INCURABLE HEART TROUBLE

LOOKED FOR DEATH IN A SHORT TIME.

Entirely Cured by 'Fruit-a-tives'

"Gentlemen:—The days of miracles are not all past and I feel that my complete recovery, from what seemed inevitable death, is practically a miracle. I suffered from severe indigestion and dyspepsia for nearly two years. I could not take food without fearful distress, and I became almost a skeleton as the result of the suffering. I could not do any work and became so run down and weak that I could hardly walk. I was attended by two experienced doctors. They both pronounced my case heart failure and incurable, and I looked forward for death in a short time. I not only had the doctors but after they gave me up I tried many remedies and treatments but got no better.

"At this time my son asked me to try 'Fruit-a-tives', and from the outset of taking these wonderful tablets I was better and gradually this medicine completely cured me. I took a large number of boxes, perhaps a dozen, and now I am entirely cured and I have gained over thirty pounds in weight.

"I am now so well that I have sold my farm and bought 200 acres more land. I make this statement voluntarily for the sake of humanity, and I am convinced that 'Fruit-a-tives' is a wonderful remedy that will cure stomach trouble where doctors and everything else fail."

(Sgd.) HENRY SPEERS, J.P.

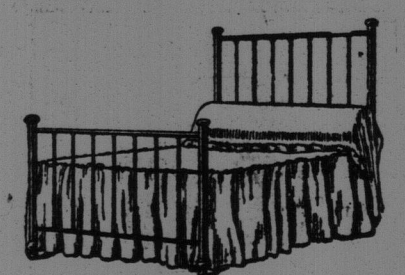

The doctors were all wrong. Mr. Speers had what we call "irritated heart." Indigestion and dyspepsia completely upset the stomach. Poisonous gases were formed which evoked the walls of the stomach and pressed against the heart. "Fruit-a-tives" immediately strengthened the stomach, insured sound digestion and regulated the bowels. There were no poisons—no noxious gases remained in the system, and the heart was no longer irritated. Then the pain and fluttering stopped.

"Fruit-a-tives" is put up in two sizes, 25c and 50c. If your dealer has not both, write Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

ACADIAN CONVENTION

It Will Be Held at St. Basil and Henry Bourassa Will be Among the Speakers.

A national convention of the French Acadians of the Maritime provinces and the New England states will be held on August 19 and 20 at St. Basil, near Edmundston. It is expected that the gathering will be attended by a very large number.

Henry Bourassa, M.L.A. of Montreal, has accepted an invitation to deliver an address and there will be other representative speakers from the provinces and Quebec.

The convention of the kind was held in 1903 at Carleton Place. Among the speakers on that occasion were Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux and F. D. Monk, M.P. The demonstration was in every way a success and it is anticipated that this year even a larger number of Acadians will be present.

STRIKE HOLDS UP A CORPSE ON WAY TO THE GRAVE

Albany, N.Y., Aug. 7.—An unusual sight was witnessed here today when during the progress of a funeral, drivers on the carriages suddenly jumped from their seats and refused to proceed unless the driver of the hearse, whom they claimed was a non-union man, was replaced by a union driver. The undertaker finally secured another hearse and a union driver. The body was removed from one hearse to the other and other complications were avoided.

CARDINAL RAMPOLLA WILL TAKE A HOLIDAY

Former Papal Secretary is Not Well and Will Take His First Vacation for Twenty-five Years.

Rome, Aug. 8.—Cardinal Rampolla, who is about to celebrate his sixty-fifth birthday, and who since 1883, when Leo XIII. appointed him papal secretary of state, has never taken a holiday, has at the urgent entreaties of his doctors decided to journey to Switzerland for the fresh-air cure. He will spend most of the time at the celebrated Benedictine abbey at Einsiedeln.

In that congregation Cardinal Rampolla withdrew almost entirely into private life. In order to leave Pius X. a free hand, the great Cardinal absented himself altogether from the meetings of many Roman congregations and he had been the foremost adviser, but out of deference to the pope's express request he politely consented to attend the gatherings of the congregation of extraordinary ecclesiastical affairs on occasions when his holiness presided in person.

The cardinal retired to bed at 10 o'clock, and rises at 5.30. He devotes the greater part of the day to historical research work in the Vatican library, where a special room is reserved for him. He lectures his enforced Swiss holiday because it will compel him to interrupt an important critical biography of Pope Liberius on which he has been engaged for eighteen months past.

