Rain Interfered With Contest at Boston, But Jennings Was Glad of Postponement, as Team Is In Bad-Now for the Quaker Series.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Boston, Aug. 5.—The Tigers and Red Sox were prevented from playing their fifth game here this afternoon by a rainstorm, which threatened all morning. The postponed game will be played on Sept. 29.

Manager Jennings was glad of the postponement. His team is going bad right now, slumping in the worst form the champions have shown since the middle of last season. The day's rest will mean much to them, Detroit's team leaves this evening for Philadelphia, where a four days' engagement with the men of Connie Mack will be opened tomorrow afternoon. According to the best baseball critics of the east, the series of games to be played in the Quaker town will do more than anything to decide the pennant of 1909. The Quakers have been gradually creeping closer to the Tigers as a result of the slump of the champions. If they can take three out of four games, the Philadelphians will take the American League lead

Cleveland Hits Ball Hard in the First Game, But Not in the Second.

Washington, Aug. 5.-Washington and Cleveland each scored a victory in today's double-header, the visitors winning the first game 9 to 4, whil Cleveland batted two pitchers out o the box and won the first game easily. Smith was a puzzle in the sec in one inning, when the locals scored their two runs. Unglaub was benched and then sent off the field by Umpire Kerin for kicking on a called strike. The scores:
