He has ceased to be a gambler in the gard to the purity of water of West St. John, also to Commissioner Wigmore's reply thereto, which is very mislead-ing to the public. As one who has driven the road for a few years, and is perfectly conversant with the sanitary conditions of the water supply of Spruce Lake, I have often wondered why the west side people could stand conditions that do exist there. In fact, while driving by one day I witnessed a

By the time this is cleared up it will cost the city in the neighborhood of $100,000. The old council are perhaps excusable as they had no precedent to guide them, and they had no idea that Spruce Lake would build up as rapidly as it did. The same condition will happen at Ludgate, only more rapidly as pen at Ludgate, only more rapidly as this site is far superior for a residential resort, notwithstanding the commission-

If the public at large understood the history in connection with this transaction at Spruce Lake they would take more interest in the management of the water supply, and our rate of taxation would not be so high. I have made some inquiries and find that the city does not own Spruce Lake, but principally the inaccessible parts. There are now many expensive parts. There are now many expensive bungalows to be cleared out.

A BAD PLAY IN MARINES The fallibility of market judgment is illustrated strikingly enough in the confession of the Rockefeller Foundation, in its annual report, that it disposed of 16,000 shares of International Mercantile Marine common at an average of $1.50 and 6,000 shares of the preferred at an average of less than $6. The common has since sold above $50 a share and the preferred above $125. The investment represented a loss of $50,000; it might have shown a profit of $1,500,000. The small investor, relying on his own judgment, may be pardoned a miscalculation or two in buying or selling when the or two in buying or selling when the expert knowledge back of an institution like the Rockefeller Foundation owns up to a mistake of the sort.
