

MONEY IN YOUR SOIL

You Can Get It Out
By Good Farming

Our school, through its course and its consultation department, puts you directly in touch with the most practical and most successful farming experts on the continent.

This is Professor Redford, who handles the work on tillage, grain and fodder crops; rotation of crops; manures, grading and judging of grains, etc., and who has supervised our entire course. He is only one of nearly a score of equally capable men on our staff.

We are now forming clubs all over Western Canada for full study and are offering many special inducements to the first hundred farmers in each district. For one thing we guarantee you free advice as long as you live, on any farm problem. This alone may save you hundreds of dollars per year.

Mr. A. H. Finch, of Ladstone, Man., says: "Judging by the men who are conducting this correspondence course, I deem it of inestimable value to every person in the West. Any man will miss a great opportunity if he fails to take advantage of this splendid source of practical information."

We want YOU to receive the benefit of our service and we are prepared to make terms which will easily place it within your reach. Write us to-day.

Mr. Borden made the usual reply, and after his address three cheers were given for reciprocity, and three more for Mr. Borden.

Mr. Borden and his party then addressed a meeting from the band stand on the picnic grounds, an audience of four or five hundred attending in spite of counter attractions in the form of a ladies' baseball game, a football match and other sports. The total attendance at the picnic was about 2,500.

of them have taken the wealth they have by law robbed us of, and purchased concerns in foreign countries to further control the output and the market. They have used the money taken from us to further oppress us. They say we have to maintain high tariffs for the benefit of the working class, that they cannot pay good wages if our ports are thrown open to the world. But he knew that conditions exist in our factories which would make a man blush, and such as existed in England prior to the passing of the Factory Act. Our manufacturers have their hands bloody with the blood of our toilers today. Our legislators confide with these monsters of greed and graft to rob us of our inalienable right to buy and sell wherever we choose.

After dealing with the tariff as a means of raising revenues, and the argument that protection was necessary to make towns and cities grow up, Mr. Evans said whether this latter statement was true or not, there was no right or reason, and no law on God's earth, by which one class of the community should levy a tax on the rest for the sake of making excessive gains.

Mr. Evans said he greatly regretted that the Conservative party was opposing reciprocity. No one would suffer from it except those who were making excessive profits out of what the farmers had to sell. The action of Mr. Haultain, the leader of the opposition in Saskatchewan, in supporting reciprocity, would go a long way towards influencing those who were opposing the agreement on party lines alone, and he hoped that many would follow his example.

Value of Reciprocity

William Lawrence spoke of the advantage the opening of the United States market would be to the Canadian farmer, and gave figures by which he calculated that on last year's wheat crop alone, the Western farmers lost $18,000,000 for lack of reciprocity. Mr. Lawrence gave similar calculations with regard to flax and barley, and said if Mr. Borden was farming on the prairie he would be just as anxious as the Grain Growers for reciprocity.

Borden's Reply

Mr. Borden made the usual reply, saying he was entirely in accord with the delegation as to terminal elevators, Hudson Bay railway, the establishment of government chilled meat plants, and the enactment of co-operative legislation, but he was absolutely opposed to the reciprocity agreement, and if the Grain Growers held 60 per cent of the votes in Canada, and offered to make him prime minister on condition he supported reciprocity, he would not support it.

The meeting with Mr. Borden was preceded by a convention of delegates, where the various matters dealt with, brought before Mr. Borden, were discussed, and a unanimous decision arrived at in favor of reciprocity, and the other planks of the farmers' platform.

The following branches were represented: Swarthmore, Dundurn, Garfield, Cory, Findlayson, Langham, Dalmeny, Warman, Aberdeen, Paynton, McTavish, Asquith, Leofeld, North Star, Kinley, Dreyers, Unity, Delisle, Allan, Bradwell, Elston, Glendown, Floral, Farfield, Vandevoey, Pelican Lake, Saskatoon, Victor, Woodlawn, Hanley, Perdue, Kinsmouth and Juniata.

PEAVEY COMPANY RETIRES

The Peavey Grain Co., Chicago, with branches at every important grain exchange has gone out of business, it was announced on July 10. Although this company was practically part of the Peavey Elevator Co., the winding up of the grain company's affairs will not have any influence upon the business of the elevator company.
