PERMIT AMERICAN STEAMER TO CONTINUE TRIP TO BREMEN

London, Jan. 8.—The British government has been advised that the American steamer Denver, of the Mallory Line, with a cargo of coal, from the United States for Bremen, was delayed 24 hours at Kierkwall, Orkney Islands, pending an exchange of telegrams with London. At the conclusion of this period of time the Denver was permitted to proceed to Bremen.

Complaint was made at Washington two days ago that the British Admiralty officials were detaining the Denver at the Orkney Islands. Washington took the matter up through the United States Ambassador at London.

R. K. Y. C. NAVY FUND.

While much has been done in the way of providing comforts and necessities for the men in the trenches, little attention has been paid to the men of the Navy. Their work is hard, and even more arduous than that being done on land. In times of peace much can be done to protect the crew of a warship from stress of weather, but in war time it is far different, for the stormer the weather the greater is the possibility of a surprise. The men must be prepared to meet the enemy at an instant's notice, and at night as well as day they lie on the steel deck at their guns. No matter how cold or wet it may be they have no protection but the clothes they wear. The regular issue of clothing is the same as it was a few years ago, when a great part of the fleet wintered in the Mediterranean and other warm seas, before it was necessary to concentrate in the North Sea.

Under the present conditions this is inadequate, and to help remedy this, the R. K. Y. C. members are collecting for Lady Jellicoe's Fund.

Calling In The Dentist.

Up to a certain point the treatment follows well-defined lines. It frequently happens that if the man is struck by a bullet fired at comparatively short range an explosive effect is produced when the projectile hits a bone, and then the worst damage is done. The destruction is so complete, the case in hand. He cleans the whole mouth, including every single tooth. Then the jaw is placed in splints to keep the fractured parts in position and to ensure that the jaw sets in its proper position. In the worst cases a part of the bone is often carried away when an artificial substitute must be used to complete the case. As a rule, when the periosteum, or bone-depositing membrane which surrounds the bones has been destroyed too, and the bone itself has been carried away, then the plastic surgeon takes matters in hand. In the less serious cases the wound can heal by granulation (the ordinary method of healing in an

NEWS FROM ST. JOHN NURSE

Astonishing Results of Bullet and Shrapnel Wounds
—How the Nurses and Doctors Work—Extraordinary Success in Surgery.

Miss Mabel Campbell, of Charlotte street, has received a very interesting letter from a relative who is a nurse in the ambulance section of the American Hospital of Paris, located at Lycée Pasteur, Neuilly-sur-Seine. The writer, who is a niece of W. M. Campbell, of the customs, says in her letter "I have now charge of a small ward of ten beds, all jaw cases. It is very interesting and the most astonishing results happen. If it is a shrapnel wound, usually part of the face is blown off, but the bullet wounds, small as they are, go right through; sometimes fracture both jaws and sometimes even the skull. As if they had visited a beauty parlor, all in these cases the dentists look after, that is to say after the surgeon has taken care of the flesh wounds. I am sending you a newspaper clipping that will tell you exactly what we do in this work."

The clipping referred to is from a newspaper published in Paris. It is here reproduced.

It is a revelation of what modern surgery can do to repair the ravages of war. Into the hospital where these miracles are worked men come with faces half shot away, with fragments of jaws, sometimes with scarcely any teeth, and they leave it to the dentist's establishment. It does not always take so very long either.

Where I saw these wonders is at the American Ambulance Hospital at Neuilly. Hence these marvelous results are obtained through the co-operation of the dental and the plastic surgeon, results which it is scarcely possible to believe in without ocular proof. The dental surgeon attends to the fractured and splintered bones and missing teeth, and the plastic surgeon reconstructs the face.

Some of the details are rather medical but it is due to those who perform these extraordinary feats of surgical skill that a few should be described.

It is an interesting fact that in the great majority of these terrible face wounds the projectile has struck in a downward direction. It was owing to this fact that a certain soldier found himself minus the tip of his nose and the upper front part of his mouth. A dummy section of bone was made for him, containing the necessary teeth to restore the contour of the mouth, and then the plastic surgeon took some skin from his neck and leg and cunningly used it to restore the upper lip. The nose was repaired by grafting flesh on to the remaining portion. The result was perfect in both cases, and I was assured that when the soldier was discharged the profile of his face was absolutely classic. It has happened in some of the accidents that the face has been better looking after his wound has been healed than before his features were devastated by the bullet.

