In our last issue we omitted to state that two well-known old residents of this section had gone west. Mr. Win. McCaig has gone to Dakota, and Mr. Murdo Gordon to Manitoba. We wish them well in their new sphere of action.

The United Empire made its last round trip in eight days and a half, and loaded over 1,200 tons during the trip. In addition to this the Empire had in tow the Manitoba from the Sault to Sarnia, the latter boat having broken the connecting rod of its engine.

The London Free Press thinks that the Grand Trunk should issue through tickets at reduced rates to tourists visiting Ontario summer resorts, as the seaside resorts now enjoy that favor. It says: "Goderich is still a favorite place for those in favor of rest and quiet by the cool water side."

Rev. Wm. Habens, Inspector-General of Schools for New Zealand, was in town last week, the guest of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Mellish. Mr. Habens was accompanied by his wife, and with other friends on New Zealand they are making a tour of the world, occupying some thirteen months of travel.

Harry Morgan, the blind vocalist, intends giving a concert in Victoria Hall on Monday, July 2nd. The first part will consist of a children's concert of trained voices, and the second part will be rendered by "The Old Folks," in the good old style of the long ago. Some of our best amateurs will assist. Prof. Morgan is in this enterprise.

In glancing over the Occident, a religious journal published in San Francisco, Cal., we see in a report of the events of the week in connection with St. John's Presbyterian church that on "Last Sabbath Rev. A. B. Meldrum preached both morning and evening with great acceptance. His sermon the morning was a plain, practical, orthodox discourse."

In a note congratulating us upon what he calls our "admirable article on Goderich as a summer resort," J. J. Wright, of the Point Farm, adds:—"Had the same amount of pluck and enterprise been shown by the people that you have shown since taking the management of THE SIGNAL, I feel sure the town of Goderich would to-day have occupied a much better commercial position."

HONESTY IS ITS OWN REWARD.—One day last week Mrs. Urs lost a purse containing a sum of money, and was about to advertise it in THE SIGNAL, when Robt. Sherman, plasterer, who had found and discovered the name of the owner on a card, handed the purse over to Dr. Urs. A liberal reward was tendered Mr. Sherman, which he firmly declined to accept, saying he didn't want to be paid for being honest. He appears to be the made of the right kind of stuff.

DOMINION DAY.—The arrangements for celebrating Dominion Day in Goderich are fast approaching completion. A handsome colored double-poster has been printed at this office, setting forth the attractions to be offered on the occasion. Another meeting of the committee of management will be held on the evening of Monday next at the council chamber for further perfecting the work. It is hoped that every member of the committee will endeavor to attend. By united action on the part of the committee the Dominion day celebration this year can be made the greatest event that has yet taken place in Goderich.

The balloon fraud came to grief at St. Mary's. The Free Press, remarking on its advent in Forest, says:—"The balloon was on the ground, but was undergoing repairs, having been torn and partially destroyed by the enraged crowd at St. Marys, who, becoming disgusted with the affair, made a raid on the institution, and gave those connected with it twenty minutes to leave town, with opportunity was taken advantage of."

SOCIAL AND LECTURE.—The anniversary of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church of Canada will be celebrated by a social and lecture in North street Methodist Church on Monday evening next. The lecture will be by Rev. J. H. Howard, the popular assistant pastor of the church, whose labors in behalf of the church, which would here during the past few months, have been so acceptable to the congregation. Mr. Howard leaves shortly for the prairie provinces. Admission to the social and lecture 20 cents.

The attendance at Knox church S.S. last Sunday was 271, not counting the Bible class which meets in the main body of the church, which would increase the number to about 300. Over 300 new volumes are to be added to the library at once. The quarterly review will be held on the Sunday after next, June 24th, and the exercises give promise of being very interesting. Visitors are always made welcome at the school.

The colored lithographs used at the reviews are interesting and instructive to young and old.

