Baseball The Players' Union. New York, Oct. 21.—Directors of the Baseball Players' Fraternity elected David L. Paulin, a former big league star, as president, at a meeting here on Sunday.

Hal Chase's Divorce Case. New York, Oct. 20.—The divorce plans of Hal Chase, the first baseman of the New York American League team, and his wife received a set back when Supreme Court Justice Greenbaum refused to accept the report of Referee Alvin Untermyer, recommending a divorce for Mrs. Chase.

Justice for the Fans. At the Faneuil Hall celebration in Boston in honor of the Red Sox, Mayor Fitzgerald said in part: "I wish to express the hope that, because of the very successful financial season the Boston club has had, it will see its way clear to extend the number of fifty-cent seats. While the people of Boston will be very willing to back the baseball management by paying a proper admission fee to meet the expense of building up and maintaining a suitable grounds, they should not be compelled to pay a large admission fee than what conditions warrant."

After the Series. It is now said that inside baseball defeated the Giants, due to the fact that the Red Sox were able to catch the signals of "Jell" Teraura in the latter portion of the first game.

For the first few innings Teraura had the Red Sox batters in the air. They were "swinging 'em out" because they had not the slightest idea of what he was going to serve up next. But all things come to those who wait, and the Speed Boys (one in particular claims the credit, so it will have to be extended to all made the important discovery that whenever Teraura lifted the ball to his face and, apparently very carefully moistened the pellet, the delivery was almost sure to come across high and fast, while when he passed the fingers of his right hand carefully across his lips, as though wiping his mouth, it was time to look for the low-breaking splitter.

It was in the sixth inning this important discovery was made, and armed with this information, the Red Sox went into the seventh period and won the game by making three runs. And by winning they got the jump on the Giants which eventually enabled them to win the series.

Snodgrass or Merkle? New York, Oct. 20.—There are two subjects of conversation among the fans who follow the fortunes of the Giants. These are the failure of Snodgrass to hold the fly ball hit to him by Clyde Engle, and Merkle's failure to go after a foul ball hit by Speaker in the 10th inning of the deciding game between the Giants and the Red Sox last Wednesday.

There was much difference of opinion as to which of the two was the more responsible for the downfall of the Giants in the most dramatic post-season series ever played. The members of the team had only words of sympathy for the man who will be talked about and roared wherever New York fans meet during the coming six months. President Garry Herrmann of the National Commission announced that Umpire Klem, Ripper, O'Loughlin and Evans will receive a bonus of $250 each for the excellent work they did during the eight games played in the series. This makes the recompense of each of the indicator handlers $1,000 for the series. There was not a word of objection to this from anybody. All those who saw the games agree that the umpiring was as near perfect as it is possible for that kind of work to be. Manager John McGraw of the Giants, said "I am delighted to hear that the work of the umpire was appreciated. They deserve all they get. I don't think I ever saw as good work done. Umpire O'Loughlin, behind the bat, in my opinion, missed just one ball in Wednesday's game, and that was in our favor. I think he called a strike on Yerkes in the 10th inning that might have been called a ball.

"I don't hesitate to say it is absolutely impossible to beat that record, when you consider the number of balls a pitcher puts up in a game.

"In regard to the loss of that deciding game, I have no complaint to make, I do not censure a player for miffing a fly ball.

"The loss of that game meant more to me than anybody except myself knows. But I am not complaining. It's the luck of the national game.

"I sympathize with Christy Mathewson, the best and greatest pitcher the game ever produced. He has seldom pitched better than he did against the Red Sox in the deciding game. But the luck was against him.

"The big fellow hasn't uttered one word of complaint, and I don't think he will. He isn't built that way."

Football

Frederick Wins Again. The Frederick High School football team carried away a second victory since their arrival in the city, when they defeated the Hothey school team on Saturday afternoon at Robesay by the score of 3 to 0. The field was in good condition and the weather favorable for football playing an able contest was witnessed by a large number of people.

Frederick scored on a try in the first half. The remainder of the half and the second half was a keen fight and neither team scored. There was very little open playing through the game. Dr. D. Malcolm refereed.

Navy Beats Wanderers.

Hull, Oct. 20.—(Special)—The Wanderers football team was defeated yesterday by H. M. S. Cornwall, the score being 18 to 6.

Upper Canadian Games.

