EDUCATION AND LIFE WORK.

One of these days a wide-awake educationist will open his eyes still wider and remember how he felt about the education system when he was a boy. He will gather the opinions of other old boys who recollect without the prejudices begotten in later years. And he will gather also the ideas of bright boys now at school, and their views as to what might be done to improve the system. It is an egregious error to suppose that children know nothing about teaching—or teachers. An unpopular teacher as a rule is not a good teacher. There is a reason. No criticism is so candid, so searching, and so utterly remorseless as that of the average boy or girl. Teachers, of course, resent it. But teaching authorities should pay more attention to it. They would be able to secure better results in many cases. It may be objected that this involves tale-bearing and sets up an espionage system among the pupils. But that depends entirely on how the matter is handled. At any rate, plenty of parents in the city can give evidence on the question, and good reasons for the unpopularity and the undependability of some teachers in the positions they fill.

But the personality of the teachers is not nearly so important as the system of teaching. Are children ever examined as to why they cannot learn certain subjects? Are any pains taken to lead pupils to that side of a subject which interests them? The approach, the presentation, counts for almost everything in teaching.

Is the fact not overlooked very often that it is not the things learned at school that benefit the pupil? Most of us have forgotten all the really technical knowledge we acquired in the school room. It is a frequent testimony from successful men that they never really learned anything till they left school. The school system must have something to apologize for when it leaves itself open to such a complaint. Dr. Hughes advocates the stimulation of the child's own initiative, but this is what most teachers object to, and it is exactly what successful men need. The tendency with many teachers is to repress, instead of encouraging, the child's initiative on the ground that children are trouble enough as it is. Here again the tact of the teacher comes in to distinguish between the bold and forward, and the eager and spirited.

There is no more thankless task in the world, and even the moral reformer, if they come at all, come late. Few live to see a crop of successful pupils filling important positions in the community and acknowledging their indebtedness to their early teachers. And probably not ten per cent. of the teachers go thru their work with such a prospect in view. Yet such far-sighted sympathy is the basis of all successful teaching.

A YEAR'S HOLIDAY.

Doubt is expressed whether Mr. Winston Churchill's invitation to a year's holiday in 1914 will be accepted by the European continental powers. Yet, looked at in itself, it is an entirely reasonable proposal. Once a certain relationship in naval or military power has been established to more or less material satisfaction, that ratio will be maintained which ever country sets itself to alter the pace. And after all is said and done the position remains substantially as it was before the attempt was made.

Whatever may be brought against the balance of power that has been for so long the dominant factor in European politics, it has made for peace, and that for the simple reason that with approximate equality neither side would accept the risk of initiating war. Today the rise of the new Balkan confederacy has disturbed the old alignment, but Germany's efforts at readjustment to the altered circumstances has been countered by corresponding movements. The result is only added burdens that will tend to make war still more disastrous to the system of international credit on which every country is becoming increasingly dependent.

OUR PUBLIC UNIVERSITY.

In the report of the chairman of the public library board for 1912, just issued, Mr. Turnbull lays stress on the results of the Children's Story Hour. The National Story Hour in the J. Ross Robertson Memorial Room, where Mr. Robertson's priceless collection of historical prints are hung, has been particularly successful. Mr. Robertson's splendid gift has attracted an attendance of 26,890 visitors in the eleven months covered by the report. This is the sincerest evidence of appreciation of this valuable collection. Under Chief Librarian Locke the expansion in the patronage of the libraries has been little less than phenomenal. The reference library has kept pace in this respect with the circulation, a total of 220,283 volumes having been consulted during the year. The fiction and juvenile departments show up above all others, but as all kinds of fiction are included, it would be as fair to classify all miscellaneous reading together. Out of 485,914 books issued thru all the libraries, only 265,107 are fiction. The arts, general literature, travel, history and biography have from 11,000 to 15,000 volumes apiece borrowed to their credit. During the year 16,206 new books were added to the libraries.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC ACCOUNTS.

There is only one explanation of the Rowell policy in the Hydro-Electric Commission. It is based on the belief that as one leads one's own life one judges one's neighbors. The policy was inaugurated by The Globe, which is constitutionally incapable of believing in the honesty of the Conservative government. The Globe thinks there must be something crooked about the hydro-electric system. See how successful it is? Is the Grit reflection. It is humanly improbable that all this money could have been honestly spent. Mr. Rowell, when he abandoned The Globe, would have done well to run over The Globe policies and discard those which do not work as well in office as in opposition. If Mr. Rowell desires to be thought honest he will give Hon. Adam Beck credit for honesty. If he desires to be regarded as a man of integrity, he will give Sir James Whitney credit for integrity. The Globe never could do that, and The Globe has accordingly made a mess of Ontario Liberalism. At the same time there has not been the slightest desire to conceal the affairs of the hydro-electric system from anyone having the right to know them. Has The Globe, or has Mr. Rowell, ever been refused any information asked in confidence? Whether all such information should be published broadcast is another question. The electric corporations are not required to publish their affairs, and there is no reason why the Hydro-Electric Commission should be handicapped by disclosure of all its business dealings.

