Great complaint is made of bad management at Sierra Leone—the British agents there not taking proper care to send the best kind of labourers to the West Indies.—Boston Atlas.

It Takes the Viders.—Quite a mistake has taken place in a love affair in Philadelphia. A couple of young fools agreed to elope together, and by some mistake in the preliminary arrangements, the male lover put his ladder up to the window next to that in which his sweetheart slept, which proved to be that in which her mamma, a handsome widow, reposed. She however turned the mistake to her own advantage, got into his arms, was borne by him to the carriage, and by preserving a becoming silence until daylight, kept him in error, and then by the potent power of blandishments, actually charmed him into matrimony.

Large Haul by a Pickpocket.—Mr. Hollister B. Thayer, of Greenfield, while at Riddle's Horse Mart, Union street, Saturday forenoon, had a wallet containing $1000 in bank bills, chiefly on the Brighton Bank, stolen from his pantaloons pocket.

A Wonderful Phenomenon.—A singular phenomenon was brought to light a week ago yesterday in the Township of Greenfield, about eight miles from this city. The facts are very nearly as follows:—The Messrs. Granger, in boring to find water to supply their steam saw-mill, sunk a four inch hole to the depth of seventy feet, when they struck a vein or cavity. As they withdrew the auger from the hole, it was followed by a violent current of air, that threw up stones as large as hen's eggs ten or fifteen feet high. For a few moments, when the hole was first opened, the air was accompanied by a stream of water, which was thrown ten or twelve feet high. The water, however, soon ceased, and the air gushed out with such force that the roar could be distinctly heard fifty or sixty rods distant.

On touching fire to the air it caught, and the flames flashed twenty feet high, and came near burning the building, covering the machinery in which it is located. They finally succeeded, with considerable difficulty, in stopping it by forcing down blankets, and driving a spile into the hole, which was their only means of stopping the air or gas, and extinguishing the flames. For several moments after the hole was stopped, the earth trembled and shook for some distance around, as though an eruption was about to take place. From the time it was opened till it was thus closed, was about six hours, and the air gushed out all of the time with unabated force.

It has been opened several times since with the same effect. The power and force of the air does not seem to diminish in the least. The Messrs. Granger are proposing to secure it with apparatus so as to shut it off and let it out at leisure, and test its real qualities. The people in that vicinity are all confident that it can be conveyed here in pipes, and successfully used for lighting the city with gas. We learn that several scientific gentlemen of this city intend visiting it soon.—Detroit Advertiser, June 29.

The Grand Orange Lodge of British North America.—The Annual Meeting of the Grand Orange Lodge of British North America, was held in the Orange Hall, city of Toronto, on the 20th, 21st, and 22d instant; the right Worshipful the Grand Master in the Chair. We are informed that this was one of the largest meetings ever held in Canada. There were Delegates from all parts, whose reports of the prosperity of the Institution in their several localities were most favorable.

The proceedings of the Grand Lodges of Canada East, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick, was submitted, and bore ample testimony to the flourishing condition of the Order, notwithstanding the peculiar difficulties with which they had to contend.

The Report of the Grand Lodge of New Brunswick was very gratifying. Several Lodge rooms of a superb and magnificent appearance have been erected in that section during the past year, and conveyed in trust to the Grand Lodge of British North America. A request has been made, and will no doubt be complied with, for the Grand Master to go there, dedicate them, and then take possession in the name of the Institution.

Among the visitors present, our informant particularly noticed Jas. Goudy, Esq., of Nashville, Tenn., who although 30 years absent from his native land, who, notwithstanding, able to gain admittance to the Lodge. We understand that the expressed himself highly delighted with the way in which the noble Order is kept up, and resolved to come and settle again under the British flag. We are told he is a gentleman of very large property.

Among the speakers assembled, our informant was particularly struck by the force and eloquence of the remarks which fell from Mr. Allan, the High Bailiff of Toronto, whose talents as a speaker are of a commanding order.—Cobourg Star.

FOR THE CHRONICLE.

English Settlement, 12th July, 1848.

ANNIVERSARY OF THE BOYNE.

Mr. Editor,—Notices having been sent to the Brethren previous to the 12th—on that day Numbers 22, 24, 30, 33, 45, 46, 47, 48, assembled at the Parish Church, English Settlement. They then moved into a field, formed a square of the lodges, and under a Royal Arch of the Baners, was conducted "the man whom the Orangemen on this occasion chose to honor." The necessary arrangements having been made, an elegant Scarlet Robe was brought forward and with ceremony presented to Brother B. Goodwin, by C. Wilson, Esq. M.D., on behalf of the 'Brunswick Star' Lodge. The Presentation Address was as follows:

Sir and Brother.—In appreciating the services which you have rendered to the Orange Institution in these parts, and to this Lodge in particular—we the Officers and Members of "Brunswick Star" Orange Lodge, No. 24, of King's County, request that you will be pleased to accept of this Scarlet Robe. This is presented to you with all the good will and kindly feelings of Orangemen—take it and appropriate it to your own use: continue to manifest a feeling of loyalty to our beloved Queen and the British Constitution, and of love and affection to your brother man. Ever considering and by a judicious course of conduct strive to evidence that you (with us) are not only initiated by the tie of love to each other, but of firm and unchanging loyalty to the powers that be.

