DR. CAMPBELL'S REPORT

In rising to make his report, Dr. Campbell said: The brilliant president of a great American university defines wisdom as "knowing what to do next" and virtue as "doing it"; and the true college, having the supreme aim of making education practical, will speak her word as "with the counsel of wisdom and the command of virtue. We are coming to understand that in securing a liberal education the acquisition of knowledge is less important than the training and unfolding of mental faculties. The knowledge acquired in the process is incidental and comparatively unimportant. The discipline is the essential feature in all true education. Discipline pertains to the mind itself; while knowledge is something which the disciplined mind may be able to appropriate and use to good advantage. Colleges and universities are designed to give edge to the mental instrument and are valuable in proportion as they secure this primary and all-important end. There may be an extended course of study without much education; while a restricted curriculum may afford a more substantial training, and these observations are in keeping with the modern definition that "education is the formation of correct physical, intellectual and moral habits, thus building up and giving consistency and purpose and strength to the mind and character."

Mount Allison Ladies' College, holding her place in the great family of institutions, aiming at the development of true character and the imparting of lofty ideals is finishing the best year in its history of sixty years—best in the number, age and quality of its students; best in their health and vigor; best in their average academic standing; best in school spirit and appreciation of high standards of living and working. Although it is gratifying to the patrons and friends to know that the demand for admission now taxes capacity, Mount Allison Ladies' College has never rated her success by numbers but devotes the time and strength of her large and well-qualified faculties to impressing high ideals and the development of true character. The register shows an attendance of 422, divided as follows: In residence, 224; non-resident, 198; by departments—College of Literature and Science, 188; Household Science, 105; Conservatory of Music, 253; Museum of Fine Arts, 73.

Looking over the scholastic year now closing, Dr. Campbell referred to the several faculties and departments.

The College of Literature and Science, with its modern equipment and most competent instructor, furnishes the literary instruction in the several courses of the institution and

Are You Droopy, Tired, Worn Out?

Here Is Good Advice to All Who Feel as if Their Vigor and Life Had All Oozed Away.

This Condition Can Be Quickly Cured by a Good Cleansing Medicine.

Your experience is probably somewhat similar to that described by Mr. J. T. Fleming in the following letter from his home in Lebanon: "I think I must have the most sluggish sort of a liver. In the morning my mouth was bitter, and that foul, soot feeling that tells you 'no breakfast here this morning.' A cup of coffee would sort of brace me up, but in two days I was back to the old state. All energy having oozed out of me. Supper was my only good meal, but I guess I didn't digest very well, for I dreamt of beating the hamburger of mine put me wise to Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I think they must have taken hold of my liver, perhaps my stomach, too, because at the very start they made things go right. Look at me now—not sleepy in the daytime, but hustling for a mighty dollar and getting fun out of life every minute. That's what Dr. Hamilton's Pills have done for me—they have rebuilt and rejuvenated my entire system."

To keep free from headaches, to feel young and bright, to enjoy your meals, to sleep sound and look your best, nothing can help like Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box, five for $1.00 at all druggists and storekeepers or postpaid from The Cataract Zone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.
