Town and County News.

Mr. Froude's Closing Lecture. James Anthony Froude, the English historian, delivered the fifth and last of his series of lectures on "The Relations between England and Ireland," in New York, on Friday evening. The more important parts of his lecture we give below:—

WHAT CONSTITUTES GOOD GOVERNMENT. I say above all questions of forms of government lies the higher question of what is right and what is wrong? Let men fix their minds on a wrong to be redressed, or a right to be asserted, the chances are that if they are resolute in demanding justice, justice will not long be delayed. If the Government, whatever it be, determinedly persists in what is right and what is wrong, it is time to attack the constitution. A constitution is evil, not when it is democratic, or when it is oligarchical, but when it upholds iniquity. A revolution is beneficial when it is undertaken as a last resort for a definite object. A wrong committed will then be redressed, and the wrong which maintained it is overthrown. But reverse the process; begin with political agitation, with no clear idea why a change is desired, to transfer the power from kings to nobles, from nobles to the middle classes, and from the middle classes to the people, and the result is nothing but aimless confusion of power, wasted in beating the air, and a multiplication of practical misery from confusion and anarchy. In this position you have the key to the failure of so many efforts to obtain what has been called "Justice to Ireland." No sooner has a wrong been admitted and a beginning made towards redress, than the Irish have kindled up into a blaze, they have left the road of practical reform for political agitation. From agitation they have fallen into conspiracy, and from conspiracy into rebellion; the fire burns out, the rebellion collapses, resentment follows, ill-will; then, perhaps, fresh tyranny. The stone of Sisyphus has rebounded to the bottom of the hill; the reformer is taken in hand; freedom is restored; the laws against the Catholics were relaxed; they were admitted to suffrage; Maynooth was established and endowed for the education of Catholic priests; Trinity College opened its doors to the Catholics; the Irish are now conducted in England as free men, and as free men in England they are treated as Irish.

IRELAND'S REAL ENEMY. Ireland's real enemy was the landlord. An Englishman or a Scotchman would buy an estate, seeing the capabilities of the soil, if properly cultivated and managed; would establish large farms, build barns, cattle sheds, put his capital into the ground, plant his water, plant and manure. Finding his property the first year littered with paupers, he would clear them away. Then the next year bringing in a new English tenant, he would cultivate his farm scientifically, which might be well for the property but was injurious to the mob, until the remainder of the year he would be taken in hand; the harsh treatment after all, for human beings who, with their families, had lived for centuries on the same spot; it was their home. They adhered to it; they knew no other desire.

LAWLESSNESS AND RELIGIOUS FEUDS. Next a more effective police was wanted. The grand rudimentary elements of civilization are incompatible with the private use of the gun and pistol. No country could stand by such a mode of manure. Finding his property the first year littered with paupers, he would clear them away. Then the next year bringing in a new English tenant, he would cultivate his farm scientifically, which might be well for the property but was injurious to the mob, until the remainder of the year he would be taken in hand; the harsh treatment after all, for human beings who, with their families, had lived for centuries on the same spot; it was their home. They adhered to it; they knew no other desire.

THE MEASUREMENT OF THE GOLDEN WEDDING OF JACOB SCHILL, SEN., OF BERTIE. The old gentleman and his wife are both 72 years old, and natives of Loraine and settled 42 years ago on the farm in which they still live. They had 5 boys and 5 girls, and have 7 children still living, and have 100 descendants, nearly all of whom reside in Humberstone, with a few in Wiloughby and Bertie.

IMMENSE QUANTITIES OF HAY ARE BEING DAILY BROUGHT INTO MEASUR, PRESSED AND READY FOR SHIPMENT.

The St. Catharines Times, alluding to the statement made in Belfast by Mr. Johnston, of Ballykilbeg, that all the colored voters in St. Catharines are Conservatives, remarks that the information thus conveyed will be news to most of the colored citizens in that town.

A circular has been issued for a Convention to be held at Seaford on the 30th, at which the merchants in that section will take into consideration the present and prospective state of the butter market, more especially with regard to its condition when brought in for shipment.

M. and Mrs. Hyacinthe Loysen intend to start a newspaper at Brussels, devoted to the propagation of "New Catholic" views of the "Old Catholics."

Corn is now only 15 cents a bushel in Illinois.

It is said that the improvement in the supply of water to London will cost nine millions, or three pounds a head.

The shipping tonnage of the United States is less than it was thirty years ago.