Montreal, Oct. 19.—The McGill football team this afternoon defeated the aggregation from Toronto University, for the past three years champions of Canada, by a score of 28-7.

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—The Ottawa fourteen defeated the Hamilton Tigers in an excellent provincial football match today by a score of 12-7.

Toronto, Oct. 19.—For the second time this season the Toronto Argonauts today defeated the team of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association in an inter-provincial league football match by a score of 13-8.

American College Games.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 19.—Harvard scored its easiest victory of several seasons over Amherst today, piling up 48 points to Amherst's none on a rain-soaked field.

Princeton, Oct. 19.—Princeton completely outclassed Syracuse this afternoon and when the slaughter was over had piled up 62 points to none.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 19.—Swarthmore's football team this afternoon defeated the midshipmen by the score of 21 to 6.

Princeton 23-6; Dartmouth, 19-9; Harvard 88-3; Yale 60-3.

The Harvard and Yale slates are still free of opposing touchdowns. The routs of last Saturday's games demonstrated that the minor eleven have not suffered anything in particular in the change of the rules, which added an extra down in which to make ten yards.

The Ring Not True.

There appears to be no truth whatever in the report that Jack Johnson, pugilist, had been killed in Chicago by the brother of Miss Lucille Cameron.

News of the Boxers.

K. O. Brown of Chicago and Howard Morrow will clash in Syracuse on October 28.

Dave Desher and Young Nitchie will meet in Marietta, R. I., tomorrow night.

Ray Brown and Clarence Ferns have been booked for a bout in St. Louis the latter part of the month.

Willie Jones and Young Driscoll, featherweights, have been matched to box ten rounds in the main bout at the Boyle A. C., Brooklyn, next Wednesday night.

George Ashe of Philadelphia and Larry English of Brooklyn will go ten rounds and Bant Dorsey and "Special Delivery" Hirsch are also carded.

Edie Morgan, an English bantam, who recently outpointed Frankie Burns of Jersey City, will sign to box Johnny Coulon, American bantamweight champion, ten rounds at Madison Square Garden, New York. Morgan has agreed to make 116 pounds ring-side.

Al Kaufman, who was knocked out by Luther McCarty, in San Francisco, says he is through for good. After his bout with McCarty he turned to his seconds and said: "Well, boy, I've fought my last fight in the ring. When an inexperienced fighter like McCarty can stop me in two rounds I am satisfied I am all in and should quit the game."

DEADLOCK POSSIBLE IN U. S. ELECTION

Writer Sees Possibility of Sherman or Secretary Knox as President. The possibility of a deadlock resulting from the triangular presidential fight is being seriously discussed. By many people it is thought that there will be a failure on the part of any candidate to secure a plurality of the votes in the electoral college. This will throw the election into the National House of Representatives, where another failure to secure a plurality vote will probably be recorded. From the house the election would then go to the senate, where it is predicted that the present vice-president, Mr. Sherman, would probably be elected.

But the suggestion that to Mr. Sherman might fall the presidential prize has in it still one more irony of fate. A despatch received from Utica, New York, the home of Vice-President Sherman, a few days ago describes him as being so ill at his home that all hope of his participation in the campaign has been abandoned by the Republican party leaders. His physician is said to have told Mr. Sherman that his condition is extremely critical and that the slightest activity, political or business, may prove fatal. It is said that the vice-president's trouble is heart disease in chronic form, very far advanced, and he can never expect to be a really well man again. This widens the outlook still more as a matter of pure conjecture and suggests that, after all, a series of extraordinary events may develop which would place Secretary of State Philander C. Knox as the next president. It is entirely within the range of possibility, that the triangular fight may prevent a plurality of the electoral or congressional vote thus causing the choice to fall upon Mr. Sherman. And if Mr. Sherman has heart disease, as he undoubtedly has, it might not unkindly and too grimly be suggested that the shock of the chief magistracy mantle falling on his shoulders might be too much for him and we would then have to start down the presidential succession—through the long line of precedents established in the cabinet—beginning, of course, as has been made and provided since the death of McKinley, with the secretary of state.

A BREEZY WOOING

REGGIE: I understand Percy is engaged to Miss Free. I can't imagine what he can see in that girl to make him want to marry her. George: Well, Percy has a mania for yachting, you know, and she's such a breezy creature that he naturally took a fancy to her.—Jeda.