To which the following Reply was made:

Brethren and Friends,—I am glad that my efforts have met with your approval. I accept your valuable present to day, and I feel my obligations to serve you made stronger by this mark of your esteem: while it covers and ornaments my person, I would devoutly pray that the wide mantle of christian charity may cover and ornament the soul of each of you. May we ever be found among the enemies of anarchy and confusion, and amongst those who are ready to coin their hearts blood in defence of the civil and religious privileges given us to enjoy and protect by Providence at the hands of William the Third, Prince of Orange.

At the close of this speech the hills rang with 9 times 9 cheers for Queen Victoria and the Royal family.

The officiating Chaplain then delivered a very appropriate sermon from Deuteronomy 6th chap. 3 to 16th vs. The brethren then formed in order of Procession, and then returned to Dinner.

We may say of a truth "Our God was our Guide." The Lodges were full and the Banners elegant; the crowds of spectators appeared delighted; not the slightest misunderstanding occurred; even our very enemies seemed at peace with us.

A very handsome collection was taken up after the sermon for the benefit of a poor widow.

A SCARLET MAN.

[From the Woodstock Sentinel.]

The morning of the Twelfth held out to us the promise of a delightful day, and the promise was fully realized as the day advanced, except that in some situations the heat became quite oppressive. As early as nine or ten o'clock, the streets began to be thronged by people from the country, many of them wearing the badges of Orangemen and all wearing cheerful and animated countenances with the exception of an occasional person on his way to the County Court House.

The different Lodges, to the number of fifteen, assembled at the Hall at eleven o'clock, to listen to a discourse delivered by one of their brethren, (Rev. Mr. Spurr,) who spoke for more than an hour, from the 85th Psalm, 8th verse, an appropriate text, and his sermon was well adapted to the occasion. The procession, which consisted of about 1,000 members, then formed in the following order:

BAND.
DEPUTY GRAND MASTER, (on a white horse.)
Officers of District Lodges Nos. 1 & 2.
Deputy Grand Chaplain.
Grand Master.
County Treasurer and Secretary.
Lodge, No. 35 in following order.
Tyler, with drawn Sword, bearing Warrant.
Master and Deputy Master.
Treasurer, Chaplain and Secretary.
Committeemen, five abreast.
Private Members, four abreast.

[The other Lodges followed in the same order, according to the date of their warrants.]

A number of Flags were displayed, but by far the most beautiful, was that borne by Lodge No. 38, which bore two devices, King William crossing the Boyne, and Her Majesty in her Coronation Robes, painted on blue silk, by Mr. Anderson, of Fredericton. After walking through some of the principal streets of the village, they returned to the Hall, gave three cheers for the memory of King William, three more for Queen Victoria, and dispersed to their homes, or the houses of their friends, where kindness and hospitality awaited them.

The celebration of the day was in every respect widely different from that which took place a year ago, and the contrast must have been highly gratifying to every lover of good order and the Protestant Religion, but to Orangemen it was doubly interesting; for last year there were only four Lodges in this County, and those not large, while at the present time there are eighteen Lodges, numbering over 1800 members. Last year they had a struggle for the enjoyment of those privileges and that freedom which the laws of our country give them; but this year they were allowed in peace to take that course which their rules enjoin upon them. And while the last Twelfth showed that Orangemen are not to be intimidated by lawless rioters, however fiendish their aspect; this Twelfth showed that their triumph did not elate them to insolence, or cause them to overstep the bounds of decorum; for the day passed off without the slighest breach of peace and harmony; and we presume that no holiday in Woodstock, when half the number of persons was present, ever terminated with so little noise or intoxication.

We have received accounts of another great demonstration in Fredericton, where the procession numbered about 1000, (200 being from St. John). Starting from the Tank House, in the centre of main street, at 11 o'clock, they marched to Government House, where they gave three cheers for the Queen, Lieut. Governor, and the British Constitution, they then returned through the principal streets to the "Flats," a beautiful green spot at the lower end of the town, where they listened to an impressive address from the Rev. Mr. Tupper.

[illegible] Sackville, New Brunswick, on Thursday, 6th July, by the Rev. Albert Des Brisay, Chaplain, Joseph R. Hea, Esquire, Classical and French Master of the Wesleyan Academy, to Miriam Ann, second daughter of Mr. John Edson, of Niagara, Canada West.

On Thursday, 13th inst., by the Rev. J. N. DeWolfe, in the Parish Church at Dorchester, J. E. Upham, Esq., of Harvey, (County of Albert,) to Mary Elizabeth, second daughter of Andrew Weldon, Esquire, of the former place.

DIED.
