

CATHOLIC CALENDAR. APRIL. THURSDAY, 20.—Leo I., Pope, Confessor, and Doctor of the Church (April 11). FRIDAY, 21.—St. Anselm, Bishop, Confessor, and Doctor of the Church. Cons. Bp. McNeirny, Albany, 1873.

A WONDERFULLY FREE TRANSLATION. A landlord in the neighborhood of Macroom, Cork, met one of his tenants who owned considerable arrears of rent, one day last week, when the following colloquy occurred: Landlord: "Well, Mick, when are you going to pay me my rent?" Tenant: "Well, to be sure, your honor, when the suspects are let out." After a slight pause the tenant made the sign of the cross, repeating in Irish the words, "In namon anar augus avicik augus a spirid nave. Amen"—which is perhaps unnecessary to say, when translated into English, means, "May they not be out for the next seven years!"—London Truth.

DON'T BE ALARMED at Bright's Disease, Diabetes, or any disease of the kidneys, liver or urinary organs, as Hop Bitters will certainly and lastingly cure you, and it is the only thing that will.

Holloway's Pills.—With the darkening days and changing temperatures the digestion becomes impaired, the liver disordered, and the mind despondent unless the cause of the irregularity be expelled from the blood and body by an alternative like these Pills. They go directly to the source of the evil, thrust out all impurities from the circulation, reduce distempered organs to their natural state, and correct all defective and contaminated secretions.

THE MONETARY CONFERENCE. PARIS, April 13.—It is understood that a note has been addressed to the Powers expressing the hope that the Monetary Conference will reassemble during the present year.

It is this Gaelic is a little stiff, the translation is the freest of the free. It should be written, "In namon anar augus a spirid nave. Amen"—which is perhaps unnecessary to say, when translated into anything except English, means, "In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen."—N. Y. Sun.

BULL-FIGHTING IN SPAIN. MADRID, April 12.—During bull fights here the celebrated bull-fighter Carancho had his nose smashed. The popular Espada Angel Pastor was gored by a bull and mortally wounded.

Now, as a matter of fact, during the past two or three years very few landlords have been murdered, very few process servers have been injured, very few spies have been laid low, and very few informers have been shot. It must be admitted that threatening valentines are too frequently sent to unhappy Irish landlords; and the bad example of the senders is unfortunately followed by the Chief Secretary, who from Dublin Castle issues his threatening notices to the people.

ANOTHER IMPERIAL MEETING ON THE TAPEIS. PRAGUE, April 12.—It is stated that the Russian Grand Duke Vladimir has informed the Emperor that the Czar ardently desires an interview with him, but circumstances do not permit an early meeting.

The overthrow of the British Constitution and the suspension of its protective power is the great crime in Ireland. In this country the provisions of our written Constitution must remain in force as long as the republic lives. In the language of the Supreme Court: "The Constitution is law for rulers and people, equality in war and in peace, and covers with the shield of its protection all classes of men, at all times and under all circumstances. No doctrine involving more pernicious consequences was ever invented by the wit of man than that any of its provisions can be suspended during any of the great emergencies of the Government. Such a doctrine leads directly to anarchy and despotism."

THE TURE. LONDON, April 12.—At the Newmarket Craven meeting to day the race for the Newmarket Handicap was won by "Springdale," F. Lorillard's "Neroid," 2nd; "Mackelene," 3rd.

Now, as a matter of fact, during the past two or three years very few landlords have been murdered, very few process servers have been injured, very few spies have been laid low, and very few informers have been shot. It must be admitted that threatening valentines are too frequently sent to unhappy Irish landlords; and the bad example of the senders is unfortunately followed by the Chief Secretary, who from Dublin Castle issues his threatening notices to the people.

