

Let thine heart keep My commandments.
Prov. iii. 1.

A WELCOME VISITOR.

CT our meetings on Saturday and Sunday evenings we were specially favoured by having with us Mr. E. J. Kennedy, General Secretary, Y. M. C. A., Exeter Hall, London. He addressed both meetings and with good results. Mr. Kennedy is six ft. four in height, with the physique and carriage of an athlete and is a fine specimen of that "muscular christianity" that "Mens sana in corpore sano," a sound mind in a sound body, so much needed to-day to give backbone, and tone to that death-in-life vegetative existence which so many invalids, dyspeptics and hypochondriacs call life. Under the management of Mr. Kennedy we are confident the work at Exeter Hall will be carried forward to even greater success than in the past, and we wish them God speed in all their efforts. Spiritual, intellectual and physical in the noble attempt of benefitting and blessing the young men of the great metropolis.

MERCY is like the rainbow which God set in the heavens as a remembrance to man. We must never look for it after night: it shines not in the other world.
—J. Taylor.