The enterprising spirit which prompts the successful accomplishment of these unusual surgical ventures is evident in many departments of this admirably conducted hospital with its wonderful equipment. There has been no lift available, and the building has been constructed over several of the staircases, a simple but thoughtful idea to facilitate the transport of patients from the wards to the operating theatres and X-rays room.

infected wound) in the usual manner after the alides have been drawn together, but in the great majority of the cases where the tissue has been destroyed or even carried away, and a gaping hole has been left, skin or flesh has to be supplied and moulded and wrapped into position, leaving nature to effect the complete amalgamation. It is not easy to convey in words the delicacy of these operations. One of the most remarkable achievements of the surgeons of this class of work was the actual reconstruction of the face of an Algerian soldier who had been struck by a large piece of shell. The missile entered high up in the left cheek, ploughed downwards through the roof of the mouth, which was almost destroyed, and made its exit as through a window. Again the surgeons had finished with him than before the piece of shell carried away most of his face. A roof for the mouth was done, and that Algerian was much handsomer man when the surgeons had finished with him than before the piece of shell carried away most of his face. A roof for the mouth was done, and that Algerian was much handsomer man when the surgeons had finished with him than before the piece of shell carried away most of his face.

Another remarkable piece of work was that performed on an Englishman who had received a shrapnel bullet clean through his face. It was possible to look through both cheeks to daylight as through a window. Again the grafting of flesh combined with clever dental surgery was so well managed that the only sign the man's friends might have noticed of his wound was that his nose had been a little more Grecian, whereas before it had been Roman.

NUNS GAVE UP THEIR OWN SUPPLIES TO FEED THE CHILDREN IN BELGIUM

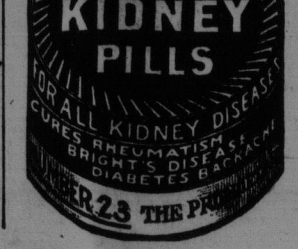

London, Jan. 8.—Herbert Clark Hoover, chairman of the American Commission for Relief in Belgium, today received from the commissions' representative in the Belgian province of Brabant a pathetic account of the relief from imminent starvation of the inmates of the convent of the Soeurs Oblates, near Louvain, comprising 65 nuns and 400 homeless children.

For weeks the sisters had sheltered and fed the children, and it was not until the supplies of the convent were almost exhausted that they sent an appeal to the commission for help. Upon receipt of the request for aid food was immediately dispatched to the convent. The delegates who accompanied the food was received by the Mother Superior in a tattered habit.

"Children in rags and with bare legs, crowded about, asking if it were true that food was coming," says the report. Many of the larger children, with pale and aged faces, showed plainly the terrible experiences through which they had passed.

As the delegate was leaving the Mother Superior said: "Thank God, one country at least has peace, and can so nobly show her sympathy for those at war."

After providing an adequate supply of food for the convent the commission dispatched clothing for the nuns and children from the central depot at Brussels.

NO TRUTH IN RUMORS OF FLOATING OF LOAN IN NEW YORK BY DOMINION

Special to The Standard
Ottawa, Jan. 8.—In answer to a question respecting rumors which have been from time to time since the outbreak of war gained currency both here and in Great Britain to the effect that the Dominion Government was negotiating for a large loan with New York bankers, the Minister of Finance today again stated that there is no foundation for these reports. There had been no such negotiations heretofore and none were in contemplation. The rumors in question have no doubt originated in the fact that upon several occasions brokers have called upon the Minister stating that in their opinion short date money could be obtained in New York by the Dominion. The general financing of the government has been done exclusively in London where Dominion securities have the advantage of being on the trustee list, and consequently sell at an enhanced value as compared with public securities not so favored.

PERSISTS IN STORY OF CARDINAL'S ARREST

Amsterdam, Jan. 8, via London.—The Rosendael correspondent of the newspaper Tied sends a despatch in which he insists that Cardinal Mercier, Archbishop of Malines, was arrested and imprisoned in his palace, and that even now he is detained in Malines. The correspondent says that the Cardinal soon will declare personally that he submitted to a kind of interrogation, that his palace was guarded by military, and that he still is forbidden to leave Malines.

