The bubonic plague has made its appearance at Rio Janeiro, Brazil. There has been one death there.

British societies in the United States have raised and will contribute $250,000 to the Mansion House Fund.

The U. S. House Committee on Interior and Commerce on Friday reported favorably on the Hepburn Nicaragua Canal bill.

Considerable fear is expressed in the German press that American automobiles will invade Germany, and a higher duty is demanded.

Frank Conrick, secretary of the Chicago Builders' and Trades Exchange, fearing hydrophobia, committed suicide by shooting on Sunday.

The new White Star Line steamer Oceanic sailed from Queenstown at 10 a.m. on Thursday for New York, with 1,331 sacks of mail on board.

The number of deaths at Bombay, largely from the bubonic plague, jumped up on Friday from 282 to 376. The normal death rate is 75.

On Dec. 28 Thomas Fuller, 25 years of age, left the home of Thos. Verley, Dresden, Ont., and no trace of him can be found. Fuller was slightly demented.

There are over 1,000 entries for the poultry show at Cincinnati, O., this week, including all the states and Canada. There will be exhibits also of dressed poultry and eggs.

Two hundred and forty Klondikers were snow barred at Bennett last Friday, when the steamer Rosalie, which has just arrived at Seattle, Wash., sailed from Skaguay.

Vera Douglas, the beautiful Canadian woman who has had lords, dukes and princes in her train, and whose escapades had been the theme of the gossip of two continents, has been married at St. Germain, a suburb of Paris, France.

It is announced from the Fisheries Department at Toronto that spearing will be allowed on the bay at Hamilton this winter, subject to the condition that each spearer take out a license and that spearing of salmon trout and whitefish is prohibited.

He lived about four hours after the accident, which took place a few miles west of Spencerville, Ont., yesterday.

FATHER GEOFFRIGAN WINS.

The Court of Bishops Unanimously Reverses Trial's Judgment.

Ottawa, Jan. 12. — In the matter of the appeal of the Rev. Thomas Geoffrigan, the Court of Bishops gave out the following judgment to-day:

The Court of Appeals has unanimously come to the conclusion that the appeal in this case should be allowed, and that the judgment of the Board of Triers, convicting the defendant, and of committee of discipline affirming this conviction, should be reversed, the decision on the defendant annulled, and the complaint dismissed.

The charge brought against the defendant was of a most serious character, and he was entitled, during the trial, to the protection of these rules respecting the admission of evidence which the law has laid down as proper and necessary in such cases. The tribunal which tried him was composed entirely of clergymen, presumably unacquainted with the rules of evidence, and the canon on discipline, under which he was tried, denies to the tribunal and to the accused, the assistance of counsel. The result in this case was that the witness left the box without that cross-examination which is recognized as necessary to elicit the truth fully, and that irrelevant evidence and evidence of opinion and conversation was improperly admitted.

The court assumes that this evidence must have produced an effect on the minds of the committee prejudicial to the defendant's case, and it would, had it not arrived at the conclusion stated hereafter, have felt justified on this ground alone, in sending the case back for retrial. The court is, however, of opinion that the charges brought against the defendant cannot be regarded as "proven."

The only witness who gave any direct evidence of the alleged offence was the woman with whom it was said to have been committed. This evidence, even assuming her to be a credible witness, is, in the judgment of the court, insufficient to establish the charge, and the other facts appearing in the evidence cannot be regarded as amounting to what the law had laid down as sufficient corroborative evidence. The proper order will be drawn up by the registrar of the court.

Dated at Ottawa this 11th day of January, 1900. J. T. Ontario Arthur, Toronto; H. T. Fredericton Charles, Ottawa; A. H. Quebec, George Algonia.
