ST. JOHN MAY GET

SHIPBUILDING PLANT

Representative of Clyde Firm Looks Over Possible Sites—Favors Nelson Wharf.

Once more the possibility of a steel shipbuilding plant for St. John looms up on the horizon, and Saturday the possible sites for such a plant were looked over by a representative of a large shipbuilding concern who was now operating on the Clyde.

Thomas V. S. Dickson of Glasgow, representing the shipbuilding firm and A. D. Swan of Montreal, arrived in the city Saturday morning, and looked over the ground to ascertain the possibilities of establishing such a plant here. After looking around the main harbor and Courtney Bay they came to the conclusion that there were only three possible sites, the Nelson wharf, between the fort and Navy Island, below No. 17 leaving room for three more berths, and a site in Courtney Bay north of the Dry Dock, of these they thought the Nelson wharf site and it is just possible this will be chosen and the plant located here. At 1 o'clock on Saturday the visitors were entertained by Mayor Hayes at luncheon at the Union Club.
Those present were: Senators Thorne and Daniel, Commissioners Wigmore, Russell and Fisher, A. H. Wetmore, Mr. Grant of Horne & Grant, and P.
R. Warren.

Sites at Halifax and Montreal have already been looked over and Mr.
Dickson said the place which they considered the best for the establishment of the plant would be the one selected and expressed himself as very much impressed with the Nelson wharf property.

Mr. Dickson and Mr. Swan left Saturday night for Montreal.

CHIEF INSPECTORS SATISFIED WITH PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT

Rev. W. D. Wilson Says New Act is Being Well Obedied All Through Province — Preparations for Scott Act Repeal.

Rev. W. D. Wilson, the chief inspector appointed to enforce the New Brunswick prohibitory law, was in a happy frame of mind Saturday afternoon when visited by a Standard man at his office in the provincial immigration building. With the chief inspector were Inspector Crawford and a bright, business-like stenographer. Inspector Crawford had just reported on the successful raids he and Detectives Duncan and Briggs had made on a George street establishment Friday night and on Union street Saturday, where more than $1,000 worth of wet goods were found.

The chief inspector is an affable man of commanding appearance and is well versed in handling the liquor question in prohibited zones.

Rev. Mr. Wilson had just returned from a tour of inspection in five of the six counties where the prohibitory law is in force. He was surprised and gratified to find how well the new law was being enforced, particularly as there had been little time for organization of the half dozen counties. Reports reaching the chief inspector from all parts of the province indicate that these counties are remarkably dry and where violations of the law are detected they are being dealt with promptly and vigorously.

Some trouble, he said might have been expected in places like Bathurst and Edmundston, where liquor was formerly sold openly, but the reports show that these towns are observing the new law.

The Supreme Court decision against the extension of licenses in Victoria county by the license board settled affairs there and Victoria is now in the dry belt.

The first charge under the new law had been dealt with in Campbellton where a fine of $150 was imposed last week. Two other cases were taken into court there Saturday.

A large stock of liquor has been seized in Gloucester county by the North Shore inspector and the sale of the goods thus headed off.

In St. John the small number of arrests for drunkenness is regarded by Rev. Mr. Wilson as a certain indication that little liquor is being sold in the city.

Inspector Crawford is on the job all the time here and is carefully watching the situation, as it is known that some people liberally stocked up during the bargain day sales the latter part of April. The importations from Montreal are also being placed under surveillance to make certain that the law is not violated.

A number of elections on the question of repealing the Canada Temperance Act in seven or eight counties will be held as soon as possible, for as long as the so-called Scott Act is in force, the prohibitory law is of no effect in these districts. The Canada Temperance Act is a federal law and therefore, takes precedence over a provincial law. The Ottawa government has intimated in parliament that legislation will not be introduced there to nullify the Canada Temperance Act, insofar as this province is concerned, as the law is one really made by the direct vote of the people.

The federal government considers that it is up to the voters of each county themselves to decide whether they want the Scott Act continued or superseded by the provincial prohibitory act.

The counties now under the Scott Act are Northumberland, Westmorland, Carleton, York, Kings, Charlotte, Queens, Sunbury and Albert, nine in all, or three-fifths of the counties of New Brunswick.

Sections of some of the other counties have been under the license act, as in St. John county, but large portions of them have been dry.

Today petitions for the repeal of the Canada Temperance Act in Sunbury and Fredericton, which are required by law, have on file at the office of the registry of deeds, will be withdrawn and forwarded to the office of the secretary of state at Ottawa, who will be urged to make haste for elections in those districts as soon as convenient. Similar action will be taken as to other counties as soon as possible.

THREE CASES
TAKEN FROM
JUNG STUNG

Chinese Restaurant Raided Yesterday—Inspector Had Suspensions—Webber's Case Resumed Today.

The week-end proved disastrous for local men in illegal possession of liquor. Following the two raids of Friday and Saturday, a Chinese restaurant owned by Jung Stung at 54 Mill street, was raided by Inspector Alex Crawford and Detectives Briggs and Duncan of the local police force and a quantity of liquor seized. About three cases in all were found on the premises.

In conversation with the inspector shortly after the raid, he told The Standard that he had entertained strong suspicion that liquor was being supplied to soldiers at this restaurant during the winter months, long before the prohibition act became operative, and although he had no direct information he thought it advisable to pay the place a visit.

When the inspector entered the restaurant he asked the proprietor where he kept his liquor and he (the Chinaman) pointed under the bed. An imperial quart was found in the place indicted, and on further inspection other liquor was found under the bed in two suitcases.

According to the prohibitory law the restaurant being a public place, the proprietor is liable to a fine for having liquor on his premises, even though there is no evidence that he has sold any.