THE BICYCLE INVASION.—A despatch from Detroit gives a summary of the prospectus of the grand bicycle trip of the Chicago, Detroit, and other city clubs, as published in the Western Cycler, from which we select the following complimentary sentence regarding this place: "Thursday, July 6th, to Goderich, 65 miles, the event of the tour, over the most famous hard road in America."

The despatch concludes by saying that "the whelmen will be accompanied on the trip by an ambulance for those who meet with accidents, or get 'tucked out.'"

FOOT RACE.—After lacrosse practice on the square on Wednesday evening, some of the boys began to blow about their fleetness of foot, and the result was an impromptu race, run in very nice style. The course was a stretch of nearly 300 yards down West street, on the hard and level sidewalk, and five started. They reached the goal in the following order: Tom Graham, Jack Perdu, Billy Ellard, Jim Henderson and Jimmy Heale. The racing fever is high just now among some of our young men.

FARM STATISTICS.—The assessed acreage of the county of Huron for this year is 796,639, of which 506,651 are cleared, and 84,570 acres are returned as swamp or marsh land. This is the acreage of farm lands only, towns and villages not being included. The number of acres in fall wheat this year was 91,113, an increase of only about 60 acres over the preceding year. There are in the county nearly 8,000 acre in orchards. The average wage of farm laborers is given as $19.20 per month, and board; $29.70 per month, without board.

Mr. Jamieson preached in the Methodist church, Clinton, on Sunday morning and evening, says the New Era, "giving very creditable sermons on both occasions. He possesses a good deal of poetic imagination, and by figuratively drawing pretty pictures, gives his remarks an attractiveness that almost reaches fascination. He is to be ordained at the present sitting of Conference, and we are disclosing what is no longer a secret, when we state that soon after his ordination he leads to the altar the daughter of one of Goderich's most prominent citizens."

O. S. Fowler, the phrenologist, (partook of the hospitality of county attorney Lewis on Sunday last) and gave interesting reminiscences of Brattleboro, Vt., in the olden time. We have been informed that the professor was so captivated with the geniality of the county attorney that he presented that gentleman with the skull with which he has been wont to illustrate lectures. Mr. Lewis also procured a chart, and we understand will practically test the phrenological theory by "laying hands on and 'bumping' all persons charged with criminal offences during the ensuing year."

GODERICH BICYCLE CLUB.—A meeting of bicycle riders was held at the British Exchange Hotel on Tuesday evening for the purpose of organizing a club, when the following officers were elected:—President, Dr. McLean; Vice President, D. Glass; Captain, G. B. Cox; 1st Lieutenant, J. H. McCulloch; 2nd Lieutenant, Harry McLean; Sec. Treasurer, J. H. Vidal; Engler, John Platt. The club has adopted a uniform consisting of blue stockings, shirt and coat, cord knee breeches, and drab helmet. The club has at present an active membership of 10 with a prospect of an increase during the season. It is the intention of the club to join the C. W. A.

The Hamilton Spectator says:—"Mr. McGillicuddy, of the Goderich Signal, entertains an erroneous idea of the city, which ought to be dispelled. He says: 'A ramble in a Canadian berry patch, with an old dress, sun-down hat and strong boots, is just the thing a boy of girls from the city ought to enjoy.' Oh, no, Mr. McGillicuddy; you are in error. The city girl don't enjoy that sort of thing half as much as she enjoys eating the berries at a high-priced confectionery restaurant, with some ice-cream, cake, and soda-water added to the bill to be paid by the deluded young man who accompanies her." The young man of the Spectator has evidently "bin

RIDLEY-ADAMS.—The event of Wednesday in Paris was the marriage of Harry Ridley, of Goderich, to Miss Lilian Adams, youngest daughter of W. E. Adams, Bentfield street. The ceremony was performed in the Canada Methodist church, which was crowded by the elite of the town, the Rev. Dr. Byckman officiating. The Misses Laycock, Ridley, and Lottie Adams acted as bridesmaids, and Messrs. James Doyle, Geo. Watt, jr., and Harry Ridley, jr., as groomsmen. There were about eighty guests from Paris, Buffalo, Brantford, Goderich and Galt present. A reception to the relatives and friends was given at the residence of the bride's parents after the ceremony.—[Hamilton Spectator, June 9th.

