The Science of Circumduction

(BY. CANON SMITH.)

This is an abtruse science, and un-der ordinary circumstances difficult of comprehension, and it is more difficult to give it practical effect. There is, however, in the community an august body of gentlemen who have thoroughly mastered this science, difficult as it is of attainment, and what is more have actually given it effect in the prosecution of the business in which they are engaged. These gentlemen are those of the General Post Office whose duty it is to make arrangements for the transit in this Colony of Hi Majesty's mails.—e.g. For som years past there has been, and the is still, a mail steamer crossing Tickle between Bell Island and Por gal Cove twice every day, Sunday excepted. Now it would naturally b supposed that a letter written to m by my brother cleric at Bell Island would reach me about an hour after it left the Bell Island post office, the distance between my house and the office being only four miles, and that a reply from me would reach the Is land by the afternoon boat, or about four o'clock p.m. But, bless your dea. heart, nothing so hasty or indecent in the way of delivery is primitted oc-currence, the dignity of the G. P. O and its officials is fully maintained With a sobriety of pace, rivalin that of approach to His Majesty Throne itself, our beloved Sovereign mail carrying my brother cleric's let ter to me is made to pass within yards of the post office here and fift of my garden gate and proceeds with a dignity of leisurely deportment, tha must be seen to be understood, to tak up its habitaton at the General Pos Office, St. John's. Here, the said let ter, being wearied by its long journey ter, being wearied by its long journey is for that night permitted to take needful rest in its comfortable "sleeping bag" at the aforesaid office. Abou 4 or 5 o'clock p.m. on the following day (Tuesday afternoon) that letter reaches me. My reply travels to Si

John's and thence back here again and on to the Island which it reaches by Thursday evening.

This has been the stately course o mail procedure between Portugal Covand Bell Island for the past ten years All this circumduction could be avoided by the simple and inexpensive expedient of providing a small maibag with a good lock which had tween the post of the process of the proces hursday evening. Office here, the other in the office a Bell Island. No other expense need be incurred because the mail mail passes close by the above post offic door every time he takes the ma from the steamer either to carry it town or bringing from town to put aboard the said steamer.

But, oh! dear what have I done.

repent me of my fault, and humbly asl
pardon for even hinting at such un-repent me of my laute, and allow pardon for even hinting at such unseemly haste in mail carrying.

What a depraved lot our forefathers must have been when they marked or the covers of their letters: "Haste haste, post haste."

Oh! I say again, "Mea culpa! Mea maxima culpa!" to even suggest celerity in the performance of duty to a maxima culpa!" to even suggest celerity in the performance of duty to a maxima culpa! To even suggest celerity in the performance of duty to a maxima culpa! To even suggest celerity in the performance of duty to any public official is as great an act of barbarity on the part of the suggestor, and of indignity to the person addressed, as it would be to give to push to Old Mother Earth to haster her movements either in the performance of her diurnal round, or her annual orbit. As for our M. H. A.'s for St. John's East are they not all "find old English gentlemen who "sit" a home at ease" where the interests of Portugal Cove are concerned? ugal Cove are concerned?

Collecting Money.

Rev. Fr. O'Callaghan, preaching a last Mass in the Cathedral yesterday ook occasion to warn the congrega ing money for alleged church purposes. He advised the people to give money to nobody out collecting for pon themselves to go es. He advised the people to give money to nobody out collecting for such purpose unless they had written authority from Rt. Rev. Monsignor Roche, Rev. Fr. McDermott or Dr. Kitchen. Father O'Callaghan preached on the words of the text "If I touch only the hem of his garment I shall be healed," taken from the Gospe' read at Mass. At Vespers the rev gentleman also preached on the words from St. Paul's epistle to the Corinthians, "I preach Christ and Hin crucified." It was a powerful discourse and the sufferings of our Divine Saviour on the journey to the place of crucifixion and the agonies and indignities on the Cross were graphically portrayed. It was only by bearing our crosses and suffering patiently that we could come to Christ. It mattered not how the world treated us and what was said of us provided we faithfully served God and remained faithful to his commandments to the end.

Died at Salmonier.

There passed away on the 6th inst. at her home, Salmonier, Annie, beloved wife of Richard McDonnell. Deceased was only in her 24th year, and much sympathy is felt by the people of Salmonier for the young widower, in whose charge has been left two young children, the youngest being only an infant of three months. Mrs. McDonnell, formerly Annie Lynch, had the privilege of spending her young years at Belvidere Orphanage under the care of the good Nuns. She was taken from there by her husband's uncle, and remained in his home for about eight years, when durband's uncle, and remained in his home for about eight years, when durband in that time, by her humility and kindness, won all hearts to her. Her most marked characteristic was her patience in suffering which, during the three months the dread disease held her in its grip, was indescribable. Let us hope that she is now enjoying her eternal reward. To her sorrowing husband and relatives the peopel of Salmonier extend their heartfelt sympathy.—Com.

man, Jeanie Stanley, who was held on a charge of stealing $120 from the residence of Mr. Henry Bartlett, where she was a servant, was before the court. She pleaded not guilty, and her story which was to the effect that the had received from her affianced ausband on the day the money disappeared $20 with which to buy cloths, etc., for their coming wedding, was corroborated by the young man when ne was put in the witness box. The police were also aware of the truth of the statement made by the accused in his connection. Only Mr. and Mrs. Bartleft had keys for the room in which the money was kept. The $120 stolen were in six twenty dollar bills, stolen were in six twenty dollar bills, and on the day in which they disappeared the room door was accidently left open. The cash was part of $600 colled up in a newspaper. The accused on the day the money was stolen purchased furs, etc., but she learly proved that this money was given her by her intended husband. The court held that this young wonan was utterly innocent of the theft und Inspector General Sullivan adlressing the court expressed the sortreesing the court expressed the sor-row he felt in having to lock up ac-rused for a day and night, but that appearances warranted the police st doing. Both the Judge and Mr. Sullian congratulated her on the clea oof adduced of her innocence,

St. Patrick's Church Repairs.

Rev. Fr. Pippy occupied the pulpit at St. Patrick's Church yesterday and warned the people to be careful as to whom they gave donations for church purposes, as it is known that people who have no authority to do so are collecting and in effect receiving collecting and in effect receiving money under false pretences. People who contribute should be sure that those who ask for donations have written authority so to do either from Rt. Rev. Mons. Roche, Rev. Fr. McDermott or Rev. Dr. Kitchen. In referring to repairs to St. Patrick's Church, Fr. Pippy announced that there would be a general meeting of the women of the parish on Sunday evening next after prayers in the Covent to discuss ways and means and finances generally. By the end of tthe month a new system of hearing the church would be finished, and next spring it was the intention to proceed with the erection of the tower and spire and to complete repairs and spire and to complete repair oroughly. A loan would be ne sary to do this, and he looked to people of St. Patrick's to help the clergy and liquidate this as quickles possible after it was effected.

Klark-Urban Co.

The Klark-Urban Co. in the matinee of Saturday had another crowded house, and their reproduction of "A Woman's Sacrifice" Saturday night was greeted with an overflow audience. The drama went along pleasantly, all the performers doing excellent work. The specialties on each occasion were most entertaining and received unstinted applause. To-night the comedy-drama "A Silent Partner," a very pleasing piece with plenty of comedy in it, will be produced and with the new specialties which will be given should crowd the house.
