Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

The opening entertainment of the North Branch Y. W. C. A. on Stuart-street was held this week under the direction of Mrs. Gordon Henderson's Guid of Workers. An excellent musical programme was given by the young ladies, followed by an interesting game in which all participated. At the close refreshments were served. These rooms will now be open Monday evening of each week, to which the young women of the locality are cordially invited, and at which opportunities for helpfuland at which opportunities for helpful ness will be afforded. The Guild is con centrating its efforts this year on the work in this quarter, and is fitting up the small room-in a very cozy, home-like and attractive manner.

The general work of the association is encouraging. New members are being added weekly and enrolled in the differ-ent classes. A class in plain sewing has recently been organized, and a class in recently been organized, and a class in fancy work started this week. The members in attendance at the weekly social gatherings are on the increase, and last evening another happy time was spent. At the recent bezant $115 was realized, $35 of which was due to the efforts of the young ladies in the boarding home.

A HARD CASE

Foreign Woman Deserted Before Her Child Was Born.

Relief Officer John McMenemy make application to Superintendent Scott, of the Dominion Immigration Department, for an order to deport Mrs partment, for an order to deport Mrs. Vicenti Burnt, a young Galician woman, who has been in this country only a short time. She told the authorities a pathetic story, accusing her husband of deserting her and her infant two months after arriving in Hamilton from their native land. She came here six months ago and boarded on Caroline, street north. Shortly after the husband disappeared her child was born. The woman has no friends in this country, so she told the officials. The case was brought to their attention by Budimer Protich. The woman and child were sent to the Home of the Friendless, until the Dominion department is heard from.

born in Philadelphia 28 years ago, and was easily handled until a month or two ago.

Toward the end of the last circus season Columbia began to have ugly moods. He; ugliness early this week assumed such an alarming character that her keeper decided that there was no cure for her, and that it was dangerous for both man and beast to be in the same building with her, so her execution was arranged for.

The execution of Columbia was simple. She was cloked to death. Keeper Deman shaelded her to one forner of the elephant barn. A rope was thrown around her neek; and with the aid of block and tackle five men pulled the rope around her neeks so tightly that the elephant was choked to death.

The body, weighing 9,350 pounds, was dragged out of the barn by Albert, one of the largest elephants in the herd. It will be cut up into small pieces. The hide, feet and teeth will be saved.

"The Solos I Have Endured."

"The Solos I Have Endured."

(Mail and Empire.)

"Oh, the solos I have endured." exclaimed Bishop DuMoulin in his address to the combined Anglican choirs on the subject of church music. The observation is suggestive of painful experience in which, in doubt, others have from time to time joined. In the opinion of the Bishop, what is needed in church services is not fancy singing and the incomprehensible solo; but good, plain singing, in which the congregation as a body can Join The character of the music rendered in churches has been the subject of debate and of ecclesiastical action at various periods ever since united worship has been the rule. And the course of the discussion shows that, as in meany other, branches of human effort, so to this matter of church music, there is a centimer to carry a good practice to a point at which it ceases to be this kind.
