CODE OF CONDUCT

ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURES AND GUIDANCE

Reporting System

Companies are asked to provide their annual public reports relating to the Code of Conduct in the standard reporting format which will be issued to them by the Administrator.

The annual report should state the facts as of December 31 each year and in particular should bring out clearly the progress achieved in the implementation of the various sections of the Code. Especially where they are considered to represent a significant contribution to the advancement and well-being of the black employees and their families and to the communities in which they live, companies should feel free to describe their achievements in some detail citing, wherever relevant, the financial provision for them in company budgets.

Companies should submit their annual reports to the Administrator by May 31 each year.

The Administrator will review and collate company reports and submit his annual report to the Secretary of State for External Affairs by May 31 each year. It will shortly thereafter be tabled in Parliament.

Members of the public who may wish to obtain a copy of any company annual report relating to the Code of Conduct will be informed that they should apply directly to the company concerned.

Collective Bargaining

This section of the Code does not ask companies to promote, set up, or do the job of trade unions. It does, however, ask companies to "ensure that their employees are free to organize collective bargaining units of their own choosing". A feature of the labour relations scene in recent years has been the involvement of black workers in the statutory industrial relations system and the emergence and growing influence of independent trade unions representing black employees. The Code states that companies should pay particular attention to such unions and be prepared to conclude recognition agreements with them. This should not, of course, be at the expense of the employees' freedom of choice.
