canadians of fame as writers and poets, yet there was too little distinction because the standards were so severe. He said Canada, not possessing cosmopolitan cities, was not on the world's highway of literary commerce, but added that the people were improving in literary taste. The speaker concluded his address with a tribute to the Canadian soldiers.

Trifling Sacrifices.

Lord Cheimsford in closing the session, said he was glad to find that the offer of £100,000,000 to the Imperial Government had met with practically the unoanimous accord of the council. There would be sacrifices in the necessities of ordered government, namely, in education, sanitation, public works, etc., but these sacrifices were trifling compared with those of other countries. Thrown back upon heres self, he said, India had already increased the output of her industries a hundredfold. In fact, he believed the war would prove the date of India's Industrial birth. He urged that it was the duty of everyone to subscribe to the war loan.

Alluding to the cotton duty, the viceroy said that a "grievance had been removed which had been a long standing source of irritation, but the whole question of duties would be considered after the war. He added that the Interest sould not, in existing circumstances do more. But the history of this incident is highly encouraging to India, proving that she had true and staunch friends and that her interests would be stoutly defended when the fiscal system came to be briefly and the fiscal system of the said sand that her interests would be stoutly affected when the fiscal system came are to be briefly and the fiscal system to be a considered when the fiscal system that her interests would be toutly a defended when the fiscal system that the interests would be toutly a defended when the fiscal system to be a considered after the war. Misfortunes Over.

Alluding to the gallantry and endurance of the troops in Mesopotamia, he said that the fall of Kut marked the nadir of India's fortune. The Indian army had been bled white in providing troops and equipment for the four fronts; the breakdown of medical arrangements had brought a storm of obloquy on the Indian, administration; the hardships of the summer and sapped the strength of the troops, and the sick had poured into India. All this, he said, had been remedied. He said a high tribute to the labors of the past and present commanders in chief, Gen. Sir Beauchamp and Gen. Sir Charles Monro champ and Gen. Sir Charles Monro who had enabled Gen. Maude's troops to achieve success and victory.

Economy is Gost Divided by

The reason why the Studebaker Four is the most economical four is because of the extra quality, the extra safety, the extra power, the extra low upkeep.

Extra safety means the extra feature of strength which takes the strain of the shock which wrecks the small cheap car. Extra power means smooth, vibrationless operation, not the jarring, jerking, racking, strains of over exerted power. Extra low upkeep is the sum of the advantages mentioned above, and it is the sum of economy, and that is why Studebaker be-lieves it is better to put a little more money and a great deal more quality in manufacturing a car like the Series 18 at $1375, and at the same time give you genuine leather up-holstery and the same quality of fittings and equipment that you find in cars costing more than twice as much as the Studebaker Four-

We repeat that the Studebaker Series 18 is the most economical four in the world. Come in and ask for demonstration.

"A Vegetable Garden for Every Home in 1917," was the subject of an interesting and instructive secture by T. D. Dockray, director of the Horticultural Association, held under the auspices of the Caledonia Ratepayers' Association in Hughes' School, McRoberts avenue, last the chair.

The speaker, in his opening remarks, said: "The slogan of every householder should be a vegetable garden in every householder should be a vegetable garden in every by the aid of a plan how a plot of ground 29 feet by 30 feet could be utilized to the best advantage. He recommended the planting of onions, beets, carrots, peas, beans, spinach, radishes, lettuce, corn and potatoes, giving the largest amount of space to the latter vegetable. He recommended that the best attention be given to the soil, and cautioned his audience against sowing seeds when the ground is cold.

Regarding the use of water, the speaker said: "Watering in Toronto, in my opinion, is considered to be a social function. We water the ground a great deal too much, and twice a week is plenty to water the garden, and plants should not be watered thru the leaves, because the moisture is only absorbed thru the roots."

In conclusion, the speaker declared that the man who grew vegetables formerly had gone to the war, and those who are left at home should produce that the man who grew vegetables formerly had gone to the war, and those who are left at home should produce that the man who grew vegetables formerly had gone to the war, and those who are left at home should produce to solve the content of the costs incurred, a departure from the policy laid down to the water of the costs incurred, a departure from the policy laid down to the water of the costs incurred, a departure reply said that while anxious to ecourage and foster the building of in proved highways there would be be watered thru the leaves, because the moisture is only absorbed thru the roots."
