PLUNGE TO THE RESCUE

But When Mechanic Discovers it is His Mother-in-Law He Throws Her Back.

Dubois, a young mechanic, of Bellegarde, France, was returning home from work along the bank of the Rhone when he heard cries of distress, and seeing a woman struggling in the swollen stream he plunged in, and swam towards the bank with her.

As he gained a footing Dubois discovered, the Geneva correspondent of the Express says, that he had saved his mother-in-law, with whom he had been on bad terms for a long time. Without reflecting upon the seriousness of his act, he threw the woman in the water again, and walked away swearing, without taking any more notice of her.

Fortunately, at the first cries for help, a boatman had put out into the river, and he picked up the woman, who otherwise would have been drowned, and her son-in-law would probably be now in prison on the charge of manslaughter.

DOCTORS ADVISE OPERATIONS

Saved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Swarthmore, Penn. — "For fifteen years I suffered untold agony, and for one period of nearly two years I had hemorrhages and the doctors told me I would have to undergo an operation, but I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am in good health now. I am all over the Change of Life and cannot praise your Vegetable Compound too highly. Every woman should take it at that time. I recommend it to both old and young for female troubles."—Mrs. EMILY SUMMERSGILL, Swarthmore, Pa.

Canadian Woman's Experience:

Fort William, Ont.—"I feel as if I could not tell others enough about the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was weak and tired and I could not rest nights. A friend recommended your Compound and I soon gained health and strength and could not wish to sleep better. I know other women who have taken it for the same purpose and they join me in praising it."—Mrs. WM. A. BUFFY, 631 South Vickar Street, Fort Williams, Ontario.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

MORE MONEY FOR OPERATORS

Eight Hundred Commercial Telegraphers of the C. P. R. Get Raise in Pay.

The eight hundred commercial telegraphers of the C. P. R. have secured a settlement from the company after six months' registration, by which they get an increase of $5 per month. The commercial telegraphers all over the country are affected. Under the old schedule, the monthly wages of a telegrapher varied from $45 or $90 per month, according to ability and experience. Under the new rate, though the minimum wage earned by the the less experienced men will not be greatly changed, the maximum will be increased. The change will be most manifest in the case of the higher rated men. Amongst the other concessions granted by the company is one providing that, in the case of men with four years' service, a two weeks' vacation, with full pay, will be accorded.

PRINCE OF WALES COMING TO CANADA

London, Aug 21—It is reported in well informed circles that the Prince of Wales, may possibly visit Canada next summer in charge of his tutor. He will be the guest of the Duke of Connaught.

It is said that his brother, Prince Albert, may accompany him. They would be in charge of their tutor, Mr. Hansell, who recently accompanied the Prince of Wales on his sojourn in Paris, where he went to perfect his knowledge of the French language. The expected visit to Canada will last about a month. There is no inherent impossibility in such a trip, but it is extremely unlikely that any definite arrangements have yet been made.

SOCIETY WEDDING AT NEWCASTLE

A very quiet but very pretty wedding took place on Monday afternoon in St. James' church, Newcastle, when John Herbert Troy, son of Postmaster and Mrs. James M. Troy, and member of Dickison & Troy, druggists and opticians, was united in marriage with Miss Helen Sydney Caie, daughter of Mrs. E. H. Caie.

The bride was handsomely dressed in brown with hat to match and carried a bouquet of lilies and maiden hair ferns. The church was most tastefully decorated with house and garden plants, ferns and evergreens. Mrs. Chas. Sargeant, sister of the groom, presided at the organ and played Mendelssohn's wedding march. The bride was unattended, and was given away by her mother.

Shortly after the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. S. J. Macarthur, Mr. and Mrs. Troy left on the Limited for a trip to upper Canada as far west as Toronto.