"They want to bundle me out of Italy," he remarked, smilingly, to a friend the other day. "I, who always found the sweetest rest in a change of work, am now in a change of work. For over a quarter of a century I have never travelled in a railway carriage nor stirred from the Eternal City even during the mid-summer heat. They wanted me to go away when my illustrious master died, and the authorities tried to entice me by the offer of gratuitous travel in a reserved saloon in my native Sicily; but here I am, and you may infer that I am not eager to shift my tabernacle. All these years, either within the palace of the Vatican or in this little Villa St. Martin, I have 'soiled' the shade of St. Peter's glorious dome, and under its shadow rather than elsewhere I find would finish my life work."

THE MARITIME DEAF MUTES TO MEET HERE

Their Annual Convention Will be Held Aug. 23 to 26.

The Maritime Deaf Mutes will meet in convention in St. John this month, the meetings beginning with services for the deaf on Sunday, August 23. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will be given over to the business and social side of the convention. His Worship Mayor Bullock will open the convention with an address.

A strong committee of the St. John members are arranging to give the visitors a good time. Included in the entertainments will be a trip on the harbor or river, followed by sports for ladies and gentlemen.

REVIVE RUMOR OF COTTON MILLS SALE

A rumor, which it was claimed came from an authentic source, was current yesterday that the Cotton Mills and York Cotton Mills had been sold to the combine which controls six mills in different parts of Canada. It was said that the president of the combine had been in the city on Thursday and that as a result of a conference the deal had been put through.

Officials of the local company, when applied to, denied that any sale had taken place. When asked if anything had transpired to give foundation to the report it was intimated that there was nothing to be said on the subject.

A result of the heavy rain of Friday morning was the washing out of part of the black pavement in Prince William street near the corner of Duke. It was not improved by last night's deluge.

MEN OF THE FRASER CLAN ON THE PLAINS OF ABRAHAM

Copy of Wolfe's Order Issued on July 6th 1759—How a Fraser Saved the Situation—The Clan Well Represented.

(Northern Chronicle, Inverness, Scotland.)

In no part of the United Kingdom can the accounts of the great military review which took place on Friday last on the Plains of Abraham be read with greater interest than in the Fraser Country surrounding Inverness, for that review commemorated the Battle of the Plains of Abraham in 1759, which secured Canada to Great Britain, and in which no clan or name was so widely represented as the Fraser Clan. Two years before, the Fraser Regiment was raised by the Honorable Simon Fraser, eldest son of Lord Lovat of the Forty-five. The Regiment, under his command, immediately proceeded to America, and took a leading part in the expedition against Louisbourg in 1768. In September, 1759, the Frasers, together with Wolfe's Light Infantry, led the way in scaling the cliffs which separate the St. Lawrence from the Plains above, scrambling up by the aid of shrubs and projecting rocks; and in the great battle which followed they had a glorious share. The officers and men were almost all members of the clan, among the former being the Colonel himself, Captain Simon Fraser of Inverloch, who was killed in the fight, Captain Thomas Fraser of Struy, Captain Alexander Fraser of Oudish, Captain James Fraser of Belladrum, Captain Simon Fraser of Balmain, and six lieutenants, four ensigns, an adjutant, and a quartermaster, all bearing the old name. After the battle, the Frasers entered Quebec, where they served during the subsequent long and trying siege by the French, taking part in the second battle of the Plains, under General Murray. It was to the linguistic accomplishments and presence of mind of Simon Fraser of Balmain that Wolfe really owed the success of his daring enterprise. As the flat-bottomed boats which carried the British soldiers drifted down the St. Lawrence in the dead of night, the French sentry raised out the challenge "Qui vive?" Simon, who had served in a Scotch regiment on the Continent, and spoke French fluently, replied "La France." "A quel regiment?" demanded the sentry. "De la Reine," replied Balmain, who knew that men of that regiment were expected by the French as a convoy of provisions. The sentry was satisfied, and the boats were allowed to pass on. The Frasers, however, were again equal to the occasion, and replied in good French, "Provision boats. Don't make a noise; the English will hear us." Again the sentry was satisfied, and the boats were allowed to reach their destination.

These lines are, however, intended not as an account of the doings of the Frasers, but as an introduction to an interesting document given below brought home by the Fraser Chief (Colonel, afterwards General, Fraser), and remained in his family until sold at the Abernethy sale some twenty years ago. It is the copy delivered to Colonel Fraser of the general orders issued by the British on July 6th, 1759. It is an interesting circumstance that in the present celebrations at Quebec, General Wolfe is represented by Captain Murray, son of Lord Elibank, and that Colonel Fraser, who is the chief of his clan, is represented by Lord Lovat, the present chief. The object of the Campaign is to complete the Conquest of Canada and to finish the War in America.

