It is eafy to perceive how much the intercourse of business must fuffer by this uncertainty in the value of money, when a man receives that in payment this day for ten fhillings, which to-morrow he will not find received from him for five, or perhaps for three. Real money can hardly ever multiply too much in any country, becaufe it will always as it increases be the certain fign of the increase of trade, of which it is the measure, and confequently of the foundness and vigour of the whole body. But this paper money may, and does increase, without any increase of trade, nay often when it greatly declines, for it is not the measure of the trade of the nation, but of the neceffity of its government; and it is abfurd, and must be ruinous, that the fame. caufe which naturally exhausts the wealth of a nation, fhould likewife be the only productive caufe of money.

The currency of our plantations must not be fet upon a level with the funds in England. For befides that the currency carries no interest to make fome amends for the badness of the fecurity; the fecurity itself is fo rotten, that no art can give it any lasting credit; as there are parts of New England wherein, if the whole stock and the people along with it were
