

PARAGRAPHIC.

The Archbishop of Canterbury has consented to become the patron of the Wimbledon Art College for Ladies.

The Guardian of the 18th laments to learn that the Bishop of Peterborough remains in a very precarious state at Dry Stoke, near Uppingham.

The late Dean (Boyd) of Exeter has bequeathed legacies amounting in the aggregate to nearly £40,000, to various societies and institutions connected with the Diocese of Exeter.

The Church Missionary Society reports this year the magnificent income of $1,486,155, including a gift from Mr. W. C. Jones of $360,000. The ordinary receipts were $1,002,000, showing an increase of $50,000, over last year.

The Echo states that the Rev. W. Benham, late vicar of Margate, and now rector of St. Edmund the King Lombard-street, has joined the English Church Union as a protest against Mr. Mackonochie's deprivation.

Good advice was given to the graduating class at Allegheny Theological Seminary when Dr. Wilson said: "Young gentlemen, study Hebrew roots, pour over Greek verbs, read Latin, and, if you have time and desire, translate ancient hieroglyphics; but I charge you when you go into the pulpit to preach the Gospel, to use plain Anglo-Saxon."

Mr. F. Cope Whitehouse, in an article in the London Academy takes the ground that the flight of Joseph and Mary into Egypt was not, as is generally thought, by land, but by water, and that the return was the same way. He supports the theory by many considerations. It entirely does away with old traditions, and destroys the value of many pictures of ancient art.

Mr. John P. Morton, head of the great Louisville publishing house, has nearly completed, and will soon turn over to its Board of Trustees, the Church Home and Infirmary. Already Mr. Morton has expended one hundred thousand dollars on this institution, and, in order to thoroughly equip it and place it upon a permanent basis, it is probable he will expend as much more.

At the church of Pere Hyacinthe in Paris, the service used in confirmation is an adaptation from the Roman Pontifical, and is much like our service, the ancient chrism being retained. At the regular services prayers are offered for the Pope of Rome, the Patriarch of Constantinople, and the Archbishop of Canterbury, and for the unity of the three branches of the Church Catholic over which they preside.

The people of Gethsemane parish, Minneapolis have taken a noble and striking way of showing their affection for their late rector, the Bishop-elect of Indiana. They have decided to build two more mission-chapels in the city, thus bringing to a round dozen the number of chapels erected by the parish. Such a tribute speaks in favor of both rector and people. What a glorious future seems in store for the Diocese of Indiana!

While some repairs were being made recently at the Protestant Church of St. James, in Augsburg, several very beautiful large frescoes were discovered. They were hidden beneath coats of whitewash. Among the subjects of these frescoes are a figure of the Saviour, figures of St. James and St. Anthony, and the crowning of the Virgin. A stone inscription record that they were executed between 1480 and 1495. It is said that these newly discovered works are precious memorials and specimens of the early Suabian School.

An old lady recently received a new bonnet. Shortly after she was missed, and her absence became so protracted that the family grew anxious and instituted a search. Finally she was discovered in her room, sitting quietly with the new bonnet on. Her daughter exclaimed "Why, mother, what are you doing here?" "Go along down," the old lady replied; "I am only getting used to this thing, so that I shall not be thinking about it all church-time to-morrow."

The Archbishops of Canterbury and York, and the Bishops of Durham, Rochester, and Liverpool, having been requested to recommend to the Church of England in Australia a Bishop for the diocese of Sydney, who will be Metropolitan of the Province and Primate of Australia, have recommended Canon Barry, D. D., Principal of King's College, for election to that see, and in obedience to the desire of the above named Bishops, Canon Barry has signified his willingness to accept the nomination.

Notwithstanding that the new President of the Wesleyan Conference has declared Wesleyanism to be "ecclesiastically as real a Church as any in Christendom, a part of the Church Catholic," there are evident traces in it of Protestant degeneracy. It seems that large defections are taking place from its ranks in consequence of the recent decision on baptism. Among these defections is the rather important one of Dr. Osborne, Professor of Hebrew and Classics in Richmond College, a member of the Old Testament Revision Committee, and a descendant of one of the earliest Methodist preachers.—Church Review.

On St. James' Day, the parish church of St. Martin, Kirk Levington, near Yarm, Yorkshire, was publicly re-opened, after restoration, by the Archbishop of York. The nave of the church has been entirely rebuilt at the cost of between £1,100 and £1,200, from the designs of Mr. Armfield, of Whitby. The two handsome Norman arches belonging to the former church have been carefully replaced. During the demolition of the old walls a number of Saxon stones of much interest were discovered, which belonged evidently to an early Saxon church on the same site. They have been carefully preserved by the Vicar, the Rev. F. D. Brock.

W. J. Guppy, druggist, of Newbury writes:—"Dr. Fowler's Wild Strawberry is just the thing for Summer Sickness. I sold out my stock three times last summer. There was a good demand for it." Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is infallible for Dysentery, Colic, Sick Stomach and Bowel Complaint.

A hair placed upon the face of the forging, and subjected to a pressure of 200 tons to the square inch between two hardened steel dies, was found, itself uninjured, to have been driven into the forging and to be imbedded in it. The hair was removed intact from the forging.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry will never fail you when taken to cure Dysentery, Colic, Sick Stomach, or any form of Summer Complaint. Relief is almost instantaneous; a few doses cure when other remedies fail.

There are in the human body 240 bones, and the average weight of all these bones is fourteen pounds. A man breathes about 1,200 times in an hour, and requires eight hogsheads or more of air in a day, and 540 pounds—more than a hogshead—of blood pass through the heart in an hour.

For Cramps, pain in the stomach, Bowel Complaint, or Chills, use Perry Davis' Pain Killer, see adv. in another column.