SCHOOL STATISTICS.—From a return just published, it is shown that Huron has a larger school population than any other Ontario county, there being a total of 18,184, of which the average attendance at school was 8,329. This is considerably more than in any other county and speaks well for educational progress. Goderich, with a school population of 1256, records an average attendance of 573; Clinton, with 900, an average attendance of 390, and Seaforth, with 687, an average attendance of 333. With four Separate Schools in the county, the total attendance is only put at 282, of which 108 is in Goderich. The cost per pupil for each scholar attending the High School based on expenditure, is slightly higher in Clinton than in either Goderich or Seaforth.

Goderich Horticultural Society.
The society met on Tuesday pursuant to notice, the president in the chair. The minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

Moved by Mr. Dickson, seconded by Mr. Watson, that Messrs. Watt, Strivin and Inaric be appointed judges at the summer show to be held on the 2nd of July next. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Dickson, seconded by Mr. Williams, that the secretary make application to the council for the usual annual grant of $100 to the society. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Williams seconded by Mr. Howd, that Messrs. Watson, Dickson, Bingham and the secretary be a committee to secure a suitable place near the Square for holding the show, with power to fit it up properly, etc. The meeting then adjourned.

County court.
Before His Honor Judge Toms.
Court opened at 12 o'clock noon, on Tuesday.

After the grand jury had been sworn in the judge addressed them, congratulating them upon the lightness of the business likely to come before them.

The following is a list of the cases, and their disposition:

McKee v. Kidd—Interpleader case. Settled by consent. Holmstead for plaintiff; Wood & Fisher for defendant.

Campbell v. Kidd—Interpleader case. Settled by consent. Holmstead for plaintiff; Woods and Fisher for defendant.

The Queen v. Reeve—Action for malicious damage to property. Laid over.

The adjournment of this case, practically disposing of the case, as defendant will not likely be called upon again.

The Grand jury brought in a true bill for aggravated assault against one Macdonald of Exeter.

On Thursday morning the grand jury brought in the following:

We, the grand jurors for our Sovereign Lady the Queen, beg leave to report that we have examined the gaol and found confined therein seven male and two female prisoners. Of these five were sent in as vagrants (three males and two females), one as an absconding debtor and one is held awaiting transference to the Central Prison. We found there-in one John Mosehead, an imbecile who was committed some fifteen months ago for using threatening language. As we are informed his sentence has expired, we would suggest that he be set free or removed to a proper place for such cases.

We would mention the special case of William Burgess, retained after the expiration of his sentence, by special order of the sheriff and gaol surgeon. He is suffering from a cancer on his leg, said to be incurable. We recommend that he be sent as soon as possible to an hospital, as he is a nuisance to the gaol officials, and the stench arising from such a sore is certainly detrimental to the health of the other prisoners who are, of necessity, confined in the same ward.

In the gaol we found everything clean and in excellent order, and the prisoners well satisfied with their treatment by the gaoler, whom they seem to hold in high respect.

We take great pleasure in being able to congratulate the county on the almost entire absence of criminal cases from this session of the court, only one case having come before us, and that of a trivial nature. This speaks well for the law-abiding character of the people, and shows to a certain extent the prosperity and contentment of the county.

We take this opportunity of thanking two females, the crown attorney, for the Mr. Lewis, the crown attorney, for the able and courteous manner in which he assisted us in our duties.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
JAMES JOHNSON, foreman.

THE LATE DONALD SCOTT.

Donald Scott, lato license inspector for the East Riding of the county of Huron, died at his residence in the village of Brussels, on the evening of the 8th inst. and was buried on Sunday following.

