Pathetic Scenes as 25,000 Fugitives Cross the Border into Holland

(Special Cable Despatch to The Globe.

LONDON, Oct. 10.-The London Times' special correspondent at Rotterdam says:

I have just returned from the Belgian frontier, where I witnessed the most pathetic spectac'e it ever has been my lot to behold. I left Rotterdam this morning, in company with two Dutch journalists, via Dordrecht Breda, for Roosendaal. The previous night thousands of refugers had arrived at Rotterdam from Antwerp. The object of our expedition was to see for ourselves what was the situation nearer the Belgian border. This morning was beautifully fine, and Holland was looking at its best in the clear air and sparkling sunshine. Never shall I forget the terrible contrast presented by the peaceful landscape with the human sorrow and misery which for hours was forced upon our attention.

THE ADVANCE GUARD.

The advance guard of the fucitives was encountered at Dordrecht, stracgling little bands of men and women trudging along the wayside, with children clinging to their hands and skirts. The number increased when Exada was reached, and as we approached nearer the frontier little knots of these unfortunates grew more and more frequent. Our motor car stopped at Gundert for a moment. Instantly a weeping Belgian girl approached, and begged me to tell her whether a certain Antwerp fort, in which her brother was serving, bad been blown up as reported. From this moment onwards there was no cessation in the stream of wretchedness.

A PITIFUL PROCESSION. We were assured 25,000 fugitives passed along one road, and that not a main road, from Antwerp to Holl-Mrs. E. J. Morse, of Windsor, was land. The 400 Rexall Stores of Canada make an appeal to your sympathy and support in the their doubly worthy cause for increasing the funds of the Canadian Patriotic Organization and for the support of
