Our Athletes At Antwerp

Canadians at Work—Marathoners, Sprinters, Weight Men and Walkers Please Coach Walter Knox.

Antwerp, Aug. 11.—The Canadian Olympic runners had a thorough workout yesterday in the Marathon and the sprints. Archie McDermid, John McEachern and John Cameron practiced with the weights, and E. C. Friedman did a little walking exercise. They all showed excellent form, and Coach Walter Knox appeared to be quite satisfied with their training.

Rain during the past few days has made the track in the stadium very heavy, and interfered somewhat with the training of the Canadians who have been accompanied in their workouts by the Italians, Japanese and others. The Japanese seem to be training harder than any of the other contestants. The dirt and cinder paths have been damaged by the rain.

Swedes Strong.

The Australians and others who have entered in the bicycle sprints in the Velodrome on the ninth, are hard at work preparing for the events. The Swedish team, which is expected to arrive soon, will be even stronger than that which competed at Stockholm, according to information received here. Two sprinters, Engdahl and Holmstrom, in the Swedish tryouts made the 100 metres in near record time.

Thompson, the Princeton athlete, who has been in England competing in the British amateur championships and the dual Oxford-Princeton meet, has arrived. He expects to be attached to the United States team when it arrives.

Why the Giants Have Been Winning

As for the Giants, they have hit the trail at last. The club had been when it opened the season, but the pitching staff collapsed as a whole and other parts of the defence went with it. The attack failed too while men like Sicking and Lear were floundering around in the shoes of Frisch. Because he had inept help at third Fletcher was made to look worse than he was. Doyle felt the general lack of confidence in the infield and he sagged too.

Then came Frisch and the trade which made Bancroft a Giant. The hole at third was plugged up and the shortstop position was filled with a star. Doyle immediately picked up. He regained his confidence. The pitching began to feel the upward trend and responded. Just as the staff had gone bad at one time, so it came back in a hunch. The result is success. The Giants are getting fine pitching, fine catching, and hard hitting. And they are as peppery an outfit as you ever saw. If they do not win the pennant they will come close to it. They are versatile. When they find that they cannot hit a pitcher on the nose they switch to the short game. They work about everything in the baseball curriculum and they make the most of every opportunity. They may strike a snag, but we do not think so. The club is as good as its recent record shows it to be.

THE PRESENT COST AND SELLING PRICE OF HOGS

(Experimental Farm Notes)

When a man states that there is no money in hogs he bases his conclusion largely on more or less accurate records of feeding costs, and feeding costs only. If the market hog cannot even pay for his feed, what then of interest on investment, labor, risk, losses, marketing expenses, etc., etc? The feed cost to produce one hundred pounds of pork may be calculated by including the cost of maintenance of the breeding stock responsible for the market hogs. Applying this method, one hundred pounds of pork would require about 600 pounds of meal. American farm survey figures indicate even a higher meal cost, $15 pounds. Feeding meal and grain at $7.00 per ton which is conservative enough, the herd feeding charges per hundred pounds of pork would amount to $21.00 on the 6 to 1 basis. Even this does not cover all farm costs.

Figures available from herds on the Experimental Farm System compare very closely with those obtained in farm survey reports. I. e. that approximately 75 p. c. of the cost of pork production is for feeds and the remaining 25 p. c. to cover farm costs exclusive of shipping charges. To produce 100 pounds of pork under average Canadian conditions requires from 450 to 500 pounds of grain or the equivalent. At $7.00 per ton for meal this would represent a feed cost per cwt. of pork of $16.62 which figure represents only 75 p. c. of the total cost. One hundred per cent. of the feed plus the farm charge would amount to $21.28 per cwt.

The above figure may appear startling. There are hundreds of small feeders who can feed a litter or so of pigs on a much cheaper basis. Otherwise there would be very little pork produced. Why can a few hogs be raised comparatively cheaply on the farm? Simply because of the fact that a considerable proportion of the feed is in the nature of a by-product or perhaps home-grown. Multiply the swine activities on the farm and it is necessary to purchase more meal and grain at market prices. The cost to produce mounts alarmingly. So with the farm flock of poultry.

What shall we feed hogs? Grain and by-product feeds are Both Are Busy. Have to Dig Down.

"Beauty may be only skin deep," remarked the Parkdale Grouch, as he noted the applied complexion of a flapper on the street car. "But you'd have to dig down in the case of most girls before you reach the skin."

"Tee," said a retired farmer, the other day.

"The farmer has to work hard most part of the year, but he don't have to join an expensive club and play golf for exercise."

becoming scarcer than ever. Wheat by-products the practically off the market.

The feed markets of the future are most discouraging in prospect. The wholesale price of hogs has not appreciated correspondingly. The man who can feed hogs profitably today must have a comparative cheap product or by-product to replace meal as largely as possible. Such are scarce. Milk products form the greatest of all. City and hotel refuse is another. Green feed intelligently used, soiled or under the right conditions, is a third. Barley is one of the best of Canadian hog feeds—too little appreciated. Elevator screening, if of standard quality, must be utilized wherever available. The man who is raising young pigs, who plans to feed them almost entirely on a grain ration, who has little or no milk or green feed available, will almost certainly be forced to place a high valuation on manure and experience if he is to get an even break next fall.

