Bedroom Climate.

On the tombstone of tens of thor-sands of those who have died from tuberculosis might appropriately be inscribed, "Disease and death were invited and encouraged by a death dealing bedroom climate."

To show that this is no exaggeration ft is only necessary to call attention to the fact that fully half the tubercular patients placed in outdoor consumptive hospitals make a satisfactory recovery. If fresh air will cure the disease, it is certainly a wonderful preventive of it.

ARTIST WHISTLER'S GENIUS IN GREAT SHOW AT LONDON.

Collection of 750 Master's Works Makes Imposing Exhibition-Public Galleries and Private Collections in All Parts of the Globe Contribute-Only a Few of Whistler's More Important Works Are Missing.

Rarely has there ever been so triumphal a demonstration of a great artist's genius as the Whistier exhibition, which was opened in London on the 25th Feb. by M. Rodin in his capacity of President of the International Society of Sculptors, Painters and Gravers, under whose auspices this memorable display is made.

The fine arts correspondent of the The line arts correspondent of the European edition of The New York Herald in London writes as follows:
"If it is true that the Whitstler Memorial Exhibition, which has just been opened at the new gallery, is held contrary to the expressed wish of the definited master—and rumor to this effect." funct master—and rumor to this effect is widespread—the organizers of this marvellous exhibition have a twofold reason to claim the gratitude of Whistler's admirers, for having disregarded his whim, compliance with which would have robbed us of this unique opportunity of seeing the full extent of the master's genius and doing homage to the memory of the greatest artist of the nineteenth century. There as cases when it is more expedient to disregard a dying man's wish than to follow \(\mu\) in the spirit of bilind reverence and obedience, and this is distinctly a case of this nature. marvellous exhibition have a twofold

"Though a few cognoscenti are fully aware of the eminent position which must be accorded to the master in the history of modern art and of all times, to the great public the sound of Whist-ler's nava deally er's name does not convey much. He lid not exhibit at the Royal Academy did not exhibit at the Royal Academy and few and far between were the occasions when isolated examples of his great works were to be seen on public exhibition in the galleries, moreover, the threshold of which is rarely passed by the feet of the great public.

"And now about seven hundred and fitty paintings, water color drawings, pastels, studies, etchings and lithographs have been collected to form one imposing record of Whistler's wonder-

Too Much For the Cook. He was a new waiter in a down-town restaurant, and after he had waited on a man who was seated at one of the tables the other noon he went behind the cold lunch counter to eat his own dinner. Presently be dropped down from his stool and whistled up the tube to the cook on the se floor. "Where's that pie I ordered?" he asked. "Hurry it up." The cook's reply could not be heard. He was evidently a suspicious cook, and he provoked the new waiter. The volley the latter fired into the tin funnel sounced like a bunch of firecreators. like a bunch of firecrackers going off in a barrel. "Heavens!" he spluttered. "Did you think I wanted it for myself? I haven't been here long, but I've seen your pies. I haven't been disappointed in love, and I haven't got any domestic troubles. When I'm desperate, I'll take something easier to swallow than one of your pies. There's a customer here waiting for it. He's no friend of mine or I'd switch him off on to crackers and cheese. You'll know me better if I don't get discharged." The ple came down with a rattle, and the new waiter resumed his meal,-Providence Journal.

Free Medical Advice. Men and women suffering from chronic discuses are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., by letter, absolutely without fee or charge. For more than thirty years as chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. Pierce has devoted himself to the treatment and cure of chronic forms of disease. Assisted by his staff of nearly a score of physicians, each man a specialist, his success has been phenomenal, ninety-eight persons in every hundred treated being absolutely and altogether cured. Women have especially availed themselves of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, thereby avoiding the unpleasant questionings, the abnoxious examinations, and odious local treatments considered necessary by some practitioners. Over half a million women have been treated by Dr. Pierce and his staff for diseases peculiar to women, with unvarying success. Write without fear as without fee. Every letter is treated as strictly pivate and sacredly confidential, and all answers are sent in plain envelopes, bearing no printing upon them. Address Dr. R. V. CRUSADE AGAINST CLUTTER A Good Time to Inaugurate It Is With the Early Spring Cleaning.

"The elimination of clutter!" My very soul responds to the toast. In some of our American homes the inmates seem to have gone "lamp mad," in others "table mad," in others still "vase mad," while in one and all of those that run to clutter there is the gamut of bric a-brac, the inevitable carved or painted fans, the bits of historic lace, the exquisite this and commonplace that, with two or three times as many chairs, sofas and stools as are necessary to proper furnishing. It would be impossible to describe the mischievous sequential effects of this art riot in the homes of people of moderate means or or those less fortunate than the well to Clutter and the Servant Problem. First, who can estimate how much the overfurnishing of homes has to do with the prevailing discontent among the servant class? A house overloaded with furnishings and ornamental impedimenta is far more difficult to keep clean and requires more time for such cleaning than a house furnished accord-ing to the ideals. cleaning than a house furnished according to the ideals of good taste. But is such extra work allowed for by the housekeeper who overfurnishes? It is safe to answer rarely, if ever. General cleaning day is a tax upon strength, nerves and spirits which has its influ-ence upon the work of the rest of the week. The handling and care of very valuable articles is a matter of time and strain not sufficiently considered in the apportioning of duties.

How Clutter Affects Health. The other protest against clutter re-lates to a more serious consideration health. A prominent physician said re-cently in my hearing, "The furnishing of American homes is a reflection of of American nervousness, and, conversely, American nervousness is aggravated by the furnishings of American homes." The duliest human being, we know, is affected to some degree by surfacement, and it is easy to conceive environment, and it is easy to conceive that where there is not a reposeful spot in a room to which one can turn the eye there must be a constant though perhaps unconscious strain upon one in that room.—Ella Morris Kretschmar in Good Housekeeping.