WEATHER WISDOM. Under the title of "Old Probabilities" one of the most useful and valuable officers of the United States Government is most widely known. But quite as well known is Prof. J. H. Tice, the meteorologist of the Mississippi Valley, whose contributions to his favorite study have given him an almost national reputation. On a recent lecture through the Northwest, the Professor had a narrow escape from the serious consequences of a sudden and very dangerous illness, the particulars of which he thus refers to: "The day after concluding my course of lectures at Burlington, Iowa, on the 21st of December last, I was seized with a sudden attack of neuralgia in the chest, giving me excruciating pain and almost preventing breathing. My pulse, usually 80, fell to 35; intense nausea of the stomach succeeded and a cold, clammy sweat covered my entire body. The attending physician could do nothing to relieve me. After suffering for three hours I thought—as I had been using St. Jacobs Oil for good effect for rheumatic pains—I would try it. I saturated a piece of flannel large enough to cover my chest, with the Oil, and applied it. The relief was almost instantaneous. In one hour I was entirely free from pain, and would have taken the train to fill an appointment that night in a neighboring town had my friends not dissuaded me. As it was, I took the night train for my home, in St. Louis, and have not been troubled since."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

MR. DULANEY (New York) said the statement did not include all the receipts from New York. He knew New York contributed over $20,000. A similar remark was made by Flanagan (Cal.), who claimed that his State contributed over $28,000.

THE P. E. I. LEGISLATURE. ST. JOHN N. B., April 12. The P. E. I. Legislature was prorogued on Saturday last. During the Session 23 bills were passed. The Lieut.-Governor's speech was as follows:—

Both reports were unanimously accepted. John Boyle O'Reilly read the report of the committee on resolutions, which after the preamble, is as follows:—Resolved: "That the Convention of the Irish National Land League of the United States sent to the struggling tenant farmers in Ireland an expression of profound sympathy from millions of their race in America, who are proud of their faithful enduring adherence to the principles laid down by their brave leaders now in prison, and the earnest assurance that we will stand by them with continued moral and financial support until they have succeeded in abolishing their antiquated destructive land system. Resolved:—That we heartily endorse the desire of the Irish people for national existence, and as Ireland, first by force and again by corruption, was robbed of her birth-right, we pledge ourselves to do all that is consistent with American citizenship to place her again under American rule. Resolved:—"That we advise the farmers of Ireland to continue steadily and patiently in the passive resistance which has already proved so effective a weapon. We exhort them to stand unflinchingly by the policy left them by the leaders now in prison, and keep fresh in memory the words of Charles Stewart Parnell, addressed to them before his imprisonment—"Let no man leave his post, continue your organization just as before, and have others ready to take the place of those who may be arrested." By this policy of passive endurance the Irish people will command the respect of the world and prove themselves worthy of freedom. Resolved:—"That this convention instruct its officers to confer at the earliest opportunity with their council of 7, chosen at the Chicago Convention, as to the feasibility of uniting under one head all Land League branches now organized in the United States. Resolved:—"That we express the gratitude of the Irish-American people to the ladies of Ireland who, like the "women of Limerick," took the place of their husbands and brothers, and, assuming the risk of arrest and imprisonment, nobly upheld the flag of the Land League. Resolved:—"That we are proud of the Christian forbearance of the Irish people under their dreadful exasperations, and while exhorting every man in Ireland to continue to see his influence in preventing even the least act of violence," we solemnly charge the British Government, with the responsibility of all crimes and outrages of an extraordinary nature occurring since the imprisonment of the chosen leaders of an indomitable and exasperated people. Resolved:—"That while we do not ask the release of any citizen who violated the just laws of the land, we demand of the proper authorities, not as a favor but as a right, the immediate trial or unconditional release of American citizens confined without accusation in foreign jails. Considerable discussion followed. The report was finally adopted, nearly unanimously.

A Case of Twenty-Five Years' Standing. From the Venerable ARCHDEACON SCOTT, D.D., of Dunham, P. Q.

Mr. Sullivan. "Not heard of Mr. Sullivan," exclaimed a member of the Cincinnati Ladies' Literary Association: "Not heard of Boston's bleary-eyed boy of genius?" The pork-packer's fair, but ignorant, daughter blushed at the implied rebuke, and timidly asked: "What did he write?" "What did he write?" asked her companion, with increasing surprise? "Is it possible that you have never heard of 'The Mill on the Floss'?" As the hog merchant's crest-fallen child entered her parlor home that afternoon she wiped the moisture from her eyes with a pale blue handkerchief, and whispered: "I know I would never know anything if I had referred to send me to Yarrup."—Brooklyn Eagle.

It is a terrible stroke," said a sympathizing friend to a bereaved mother, after the funeral, "but your poor boy will be happier in the bright world to which he has gone." "I don't know about that," returned the mourner, "there ain't no birds' nests to rob there."