British Chances Are Thought Poor

Swedes Loom Up Strongly In Olympic Contests.

London, Aug. 11.—Great Britain's Olympic team, though preparing energetically for the test at Antwerp next month, is laboring at present under the somewhat flattening predictions of sportsmen that wherever the world's athletic title goes it will not be to England.

At present, some sporting writers are even suggesting that the personnel of the team be cut to a minimum because of the supposedly superior chances of the United States and particularly of Sweden.

For the field events, in which interest both in England and the United States is expected to centre, there is but one event in which there is real confidence—the high jump. In this Howard Baker, who recently jumped 6 feet 3/4 and can do better, is expected to show up well along with J. Carroll, the Irish jumper. Although at the American trials the winning mark was six feet four, it is thought by the English athletes that one of their two star jumpers may better this—granting it's the best.

C. W. Paddock's—University of California—9.45 seconds in the 100-yards has somewhat dampened hopes in this line, as in the British trials the best of the champion, H. P. Edward, could do was ten seconds. But with W. A. Hill, former champion sprinter, to accompany him, even the pessimists are hoping for the best.

Edward's time for the 200 is 21.30 seconds—only a fifth of a second behind the best American time. And there is always the hope that a good money-finisher will surpass his best effort in a pinch.
G. B. Ridd, a native Englishman, is the best around these parts in the quarter and the half. But unfortunately he will run for South Africa. The British team will have instead G. M. Butler of Cambridge from whom Ridd took the championship in the quarter. H. M. Abrahams, who has been running well, also may finish in the money in the 220 or 440. There is fear, though, that Abrahams, a member of the Polytechnic team, will not stick to the sprint but branches out into the long jump and hop-step-and-jump.

Boxing is one branch in which there is thought to be an excellent chance for the Britishers. The team includes three Scotsmen—W. Cuthbertson, G. McKenzie and J. Carter—who will uphold the flyweight, bantam and feather class respectively. Fred Grace and J. Gilmour will be the lightweights. The greatest asset of the boxing team is its trainers—Jimmy Driscoll, Joe Bowker and Tancy Lee, all men who know the game.

VARE CALLS PLANS TO MAKE PHILIPPINES DRY MEDDLING

Offensive to Those Whose Hospitality Congressional Party Enjoyed—Shanghai Bars Alluring to the Junketers and Tinkling of Glasses Heard Every Day.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Co.)
BY ARTHUR WEST.

Shanghai, Aug. 9.—Members of the United States congressional party touring in the Far East are indignant over the announcement that Representative Randall, of California, one of the junketing party, intends to ask Congress to extend prohibition to the Philippines and seek an international settlement for China.

Representative William S. Vare, of Philadelphia, in an interview here before the party left for Peking today, denounced his California colleague as a meddler and called his action offensive to the peoples whose hospitality the party had accepted, and as factious as a guest who would criticize the food offered him. Representative Porter, of Pittsburgh, takes the same view, and says in censure of the Californian is a source of great embarrassment to the party.

Judging by the extent of the patronage of the Shanghai bars, many congressmen are sorry that the United States is arid. Some members of the party were noticed hurrying from official receptions arranged by Chinese merchants and business men in order to get their feet on the brass rail of the hotel bar, where they remained.

cept when it was imperative to pry them loose to attend functions arranged in their honor. Cocktail hour at the Astor Hotel and a congressional party here, including Sunday. Glasses tinkled merrily at every meal, and the women of the party are apparently as happy as the men to be out of the great America desert.
Representative Porter told Americans here he intended to make an attempt to his wants.

effort to have the American minister to China made an ambassador, also promised to take action toward a new consulate building in Shanghai.

The congressmen were deeply impressed with the speech of C. L. Seitz, of the American Chamber of Commerce here, who pointed out the disadvantage under which American firms engaged in foreign trade labor under the necessity of paying income and excess profits taxes, while British firms in the same field are exempt from such taxes. He pointed out that one American firm in Shanghai had paid nearly $100,000 income tax last year, while its British competitors are unanimous in saying they will take steps to have the situation remedied.

Representative Dyer got a tremendous ovation at the American Club luncheon when he pledged that the party would support legislation designed to place American trade in China on an even basis with other nations.

Chinese merchants here took endless pains to make the visit of the congressmen pleasant. Motorcars, each with a returned student as a guide, were at the constant disposal of the party. All members of the Chinese silk trade were ordered to present one bolt of each kind of silk manufactured to the members of the party and their wives. One Chinese newspaperer naively remarked, "This doubtless will make the American parliamentarians leave the country with a good opinion of the Chinese." One congressman inquired, the last thing before leaving for Peking today, whether liquor was obtainable on trains. He sighed happily when assured that dining car stewards would carry here he intended to make an attempt to his wants.

The Friendly Smoke

THERE is something mighty comforting and satisfying about "OLD CHUM" Tobacco; a sort of soothing restfulness that pipe smokers have come to associate with this friendly smoke.

"OLD CHUM" is an old, old chum with all pipe smokers.

It has the perfect tobacco taste—the mellow richness—and men know that they can be chummy with "OLD CHUM" all day long and that the "good night pipeful" will be as sweet and cool as the one enjoyed just after breakfast.

For years and years "OLD CHUM" has been Canada's favourite pipe tobacco and today is more popular than ever.