The Cardinal declined, says the correspondent, to go to Brussels on request of the Germans, and when he learned that some priests who read his letter in public had been treated in an unseemly manner he accepted full responsibility for what he had done.

URGE BETTER SYSTEM TO PROTECT LIFE

Coroner's Jury held inquest on death of Charles Godfrey, and recommended that Steamship Companies install some system to safeguard employees.

We, your jury empanelled to enquire into the cause of the death of the late Charles Godfrey, do find the same Charles Godfrey came to his death at the General Public Hospital, St. John, on Tuesday, January 5, 1915, at or about 1.25 o'clock p.m. as a result of injuries received at No. 5 hatch on the steamer Macgregor on Monday, January, 1915, lying at No. 3 berth, West St. John, while on a ladder in said hatchway in connection with his work. He was struck by a sling of shocks being lowered down said hatch, knocking him off said ladder to the hold below, a distance of about twenty-two feet.

We further find that due protection was not given by the employer to guard the life of the deceased.

We recommend as the result of our finding that all steamship companies and employers of labor in and about said vessels do install some system which will provide protection for the safeguarding of their employees to prevent such occurrences in the future.

(Signed) James Collins (foreman), James Buchanan, James G. Carleton, J. McGuire, A. H. McAfee, Edward Hogan, B. L. Andrus (secretary).

This verdict was brought in by jury about one o'clock this morning, after an exhaustive inquest conducted by Coroner W. P. Roberts.

Coroner Roberts thanked the members of the jury for their work in connection with the case and congratulated them on the able manner in which they had gone into the details and submitted their verdict.

Louis Dragon, foreman carpenter of the C. P. R., said he had known Godfrey for nine years. He considered him a sober and reliable man. He knew that Godfrey was somewhat deaf, but had not known any accidents on account of deafness.

Wm. John Wilson of Lorneville, a fellow carpenter, told of the accident. Fred G. Jones of the North End, laborer in charge of the hatch, saw the accident. He shouted to the winchman to stop, but the sling struck Godfrey and he was knocked into the hold.

Alphonso Frazer, another carpenter, testified to the good character of the deceased.

James A. Boers, longshoreman, gave an account of the accident. After the fall Godfrey was conscious and asked for a drink of water. But he seemed to think he would not live. After Godfrey was hoisted up he was advised to lay quiet and wait for an ambulance but he walked for some distance before he collapsed.

Dr. F. L. Kenney was physician for 20 years on the west side, and thought being no lift available, and the board have been constructed over several of the staircases, a simple but thoughtful idea to facilitate the transport of patients from the wards to the operating theatres and X-rays room.

Dr. Fred J. Dunlop, who made a post-mortem examination, told of the injuries the man had received. As to the cause of Godfrey's death he thought it was due to the accident.

R. H. Blennerhassett, superintendent of C. P. R. docks, told of the instructions given longshoremen with a view to prevent accidents.

Harvey B. McAfee, of Stanley street, gave evidence as to the manner of the accident which resulted in Godfrey's death.

Fred Taylor represented the C. P. R., and G. H. Belyea the relatives of the deceased. They did not ask many questions.

Coroner Roberts in addressing the jury suggested that the enquiry would not be of much value unless they made recommendations with a view to preventing such accidents in future.

Rifle Club March Out.

The Canadian Rifle Club, Company No. 1, will assemble for march on in front of the Free Public Library at 3.15 this afternoon. The company will march out to Seaside Park where tea will be served. The return will be made to the city early in the evening.

Would Burn. Suffered Great Pain. Grandchild Also Afflicted. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Now Perfectly Well.

Poulam, N. S.—"I had eczema on my right wrist for over a year. It broke out like a rash. It would itch and burn and I had to scratch. The skin was broken and the blood came through. Sometimes it spread all over my hands and I suffered great pain when I put them in water. I began to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they gave me quick relief, healing my wrist and hand in a few months.

"My grandchild was also afflicted with that trouble. He had it on his head, face and hands. He was treated for three or four months and was no better. Then we began to treat him with Cuticura Soap and Ointment and he began to improve. So we continued the treatment for a few months and he is perfectly well.
