

Gets Instant Relief After Four Years

TORTURED WOMAN TRIED DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Kidney Disease and Insomnia Had Made Her a Nervous Wreck Till She Used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Dunvegan, Inverness Co., N. S., Feb. 16.—(Special.)—Women who are dragging weary limbs around, weighed down with a suffering and tiredness that can find no rest, will find sunshine and hope in the message Catherine McPherson, of this place, sends to them.

"I have just used one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills," Miss McPherson states, "but they did wonderful good for me. For nearly four years kidney disease tortured me. It finally developed into diabetes. I became a nervous wreck, and insomnia was added to my troubles. I was so weak and tired and irritable that every trifle added to my discomfort."

"Dodd's Kidney Pills gave me instant relief. They are a wonderful medicine. I shall recommend them to all my friends."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are purely a kidney remedy. They put the kidneys in shape to strain all the impurities out of the blood. That's why they bring health and restful sleep in their train.

CROWN PRINCE'S OFFER IS IN

U. S. President Has Proposal to Surrender.

Wilson's Attitude is Not Divulged.

Washington—Dispatch.—President Wilson had before him to-night the cablegram from Frederick Wilhelm, former Crown Prince of Germany, suggesting that the Allies take him as a "victim" instead of the 900 Germans demanded for trial. The official attitude of the President was not disclosed.

The text of the message which was sent to the Kings of Great Britain, Belgium and Italy, the Emperor of Japan and the President of France is as follows:

"The demand for the delivery of Germans of every walk of life has again confronted my country, sorely tried by four years of war and one year of severe internal struggles, with a crisis that is without precedent in the history of the world as affecting the life of a people. That a Government can be found in Germany which would carry out the demanded surrender is out of the question; the consequences to Europe of an enforcement of the demand by violence are incalculable, hatred and revenge would be made eternal.

"As the former successor to the throne of my Fatherland, I am willing at this fateful hour to stand up for my compatriots. If the Allied and associated Governments want a victim, let them take me instead of the 900 Germans who have committed no offence other than that of serving their country in the war.

Wilhelm." "Wieringen Island, Feb. 9, 1920."

SIMS TELLS OF U. S. WAR SHARE

Defends Himself Before Senate Committee.

Washington—Report.—Rear-Admiral William S. Sims, before the Senate committee investigating naval decorations, defended himself to-day against charges that he had sought to "betray the part of the American army and navy in the war."

Three members of the United States Congress had visited Admiral Sims in France during the war, and it was to these that the naval officer was supposed to have made the disparaging remarks. Representative Byrnes, called as a witness to-day, declared that Admiral Sims stated to him that the armistice had been forced on the Allies through the failure of the American troops to break through the German lines, the failure being due to a breakdown of the American supply services. Mr. Byrnes said he reported this to President Wilson.

Admiral Sims, on the stand, denied that he had made such statements, except in repeating rumors then current in France, and which he warned his hearers not to believe. He further denied that he had told Mr. Byrnes that the U. S. merchant marine could not be developed and the seas should be left to Great Britain.

Senator Glass, who was a member of Congress at the time, was another witness. He said, however, that he understood the Admiral, in telling what he had, to be reporting matters which he believed to be true, not aiming to discredit the American effort.

Admiral Sims said that his remarks had been misunderstood or else confused with statements made by others. He had sought to disabuse the minds of his visitors of the belief that the Americans were "winning the war," because that was "not true and hurting us with the Allies."

"All Americans who visited abroad were shocked at what I had to tell them of the relative amount of work done by our forces," said Admiral Sims. The American press fostered a disproportionate idea of the part the United States was playing in the war.

ROB CARD PLAYERS.

Masked Men Hold Up Detroit Game.

Detroit—Dispatch.—Fifteen men playing cards upstairs over a drug store at 214 Fernside avenue early this morning experienced a harder run of luck than usual, when three masked men wearing masks and with revolvers in their hands, entered unannounced.

The card-players were lined up against the wall, and while two of the hold-up men kept their weapons ready for action the third went systematically through the pockets of the gamblers. They secured a total of $1,124 in cash and a diamond ring valued at $600 which the owner was politely requested to hand over and "save trouble." There was no contest and the bauble was promptly transferred.

The robbers departed as quietly as they came, and by the time the police arrived the neighborhood was peaceful again.

SHIPMENT OF CATTLE BY RAIL

Live Stock Men Meet Railway Commission

On Matter of Drafting New Contract.

Ottawa—Dispatch.—Prominent live stock men representing the great interests which are vitally interested in the shipment of cattle, representatives of the railways and railway brotherhoods, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Toronto Humane Society gathered to-day in the rooms of the Dominion Railway Commission to assist the members of the railway board in the drafting of a new live stock contract.

W. L. Best appeared before the railway commission this afternoon to protest against a wrong impression which the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen thought had been given the commission at the Calgary sitting on live stock matters.

He quoted C. H. Temple, of the Canadian Pacific Railway as stating that delays in live stock trains frequently were caused by the fact that engine-men took rest periods every 12 hours. If the commission could change that, Mr. Temple was understood to have said, the railway would be only too glad. Chief Commissioner Carwell assured Mr. Best that the impression he had received from the statement made by Mr. Temple was simply that the men were entitled to eight hours rest after a 12-hour run and that this was covered by a contract between the railway and its employees.

The major portion of the afternoon hearing before the railway commission to-day was occupied by counsel for the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways in discussing various points in the suggested live stock contract, on which they were unable to see eye to eye with the shippers. shortly after six o'clock, Mr. E. P. Flintoff for the C. P. R. and Mr. Alistair Fraser, representing the Canadian National, had placed their arguments before the commissioners. Adjournment was then taken until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, when it is probable that some of the representatives of the bodies interested in shipping will be heard.

