STEEL CANAL BOATS.

Five of Them Make a Trial Trip Fren Cleveland to New York.

fleet of steel canal boats arrived in New York from Cleveland, Ohio, which, canal boatmen and railroad men declare, will in all probability start a revolution in the canal boat and general freight traffic. The fleet consists of five steel canal boats and one steel propeller, and their safe arrival here ends successfully an experiment which has been made by the Cleveland Steel Canal Boat Company. The boats were built for the company in Cleveland, and are made of steel throughout They are each 98 feet in length, 18 feet beam and 10 feet moulded depth. Each one is capable of carrying 230 tons on a draft of six feet of water. The propeller, the Alpha, is 92 feet long propeller, the Alpha, 18 32 Rec and can carry 135 tons, exclusive of her

She is fitted with a fore and aft She is fitted with a fore and aft compound condensing engine of about 120 horse power, and can push along the fleet at about the rate of three miles an hour. The boats are constructed of one-quarter-inch steel plates, and at their more vulnerable points the plates are doubled. The fleet brought about 1,000 tons of steel rails, which are consigned to the Broadway Traction Company and the Staten Island Rapid Transit Company.

E. M. Oxley, the agent of the Cleveland Steel Canal Boat Company in 120 horse power, and can yellow from the consigner to receive consignments of poultry, such as turkeys, chickens, ducks, etc., which as turkeys, chickens, d land Steel Canal Boat Company, invited a number of canal boatmen, rail-road men and newspaper men to go up the Hudson to meet the fleet upon siblt market price. (up the Hudson to meet the fleet upon its arrival, and the trip was made on the tug Defiance. The party boarded the canal boats and made a tour of inspection, under the direction of Charles E. Wheeler, General Manager of the Cleveland Steel Canal Boat Company, who has come lown on the maiden trip to get perfectly familiar with the situation. The fleet was in charge of Captain Haines, a veteran canal boatman, who said he uld not be afraid to cross the ocean in his vessels. Mr. Wheeler said that along the Erie Canal thousands of people had gathered to greet them as they passed. He had met only two mishaps, and these had only intensified his belief and confidence in the boats, and confirmed him in his opinof the success of the experiment. The fleet had left Cleveland two weeks ago last Tuesday, and had lost 102 hours because of the mishaps mention-ed. He had closely watched the vessels, and said that only a few mir changes would be made in the remaining vessels to be built by the company, such as making the sterns squarer and altering the rudders. In all important details the experiment was a complete success.-New York Tri-

A Monster Rattler.

John McCarthy, the lion and bear hunter, is again in Prescott with a load of choice hides and curios gathered in his travels, the most remarkable of the lot being the hide and rattles of monster diamond-back rattlesnake, which he killed on the Santa Maria a few days ago. The rattles from this monster snake are over eight and a quarter inches in length, and there are 40 distinct rattles, showing his snake-ship to have been a Hassayampa of over 40 years of age.

When the snake coiled up for fight and sounded his rattles McCarthy could hardly believe that all the noise came from one snake. He says the rattling could be heard 100 yards away. The snake was of the short and fat order, being only 4 feet 10 1-2 inches in length. With an eye to business, Mc-Carthy procured a long forked stick, pinned the snake's head to the earth and drove a knife through its spinal column, just back of its head, killing it without spoiling the hide.

le took just 5 1-2 inches of the steel blade to go through the snake's body. Both the hide and rattles are rare curios. This has not been a good year with the hunter, as he has killed only 13 lions and a few bears. He surprised residents here by producing a box of mummified bear galls, which he stated are sought after by the Chinese, who use them as charms against evil spir

He sells his hides with scalps intac when possible, getting a good price for them and saving the county the $1 scalp bounty. He has killed nearly 4 rattlesnakes this season, most of them in the Santa Maria region.—Presect (Ariz.) Special to San Francisco Bull-
