Ten deer strung up in front of Fred. Goodland's butcher shop were attracting attention to-day. They were brought to this city this morning by James J. Houston, Fred Houston, Abraham Houston, Wm. Dunlop, Jack Lane and John Shaw, all of Chatham Township, who have just returned from a two weeks' hunting trip to Muskoka. Mr. Houston, 32, is 62 years old. Speaking of his northern hunting trip, he said: "We had splendid sport. The deer this year were very plentiful and the weather was fine. There were no accidents in our party, but a young fellow in the next camp was accidentally killed by his companion. We enjoyed the outing very much. Of course, everybody didn't get as many deer as we did. Some didn't get any."

The city engineer is causing quite a commotion these days over the way the waterworks people performed a piece of work on Gray street. "They dug up the road along the gutter," said the engineer to The Planet this morning, "to put in some waterworks pipes in one of the residences along the street. When they filled up the ditch they threw the dirt in any old way and as a result the dirt is left piled up about a foot above the road, instead of leveled off. Now the city will have to come down and go to a lot of extra expense in leveling the road, when it should have been done by the waterworks. I intend to see that these jobs are done properly after this. The Board of Works has charge of that department of the work and not the waterworks people."

"Supt. Jones and R. C. Burt are talking about the Chatham Old Boys," said Orville Dolson, "but there are 2 or 10 who really are the old boys. Youngsters they were over 40 years ago, and just as bad as the boys of to-day. They went to school to Duncan McGill, afterwards Town Clerk McGill, about the year 1850. When building was a one story frame, standing where the Central school is now located. The pupils were William Ball, Capt. Sim Smith, W. R. Baxter, Ted Beardon, Charles Williams, J. B. Stringer, Andrew, Joseph, Richard and Jas. Northwood, my brother William and myself. The brick building, pulled down to make room for the present Central School was erected about this time. I was one of the first boys to enter the building the day it was opened and, on the first day, I was the first boy to be whipped. C. R. Atkinson, K. C., was the teacher, and he did the deed."

"At the Chicago World's Fair they had a place where, for 10 cents, mothers could check their babies and have them taken care of," said Judge Houston. "I was condemning this one day at the Fair when I unintentionally stepped on the toes of the woman sitting next to me. She turned on me sharply with 'Don't you want the women to see the Fair? What else can we do with our babies?' replied to her that the baby was more important than the Fair. It was nine o'clock at night and the woman said that her baby was there yet and that she wasn't bothering about it as it was well taken care of. I was surprised that the woman could so readily trust her child to strangers. I told her that if my wife had checked her baby in that way, that I would have left her for always taking the baby with me. My, the woman did get angry at that and I changed my place to avoid the fury of an angry woman."