During the afternoon a brief statement was made by Mr. Eric Osborne, the representative of the Toronto Humane Society, who outlined certain improvements which might be made in order to eliminate cruelty in cattle shipment. Mr. W. R. Ingram, of the Swift Canadian Company, Winnipeg, set forth the attitude of the shippers with regard to sending a man with cattle shipments.

Counsel for the Canadian National Railways, Alistair Fraser, supplemented the argument of Mr. Flintoff with an argument against the proposal to make the railways entirely responsible for the care of live stock in transit and dispense with the necessity for the shipper furnishing a man in charge. David Crombie, of the same road, supported Mr. Fraser with reasons from the point of view of the traffic expert why it should be difficult and expensive for the carriers to furnish complete supervision of live stock in transit.

The hearing was adjourned until Wednesday morning.

COMMERCE TO END CRUELITIES OF BOLSHIEVISM

Lloyd George Sees Salvation of Russia in Peaceful Trade.

NO GREAT DANGER

Reds Cannot Organize Big Armies, and Neighbors Need Not Fear.

London—Cable.—The speeches with which the new session of the House of Commons was launched to-day will make history. Mr. Lloyd George, William Adamson and Sir Donald MacLean spoke for the Government, Laborites and Liberals respectively.

The Premier gave a long explanation of the Government's Russian policy, but refused to be drawn by the other speakers on the topic of revising certain "unworkable" features of the Peace Treaty.

Dealing with the burning question of economy, the Premier recommended the familiar specific of increased production. His remarks on Ireland gave no new information regarding the measure which is soon to be introduced.

Colonel Sidney Peel, Coalition Unionist, who made the reply to the address from the Tarone, said:

"It will be a grievous disappointment to us if the United States finds itself unable to take part in the work of reconstruction. But she must be master in her own house, as we are in ours."

Sir Donald MacLean, urging revision of the Peace Treaty, said: "One of the essentials of the guarantee was the fact, that the signature of the President of the United States was appended. It does not now look as though this is going to be honored."

"I only hope I am wrong," he added, as Mr. Lloyd George indicated his dissent.

Replying to general criticism of the Government's policy made by William Adamson, a Labor leader, Sir Donald MacLean and others, who demanded especially the revision of the Versailles peace treaty, Premier Lloyd George declared in the House of Commons this evening that it would be impossible in a single speech to deal with all the questions raised. He said, however, that he would remark that after the excitement of the great war nobody could expect anything but a period of reaction and discontent, and even a certain measure of dissatisfaction.

Alluding to Ireland, the Premier asked whether Mr. Adamson meant by "self-determination" that if the majority of the Irish people demanded a republic he would give it. Unless Mr. Adamson meant that, said the Premier, his talk of self-determination was dishonest. There were murders and assassinations "of the most cowardly and despicable kind in Ireland," the Premier told his questioner, and he asked whether the member thought the Government should withdraw its troops and leave the assassins in charge of Ireland.

Declaring that the duty of the Government was to maintain law and order in Ireland, the Premier turned to the high cost of living, which, he said, was attributable to the depreciation of money and not to profiteering. The only remedy was to increase production, he declared.

Replying to Sir Donald MacLean's enquiry the Premier said he was glad to be able to say that the coming budget would balance, and more than balance.

Dealing at length with the situation in Russia, Mr. Lloyd George said he agreed with the view that Europe could not be restored without putting Russia, with all her strength and resources, into circulation. Bolshevism was possibly efficient, but it was not democracy, and Russia must be restored under an anti-Bolshevik regime. "Bolshevism cannot be crushed by force of arms," continued the Premier. "I held that opinion a year ago, but my advice, tendered on that assumption to the warring factions, was declined. It was necessary to give the anti-Bolsheviks a chance to recover Russia, but they failed. The failure was not due to lack of equipment, but to more fundamental causes."

The Premier contended that the suggested "ring of fire" to crush the Bolsheviki was impossible, because it was doubtful whether Finland would consent, and the Baltic states, he pointed out, were making peace with Russia, while Rumania was really engaged in watching the Hungarian front, and the Japanese were disinclined toward the idea. Moreover, he added, neither France, the United States, Italy nor Great Britain was willing to provide the funds.

"Until," added the Premier, "they are assured that the Bolsheviki have dropped the methods of barbarism in favor of civilized government, no civilized community in the world is prepared to make peace with them. Further, there is no established government possessing the right to speak for the whole of European Russia. We failed to restore Russia to sanity by force. I believe we can save her by trade."

"Commerce has a sobering influence. There is nothing to fear from a Bolsheviki invasion of surrounding countries or the middle east, because the Bolsheviki cannot organize a powerful army. I believe that trade will bring to an end the ferocity, rapine and cruelties of Bolshevism more surely than any other method, and Europe badly needs what Russia is able to supply with contending armies moving across her borders."

"The dangers are not all in Russia; they are here at home. I speak with knowledge, with apprehension and responsibility, and I warn the House that in the face of things which may happen we must use every legitimate weapon. We must fight anarchy with abundance."

NO LOAFERS

In Italy If Socialist's Bill Carries.

Rome—Cable.—All able-bodied citizens of Italy between the ages of 20 and 65 would be required to work by the provisions of a bill introduced in Parliament by Giovanni Lombardi, Independent Socialist Deputy, who calls the measure "a tax on laziness." Persons able to work who fail to do so are subjected to heavy levies under the provisions of the bill. Money acquired from this source would be used to maintain those unable to work, and keep up agricultural colonies, to which able-bodied persons who fall to work would be sent.