Among the invited guests which, besides Rev. and Mrs. Macarthur, included only the near relatives of the principals, were: Mr. and Mrs James M. Troy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patterson (St. John), Mr. and Mrs. Harry Patterson (Ottawa), H. H. Pallan (North Sydney, N. S.) Mrs. Graham Jardine (Vancouver), Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jordan (Chatham), Mr. and Mrs. A. E. G. McKenzie (Campbellton), Mr. and Mrs. Allan H. Troy (Moncton), Alderman and Mrs. Charles Sargeant, Rev. and Mrs. F. N. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Tozer, Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Crocker and Miss Bertha Elliott, Hazel Crabbe and Jean Robinson.

The young people, who are very popular, received a profusion of cut glass, silverwear, etc., and several substantial cheques. On their return they will live here.

AUTOMATIC 'PHONE HAD GOOD TRIAL

Question is now Asked is the "Hello" Girl Doomed.

BELLS AND BELLES

Is the tantalising telephone operator to be replaced by soulless mechanism?

Is the butt of our epithets who says "butt me no buts" when we rave, and has cognisance of our most cherished secrets, to be supplanted by a docile and infallible keyboard?

It seems so. No more confessions of "Wrong number—sorry!" No more cries of "I say, miss, can't you get that call?" No more bad tempers. No more bad langurge. Such was the happy condition of affairs, beautiful beyond belief, foretold to telephone subscribers at a little reception in the General Post Office, London.

It was a demonstration given by the Automatic Telephone Company, by permission of the Postmaster-General, of the working of the automatic exchange installed at the G.P.O.

In connection with this post-office exchange there are 305 lines serving about 800 telephones. The apparatus by which this work is carried out automatically is in a small basement room of the great offices. All that one sees are a number of switch-boards with a complicated tangle of wires, dices, and rods, and little hammers which keep rising and falling like the keyboard of a typewriter worked by invisible fingers. Now and again a spark flashes from one of the switches, and there is the sound of crackling electricity—signs of mysterious activity and of an intelligence at work behind those wires.

From the subscriber's point of view the system is perfectly simple. Each telephone is provided with a small dial having ten holes numbered 1 to 10 round its circumference. Directly he lifts of the receiver he is connected with one of the lines in the automatic exchange. Then by pressing the figures of the telephone number he requires he is immediately in touch with the subscriber he is calling up provided he answers the ring of his bell. There is no delay whatever, and when the conversation is finished the disconnection is instantaneous. Should the number be automatically indicated.

Epson is already in possession of an automatic exchange, and it has worked so well that the telephone business has increased 60 per cent since the service was begun last May.

The advantages of the automatic system may be summed up in one sentence:

The elimination of the operator means the abolition of nine-tenths of the complaints arising from the use of the telephone.

The General Post Office is satisfied with the practical demonstration of the automatic system in its own headquarters and may extend the blessing of the service to the English public—14 years after its unfailing success in the United States. And when the automatic bell starts to ring in earnest over here, the human belle may devote more attention to the ring that will last a life-time.

NEW YORK LAWYER SHOT BY A WOMAN

Family Troubles Had Upset Her Mind.

New York, Aug. 19—District Attorney Albert C. Fach, of Richmond borough, was shot and seriously wounded today in front of the Stapleton National Bank at Stapleton, Staten Island, as he was on his way to his office. The shooting was done by a woman. Mr. Fach was taken by the police to the hospital, where it was said he was seriously hurt. The shooting was done by Mrs. Elizabeth Evans, who is believed to be mentally deranged because of family troubles that brought her into contact with Mr. Fach. She was taken into custody. Mrs. Evans fired three shots, all of which took effect.

"She's in a frightful dilemma."

"How so?"

"Why, Jack preposed to her last night and insists upon having an answer before she will have time to learn whether Tom intends to propose."

Wife—What would you do, George, if you were left a widower? Hub—Oh, I suppose the same as you would if you were left a widow. Wife—You horrid wretch! And you told me you could never care for anybody else.
