The usual with warehouses and business offices formalities having been carried out at the Guildhall, the new Lord Mayor, accompanied by his predecessor, the these boroughs, as in all the municisheriffs, aldermen and councillors of the City of London, went in their oldtime costumes to the Law Courts, postponed a day this year in consewhere the oath was administered by the new Lord Chief Justice, Sir Rufus Isaacs, who belongs to a family for years prominent in business and civic affairs of the city.

The Lord Mayor's show, with which this pilgrimage to the confines of the "one square mile" was accompanied, was a reproduction of the show of just 300 years ago, Called the "triumph of time," it is described on the title page of a contemporary account of it as "a solemnity unparal leled for cost, art and magnificence." The whole "triumph of time" was repeated to-day. PERPETUAL MOTION IDEA IS SOLVED BY A BRANTFORDITE

A local syndicate, in which Fire Chief D. J. Lewis, Ald Minshall, Ald. Hollinrake and others are interested, has been formed for the development of a rotary engine, the perfection of which, it is claimed is William Gunston, a former employee of the Cockshutt Plow Company. Mr. Johnson, superintendent of the Grand Valley Railway, is also assisting in the working out of the principle involved. If success results the invention will be worth millions, according to those interested. As far as can be learned, the rotary engine is something along the lines of perpetual motion, although not quite as ambitious as that. This much can be said: Stock in the syndicate at present cannot be purchased, so sure are those concerned that a revolutionary invention is to be exploited throughout the world. It is expected that within three weeks the engine will be completed. private machine shop having been secured to do the work.
