

Solvent recovery - Under certain conditions, contaminated solvent can be recycled after treatment by distillation or other methods. The solvent is then used as raw material.

Plant effluent - Effluent from the plant is treated in a separate system. The treated effluent is then used in the plant process. The effluent is treated by a process which is used continuously or intermittently. The effluent is treated by a process which is used continuously or intermittently. The effluent is treated by a process which is used continuously or intermittently.

Technology - The technology used in the plant is described. The technology used in the plant is described. The technology used in the plant is described. The technology used in the plant is described. The technology used in the plant is described.

Water - Water is used in the plant. Water is used in the plant. Water is used in the plant. Water is used in the plant. Water is used in the plant. Water is used in the plant. Water is used in the plant. Water is used in the plant. Water is used in the plant. Water is used in the plant.

Energy - Energy is used in the plant. Energy is used in the plant. Energy is used in the plant. Energy is used in the plant. Energy is used in the plant. Energy is used in the plant. Energy is used in the plant. Energy is used in the plant. Energy is used in the plant. Energy is used in the plant.

Solid and liquid waste - Solid and liquid waste is produced in the plant. Solid and liquid waste is produced in the plant. Solid and liquid waste is produced in the plant. Solid and liquid waste is produced in the plant. Solid and liquid waste is produced in the plant.