Jung Stung was removed to the police station along with the liquor.

The case of Isaac Weber, on whose premises liquor to the value of about $800 was found, on Saturday morning, will be resumed today in the police court. The inspector assisted by Detectives Briggs and Duncan, on information furnished them, went into Mr.
Weber's fruit store on Saturday morning and after a short investigation discovered six lime barrels, each containing sixty quart bottles of whiskey and another partly full, making a total of four hundred bottles.

In the police court Mr. Weber denied ownership of the confiscated goods, but according to the act a person having liquor on his premises is deemed prima facie guilty of having it for sale.

COLORED MAN
REFINERIES

George Hill Had Arm Mangled — Amputated at Hospital — Displayed Wonderful Courage.

"I'm afraid you'll have to come off," said George Hill, a colored man, as he disentangled his badly mangled arm from a melting machine in the Atlantic Sugar Refineries on Saturday night.
A witness of the accident said that the unfortunate man showed a remarkable degree of fortitude. The accident occurred about five o'clock. It appears the injured man was oiling the machinery, which caused him the loss of the arm, and in some manner his hand was drawn in and before he had time to extricate the hand the arm met the same fate. As he drew the injured arm from the machine he looked at it and uttered the expression quoted.

He was rushed to the hospital in the motor ambulance and it was found necessary to amputate the arm. Shortly after five o'clock he was admitted to the operating room and the amputation was effected. The elbow, leaving about three inches of the arm. The injured man rested quite comfortably Saturday night and the last report from the hospital stated that he was doing well.

Notwithstanding the loss of blood and the excruciating pain he must have endured he showed great courage and a fellow worker standing nearby who was one of the first to come to his aid said that Mr. Hill was very cool and collected.

The injured man is a resident of 15 Frederick street and has been employed at the refineries for some time.
He is unmarried.

Coal Boat Sustained Damage

Will Be Repaired in U. S.

The British steamer Maskinonge, which is under charter to the Deminion Coal Co. and which was aground recently on the mussel bed, south of the Atlantic Sugar Refinery, has gone to New York for repairs. It was found that the vessel was leaving considerably after she was floated a week ago Saturday night. On the way to New York the steamer was boarded by a detachment from a cruiser, which after examining her papers allowed her to proceed.

TROOP TRAIN
WAS STONED
AT MONT JOLI

Three Car Windows Broken
by Residents — Inquiry Concluded in City.

That the troop train bearing the 217th Battalion did have stones thrown at it by persons while it was departing from a small station known as Mont Joli in the province of Quebec and that there had been wordy warfare between the soldiers and residents of this place was evidenced by the testimony given by several officers and men of the 217th Battalion before the military court of inquiry held in St. John on Saturday.

The most direct evidence offered was to the effect that at the place in question there was a group of men and boys at the depot when the train pulled in and while the train was there the soldiers from the car windows called the residents "black-peas," and similar names, and the residents retaliated by word of mouth. As the train pulled out three stones were thrown by a party of three stationed between box cars on the opposite side of the depot. The stones broke three of the car windows but no person was injured. This was practically the only evidence of hostil-ties.

The commission, of which Colonel E. S. Wigle is president, and which is composed of Lieut.-Col. J. T. Ostell of the 65th Mount Royal Battalion, and Major Barclay of the headquarters staff, Ottawa, arrived in St. John on Saturday morning. They concluded the enquiry that day and left in the evening for Mont Joli to hold further investigation.

This commission has been appointed by the government to investigate certain charges made in the Orange Sentinel, viz., that returned soldiers were ill-treated in districts of Quebec and that the residents of different places on the railway line stoned troop trains en route east. The 217th Battalion is the only unit which the people of St.
John are acquainted with is connected with the investigation.

There has been practically no evidence that returned soldiers have been ill-treated. In the inquiry held in Quebec on May 6th Rev. Mr. Perry, a witness, stated that the Laval students were sometimes inclined to be boisterous and that he had seen groups of students marching down the street making all other pedestrians and even wounded men get off the sidewalk, but they were not hostile to soldiers.

Nine witnesses were examined in the city on Saturday and practically all offered the same evidence. The witnesses stated that there were a group of residents at nearly every station when the train pulled in the usual salutations were given by the men in khaki as are generally given by soldiers passing through cities or towns.
At Mont Joli there were between thirty and fifty residents, including several boys at the depot, and while the train was there a wordy warfare was indulged in. No person was assaulted and no damage was done to the train or the buildings.

The commissioners have not as yet expressed their opinion. The findings will be submitted to Ottawa at the conclusion of the inquiry.

HUNT'S STORE WILL REMAIN CLOSED THIS MORNING

UNTIL 10 O'CLOCK TO GET THE STOCK IN SHAPE TO CONTINUE SALE.

Surely there is a reason for the enormous business done at this store on Friday and Saturday. The writer has been interested in a goodly number of sales in recent years but never in one where the buying was so brisk the shoppers so pleased, the offerings so generous and the amount of business so great as at this sale of Hunt's.

It reminds one of that wise man who said: "If a man makes a better mouse trap than his neighbor the world will make a beaten path to his door." That's what Hunt's are doing but in this case it is clothing values.

We are giving better values than other stores with the result that the people of St. John are making a beaten path to our door. After all this is an advertisement and we do not expect you to grasp the importance of this money saving evidence and what it means to you simply from our words but we do ask and expect you in your own interests to ask some of your friends to show you the purchases they made at this store on Saturday and we feel sure you will have no hesitation in getting into the economy path that leads to Hunt's door, but do not come before 10 o'clock this morning.
