We have many Klondikes in our hills and gravels close at home which need only a little patience and toil to yield us golden harvests. In Big Bend Revelstoke has a country of unlimited wealth directly tributary to it, but so far it has not been opened except for the work of a few faithful ones. Now it is coming into notice, and the general opinion seems to be that it is on the eve of a period of development. Are we going to let the Klondike boom take away attention when it seems to be nearest? Something must be done. Something must be done! That some thing is to urge on our federal member the necessity of opening up the Columbia tiver to the north of Revelstoke. A sum of $10,000 was voted for this work before, but spent somewhere else, and with the exception of a few shots in a couple of rocks nothing has been done since towards permanent improvement. The policy of a couple of thousand dollars now and again for this kind of work is worse than useless. There is too much waste to it. The scheme is to get a special act passed granting a sum money for opening up navigation on the Columbia and Canoe rivers as far as navigable and keeping them open to navigation. Too big a scheme! Not at all! Everything points to a large influx of peo-ple into this province in the next few years, and it is only a short while till British Columbia will be a prominent factor in federal affairs. Why, when the people of this province see national debt contracted for St. Lawrence canals, should they not clamor for some share for the west? The National Policy has largely been an eastern policy, but in the west lies the future. Why when ministers speak of railways to the Klondike, should we not ask for money to open up a great mineral belt by river, and the discovery of gold in the Yukon helps to prove that between there and here mineral exists in plenty. If we ask for nothing we will be sure to get
