

ful duty. In December, 1849, the funeral sermon on occasion of the death of the venerable ROBERT L. LUSHER was preached; in the March following, another funeral sermon was called for by the sudden death of the friend of the deceased and his predecessor in office, MATTHEW LANG; and now, when we expected most from his matured piety and from his experience in evangelic labours,—now, when the circumstances of the Church seemed to demand his stay among us,—WILLIAM SQUIRE, too, is called to his reward.

“ God moves in a mysterious way
His wonders to perform;
He plants his footsteps in the sea,
And rides upon the storm.

“ Deep in unfathomable mines
Of never-failing skill,
He treasures up his bright designs,
And works his sovereign will.”