The army under the Commander in Chief will enter the Colony on the side of Montreal, while the Fleet and army here attack the Governor General's Fort. The Great Council of Provinces and a numerous Artillery are provided, and from the known Valour of the Troops the nation expects success. Those Battalions have acquired reputation in the last Campaign, and it is not doubted but they will be careful to preserve it. From this confidence the General has answered the Secretary of State in his Letters that whatever may be the event of this Campaign His Majesty & the Country will have reason to be satisfied with the behaviour of the army under his command.

The General means to carry on the Business with as little loss as possible and with the highest regard to the safety and preservation of the Troops, diligently and without the least unsoldierly murmur or complaint; and that his few but necessary orders be strictly obeyed. The General means to fortify his Camp in such a manner as to put it entirely out of the enemy's power to attempt any thing by surprise, that the Troops may rest in Security after their fatigues.

As the Safety of the Army depends in great measure on the Vigilance of the out guards; any officer or non-Commissioned officer who shall suffer himself to be surprised by the Enemy must not expect to be forgiven. When any alarms are given, or the Enemy perceived to be in motion and that it is thought necessary to put the Troops under arms, it is to be done without noise or confusion. The Brigades are to be ranged in order of battle. Bridge Generals at the head of the Camp in readiness to obey the orders they shall receive.

False alarms are hurtful in any army and dishonourable to those that occasion them. The out posts to be sure the Enemy is in motion before they send their intelligence. Soldiers are not to go beyond the out guards, the advanced sentinels will fire at all who attempt to pass beyond the proper bounds.

It may be proper to apprise the Corps that the General may think it necessary to order some of the Light Troops to retire before the enemy at times, so as to draw them nearer to the army either with a view to engage them to fight at a disadvantage or to cut off their retreat.

The Light Infantry of this Army are to have Bayonets as the want of ammunition may some times be supplied by that weapon, and because no man should leave his post under pretence that all his cartridges are fired—in most attacks of the night it must be remembered that Bayonets are preferable to fire.

That the Service of the Campaign may fall as equally as possible upon the whole, the Corps shall do duty for their real strength; no change shall be made in the first regulation unless any particular Loss should make it necessary. All Cattle or provisions taken by any detachments of the army is to be delivered into the public magazine for the use and benefit of the Whole. Mr. Ware the Commissary will give receipts for it.

No Churches, Houses, or Buildings of any sort are to be burnt or destroyed without orders; the Peasants that remain in their habitations their Women & Children are to be treated with humanity; if any Violence is offered to a Woman the offender shall be punished with Death. If any persons are detected in robbing the tents of the officers or soldiers they will be, if condemned, certainly Executed.

The Commanders of Regts. are to be sensible that no Run or Spirit of any kind be sold in or near the Camp—When the Soldiers are fatigued with work, or wet on duty, the General will order such refreshments as he knows will be of service to them, but is determined to allow no drunkenness or licentiousness in the Army.

If any Soldier has the presumption to bring Rum on Shore in contempt of the General's regulation, such Soldier shall be sent to the Provosts in Irons and his goods confiscated; the General will make his business as much as possible to reward such as will particularly distinguish themselves and on the other hand will punish any misbehaviour in an exemplary manner.

The men to be made acquainted with these orders and it is expected the officers will do their proper care to explain them to them.

FOR THE BUSY WOMAN

Complexion Treatment That Requires Only a Few Minutes.

Writers of articles on the care of the complexion seldom take into consideration that the average woman has something to occupy her time in addition to exercising, massaging and going to beauty specialists. Some suggestions are perfectly ridiculous as, for instance, one in an Eastern magazine, which recently advised every woman to spend two or three hours daily on her face. On the other hand, here is a simple recipe that can be prepared at home and whose application requires only two or three minutes daily. Obtain at your druggists 2 ounces of Rose Water, 1 ounce of Cologne Spirit and 4 ounces of Epsomite (sain food). Take these home and put the Epsomite in a pint of hot water (not boiling) and after dissolving stir well and then add the Rose Water and Cologne Spirit. The daily use of this simple and harmless face wash tones up the skin and restores the bright, rosy complexion of youth. The Epsomite prevents or removes freckles, tan and sunburn. This fine toilet preparation is to be preferred to powders, rouges and cosmetics.