The ladies had organized an amateur theatrical company and were enjoying themselves in the drawing-room of the residence of one of the members of the troupe. They had secured a goat, pinned a table cover about its neck and were padding it around the apartment on its hind legs, when suddenly the door opened and the lady of the house made her appearance. Addressing her remarks to her son she demanded to know what all this meant.

"The man who has experienced in himself a great blessing, if he possesses any generous sentiment, cannot but feel sincere gratitude to the agent through whom he has been benefited." I am an inveterate dyspeptic of more than twenty-five years standing. I have been so wretchedly fully benefited in the three short weeks during which I have used the PERUVIAN STRAIP, that I can scarcely persuade myself of the reality. People who have known me are astonished at the change. I am widely known and can but recommend to others that which has done so much for me. Sold by all druggists.

LAND LEAGUE FUND. The Secretary of the Montreal Branch of the Irish National Land League has received the following:—

IRISH NATIONAL LAND LEAGUE, PARIS, 23rd March, 1882.

DEAR SIR,—I have duly received your esteemed note of 2nd inst., with accompanying remittance—value £204 1s 7d ($1,000)—from the Irish National Land League of Montreal. Herewith, I have the pleasure to enclose receipt for same, and to convey to you the hearty thanks of the Executive for your continued and generous support. The movement in Ireland is holding its ground determinedly.

I remain, my dear sir, Yours very faithfully, PATRICK EGAN, Treasurer.

Secretary, Irish National Land League, Montreal, Canada.

AN AMERICAN VIEW OF "OUTRAGES." We hear much about crimes and outrages in Ireland, but the specific charges supported by proof have not up to the present day shown any widespread or extraordinary increase of crime. It must not be forgotten that the outrage mill, which was run so successfully by unscrupulous politicians in this country, is an old English invention; and in all the declamation on the "horrors in Ireland" there is a suspicious sound like the familiar hum of the old machine. Certainly there are murders and misdeeds in Ireland, but it is perfectly plain that the English Government and the English press are doing their level best to make the most of the crimes there.

When the Queen expressed her abhorrence of outrages in Ireland committed against dumb and defenceless beasts, the Secretary of the Dublin Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals wrote to the Catholic Archbishop of Cashel, modestly requesting him to appeal to the Irish people to stop torturing cattle. The Archbishop replied: "First, that no one can deplore such outrages more bitterly than I do. Secondly, that I believe them, however, to be grossly and wilfully exaggerated, both as regards number and character." Thirdly, that I believe them, however, to be grossly and wilfully exaggerated, both as regards number and character."

Cruelty to animals is the crime of cowards. In Ireland it is doubtless confined to that portion of the peasantry degraded by the very system which the Land League was formed to overthrow.

Now, as a matter of fact, during the past two or three years very few landlords have been murdered, very few process servers have been injured, very few spies have been laid low, and very few informers have been shot. It must be admitted that threatening valentines are too frequently sent to unhappy Irish landlords; and the bad example of the senders is unfortunately followed by the Chief Secretary, who from Dublin Castle issues his threatening notices to the people.

The overthrow of the British Constitution and the suspension of its protective power is the great crime in Ireland. In this country the provisions of our written Constitution must remain in force as long as the republic lives. In the language of the Supreme Court: "The Constitution is law for rulers and people, equality in war and in peace, and covers with the shield of its protection all classes of men, at all times and under all circumstances. No doctrine involving more pernicious consequences was ever invented by the wit of man than that any of its provisions can be suspended during any of the great emergencies of the Government. Such a doctrine leads directly to anarchy and despotism."

In these memorable words there is sound instruction for American statesmen, which British rulers might well read with profit.—N. Y. Sun.

MR. SULLIVAN. "Not heard of Mr. Sullivan," exclaimed a member of the Cincinnati Ladies' Literary Association: "Not heard of Boston's bleary-eyed boy of genius?" The pork-packer's fair, but ignorant, daughter blushed at the implied rebuke, and timidly asked: "What did he write?" "What did he write?" asked her companion, with increasing surprise? "Is it possible that you have never heard of 'The Mill on the Floss'?" As the hog merchant's crest-fallen child entered her parlor home that afternoon she wiped the moisture from her eyes with a pale blue handkerchief, and whispered: "I know I would never know anything if I had referred to send me to Yarrup."—Brooklyn Eagle.