The funeral was the largest ever seen in Brussels, many coming from a distance of 15 and 20 miles. The road was lined with teams, and people on foot nearly the whole way from his late residence to the grave yard, a distance of 1 1/2 miles. Of course, this was expected from the wide circle of his acquaintance, and the esteem and respect in which he was held by those who came in contact with him.

The funeral was under the auspices of the I. O. O. F., of which he was a member. He was born in August, 1825, in the village of Pitlochry, Perthshire, Scotland. About the age of 12 years he left school and became an apprentice to a merchant for the purpose of learning tailoring.

At the age of 23 years he married Elizabeth McDougall, and emigrated to Canada, came as far as Oshawa, made a short stay, thence west as far as Stratford, where he remained about a year, working at his trade. He then moved west and took up his abode at Harpurhey, where he lived for five years, working at his trade. In 1853, he moved north and settled on a farm in the township of Morris, county of Huron, and was one of the first settlers. While on the farm he kept post office, and carried mail to Ainslieville (now Brussels), Ethel and township of Grey for a term of years. During that period also he filled important positions in the council of his township, first as collector, then councillor, and afterwards deputy-reeve for three years. He also acted as valuator of unpatented lands in the township of East Huron, for the Government of Ontario. After selling his farm, nine years ago, he moved to the village of Brussels, where he kept a general store for four years, at the end of which time he was burned out and lost considerable by the fire. When the Crooks' license was made in force last year, he had a clear, logical mind, and a strong sense of equity, and was always inclined to be respectful to all.

To all he appeared to be a cyclopaedia of acquired and original information. He was plain and unaffected, and made no pretence to show the prominent features of his character were firm adherence to principle, strict social qualities, integrity and morality.

He regarded with pity and even with contempt, the man who was so little and narrow as to think there was no good outside of his own church or creed. Hypocrisy, tyranny and bigotry he could not endure. The number of persons introduced into his section always had his heartfelt sympathy and assistance. During his residence in Harpurhey he was a member of the Presbyterian church, and was an adherent of that religious body until his death.

In politics he was an ardent Liberal, and his ability to place his views on record was conceded by even those who most differed from him. In the death of Donald Scott his bereaved family suffer an irreparable loss, the village of Brussels loses a valued resident, and the writer of this poor tribute to the memory of the dead mourns the loss of one whom he revered as a father, loved as a very brother, and honored as a good, true, tried and trusted friend.—Com.

Extraordinary Antics on the Bicycle.

An exhibition of fancy riding, given at a recent meeting of the Oakland, Cal. Bicycle Club, is described as follows:—"Mr. Leonard first rode with his whole body on one side of the wheel, propelling it with one foot. Then, after giving it good speed, he lay on his back in the saddle, with his legs in the air. This he repeated, letting go of the handles also. He then started the machine and with the pedal mounted jumped into the saddle, standing there on his feet. After this he showed how perfectly still the machine could be kept with the rider on its back, afterward taking a few turns backward. He then stood the machine carefully upright and leaped into the saddle from the rear, without using the hands or the handles—a very difficult feat. Then, with the machine standing still, he jumped from the pedal on to the saddle, standing. A handkerchief was placed in the road and he ran by it, jumped up and picked it up, and valed on to the saddle before the machine stopped. After this he rode side-saddle with handles, lying on the back, on the breast, and also held the handles and worked both peddles from behind, straddle the back bone below the saddle."

There is strong disapproval on the part of Conservatives generally, as well as of Reformers, of the tone of the remarks appearing in the Mail concerning Mr. Anglin. Whatever Mr. Anglin's politics or religion may be, he has quite as much right to make his home in Ontario as anybody else, without being subjected to slander and abuse. It is really too bad that a private gentleman, should not even a member of parliament, should be denounced as if he was a horse thief. If this course were to be pursued by journals generally life would become unbearable. Fortunately no other journal has seen fit to imitate the Mail's unworthy example.—[Toronto Telegram.