M. Ronzard, the husband of Nilsson, excommunicated himself from the Catholic Church by being married in an Episcopal sanctuary.

A very old Hebrew manuscript of portions of the Old Testament has been discovered in Cairo, Egypt, by Dr. Grant, of the American Mission.

A grocer, when complained to about the quality of his eggs, opened himself by saying, "at this time of the year the hens are unwell, and often lay bad ones."

In a stone quarry at Anamos, Iowa, a solid block of stone, on being sawn through was found to contain a petrified human foot. Darwin is looking about for that foot's biography.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES

The Liverpool License Act.

Fire in Northampton.

McBride Murder Case.

Inundation of the Po.

London, Oct. 28.—The Licensing Act, requiring the drinking saloons in Liverpool to close at nine o'clock on Sunday nights, was enforced for the first time yesterday, and gave rise to considerable excitement among the frequenters of those places. Crowds collected in various portions of the city and were addressed by persons (several of whom were under the influence of liquor) in opposition to the act. The gathering finally became so noisy that the police were compelled to interfere and arrest the most prominent malcontents. In some of the streets of the city the people opposed to the Act manifested their indignation at its enforcement by lighting colored fires in the streets and hooting at the police officers when they appeared.

Northampton, Mass., Oct. 29.—Emery Wheel Company's mill at Leeds was almost destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon.

Philadelphia, Oct. 29.—The jury in the case of Andrew Quinn charged with murder of Rosa McBride, have rendered a verdict of guilty of manslaughter.

Turin, Oct. 28.—The damages caused by the inundation of the Po, especially in the Provinces of Mantua and Ferrara, are immense. Several hundred kilometers of the most fertile land in Italy are covered by water. Whole towns and villages have been submerged, and many houses have been undermined and have fallen. In some places the water reaches the roofs of the highest buildings. Thousands of people are homeless, and others are fleeing from their dwellings which are threatened with destruction. The towns of Casat, Maggiore, and Ostiglia, on the River Po, are in great danger, and the inhabitants are panic-stricken. The suffering is wide-spread and intense, but relief is going forward from all parts of Italy.

The epixotic is abating in New York. It has broken out in Halifax.

There is the unprecedented number of nineteen sea-going steamers now in the port of Montreal.

MONTREAL has just been visited by the first Italian steamer that ever ascended the St. Lawrence.

COMPLAINTS are again being made of the manner in which the Toronto narrow gauge railways do the wood carrying business.

MR. STANLEY will leave for America early in November. Preparations are being made by the members of the press to give him a public reception.

The tracklayers on the Canada Air Line arrived at Simcoe on Monday. There was great excitement on the arrival of the iron horse.

The Governor-General left for Ottawa on Monday in a Directors' car and special train. He was attended by the Governor-General's body guard.

A widow woman named Meadows, with a large family, committed suicide at St. Catharines by severing the jugular vein. Poverty is the supposed cause.

The propeller Bruno, with a cargo of flour, whilst proceeding down the Gallop rapids, on Sunday, struck on a bar at the head of the Williamsburg canal and sank.

The statement going the rounds of the press, that the Rev. W. M. Punshon had left Canada, is incorrect. We learn that he will remain in the country until the latter end of April or the beginning of May.

THREE of the children of Lord and Lady Dufferin—Lord Clarendon, Lady Helen Blackwood, and the Honourable Terence Temple Blackwood—arrived in the Prussian, at Quebec, on Monday night, and went directly to Ottawa to meet their parents.

The schooner New Dominion left Kinross for Chicago on Monday with 364 tons of salt in bulk, shipped from the Bruce Salt Works. The three blocks there are working to their utmost capacity day and night, manufacturers being unable to meet the excessive demands.

The merchants of Kinross held a meeting on Friday night about the unsatisfactory state of the market arising from the bad commodity which is brought to the local dealers by producers. It is proposed to have all butter brought into that market next season inspected by a competent person employed for that purpose.

The first application in Eastern Ontario of the lash, as a means of correction for criminal convictions, took place at Belleville jail on Wednesday last. Andrew Townley, who was convicted last spring of an attempt upon the person of a small girl, received twenty lashes, which he bore without a groan, though suffering great pain. He admitted that he deserved twice as much punishment, but whisky, he said, got it for him.

The new silver coins issued by the British mint are so defective in workmanship that the London Times says of some specimens, forwarded by a banker, that they "are of a character that would induce any one to reject them on the ground that they could not possibly have been sent forth from any government establishment."
