FEBRUARY.—February, (Latin, Februarius) received its name from Februus, a feast of sacrifices and purifications held by the Romans in this month, in the vain hope of being cleansed from the sin of the whole year. It corresponds to Adar (Part vi. 15), the fifth civil, and twelfth sacred month of the Jews. By the Saxons it was called Sproutket, as cabbages begin to sprout now; and also Sol-month, the month when pancakes were offered to Sol, or the sun.
