

WHI

- Whip, Esquimaux, ii. 156, 159
 Whiskey jack, or Canadian jay, Montagnais superstition respecting the, ii. 15
 Whittle, Cape, ii. 136
 Wild-fowl destroyed in a burning forest, i. 209
 — abundance of, in Seven Islands, i. 320
 Willow, the red (Cornus alba vel stolonifera), a decoction of, used as a purgative by the Indians, i. 189
 — various Indian names of it, i. 189
 Winding-sheet, a Montagnais, ii. 113
 Winds, prevailing, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, ii. 57
 Winter, Montagnais deity representing, ii. 12
 — Indian hunting in, i. 81
 — Indian mode of fishing in, ii. 107
 — winter life in the woods of the Labrador Peninsula, i. 198-200
 — Indian mode of passing the winter at the Dividing Ridge, i. 246
 Wolf Indians of Upper Canada, their former alliance with the Abenakis, i. 5, note
 Wolf, the Gray or Strongwood (Canis occidentalis, var. Griseus, Rich.), effect of strychnine on, i. 27.

YEO

- Wolf— continued
 — famines caused by wolves in Labrador and Upper Canada, i. 85
 — their ferocity, i. 193
 — drive away the caribou from the hunting-grounds, i. 199, 242
 Wolverine. See Carcajou
 Women :—
 — marriageable age of the girls of the Odahwah Indians, i. 179
 — degrees of relationship within which marriage was forbidden, i. 179
 — diseases to which Indian women are subject, i. 192
 — squaws preparing for Sunday, i. 331
 — a Montagnais squaw, i. 336
 — Appe-mus-kis' wives buying his winding-sheet, i. 344
 — their apparent insensibility, but silent grief, i. 344
 — a mistress's present to her lover, i. 345
 — condition of the Nasquapee women, ii. 99, 100

YEO ISLAND, great numbers of trout on the shoals near, i. 267

THE END.

LONDON

PRINTED BY SPOTTISWOODE AND CO

NEW-STREET SQUARE