

Two Ways to a Man's Heart

One Way The Other Way

One way is through his Stomach, a way that most women try three times every day in the year. And a good way, too, and an easy one if you have a Gurney-Oxford.

You don't watch anxiously every time John puts the carver into a fowl or joint. You know it's not only done Brown, but the Gurney-Oxford heat is so controlled and steady that the flesh is tender and juicy, and the man at the platter beams with good humour.

STOVES AND RANGES

promote peace and quiet, not only because of well-cooked food and reduced bills, but because of the added nerve-strength and leisure afforded by its ease of operation and care. The Oxford Economizer holds the merest edge of draft, and with the check of this marvellous damper you can leave the fire for hours unrefurnished.

The Divided Flue-Strip radiates heat along the front as well as back of oven.

The Reversible Grate, with interlocking teeth that bite the clinkers fine—all these points secure cleanliness and simplify labor. These are all patent and patented advantages—ask your dealer. Or if he cannot supply you, write our nearest branch