A CAMPAIGN OF CLEANLINESS.

This is the time to initiate a campaign against the fly, that dangerous carrier of disease. In April it begins to deposit the eggs from which will come the swarms that multiply with such amazing rapidity. One pair becomes the ancestors of billions before the fly season passes, and if Toronto is to be a flyless city this year, the work of extermination must commence now. A United States medical journal has this to remark that "Americans being a people much moved by flies, 'Swat the Fly' is one that has excited a vast deal of industry, with somewhat very appreciable diminution in the number of flies. With a better understanding of the conditions, the wisest slogan, 'Starve the Fly,' has supplanted the other." Hence the proposal of the New York Commissioner of Health to have a civic spring cleaning.

Dirt is the breeding place of flies and the most important part of an anti-fly crusade is the removal of all unsanitary accumulations that assist their propagation. It is just the old story that prevention is better than cure. Swatting the fly became unnecessary when there are no flies to swat and they are never found far from their birthplaces, the elimination of these means immunity. A campaign of public education on the question of cleanliness, which on high authority is next to godliness, might well invite the co-operation of all churches and other public agencies for social betterment.

The Ladies' Home Journal calls attention to the fact that American girls, in copying Parisian fashions, are led into the error of following the styles of the demi-monde, and not the tasteful and unobtrusive modes of decent people. It is to be hoped that Canadians do not make a similar mistake.

BUTCHERING HORSE NEWS.

The following paragraph about Brantford horses which recently appeared in a Chicago turf journal, shows how badly harness horse news can be messed.

"J. C. Johnson, a brother of Abu, is located at the same place with the chestnut mare Dave's Last, by Stinson, 2:18 1/4, dam Dona (dam of Jennie, 2:12 1/4, and McDams, p. 2:12 1/4). This mare showed great promise two years ago, but went amiss and was turned. She has been jogged all winter and will be given another tryout. J. C. also has a five-year-old bay horse by Steel Trust, dam by Jerome Eddy, bay filly by Stinson, dam Dona, and a three-year-old filly by Kentucky Todd, 2:08 1/4, dam by Dr. John." The "J. C." should read Lew. "Dave's Last" should be Dave's Last, police court here today in fines because too much liquor was found on their premises by the police. It was held that they were merely celebrating family events, but the magistrate believed that the liquor was kept for sale purposes.

TOMATO CULTURE FULLY EXPLAINED

Results of Experiments Carried on at Dominion Experimental Farm.

PROFIT IN EARLY FRUIT

Stocky, Sturdy Plants Should Be Aimed at by Producers.

Almost anyone with a garden or farm in a temperate climate can grow tomatoes with greater or less success, but there is a great difference between the extent and quality of the crops grown by different persons in the same locality. These differences are due to several causes, among which the varieties grown and methods of cultivation practised are perhaps the chief.

According to experiments carried on for years at the Experimental Farm at Ottawa, Earlina, of which there are several strains, is the best early sort, but Bonny Best, Chalks' Early, and also good early kinds. Of later varieties, Matchless Trophy, Livingston's Globe and Plaintiff rank high.

Early Fruit for Profit. It is the early fruit that makes the profit. In growing plants what should be aimed at is the production of a stocky, sturdy plant, which will have some fruit set upon it when set in the field. After planting the chief work is to protect the plants from diseases, of which there are several, and even when quite young, with Bordeaux mixture. These and many other things which cover practically the whole field of tomato culture, in the greenhouse as well as in the garden and field, are fully treated in pamphlet No. 10, the central Experimental Farm, prepared by the Dominion Horticulturist, W. T. Macoun. This work for free distribution to all who apply for it, is available at any branch of the department of agriculture at Ottawa.

WHY CATHOLICS PRAY TO VIRGIN

Rev. Father Burke Answered Questions With Reference to Creed of Church of Rome.

At the mission for non-Catholics now being conducted by Rev. Father Burke at Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Sherburne street, one of the questions asked last night was "Why do Catholics pray to the Blessed Virgin and not to God directly?" "Catholics of Rome," replied the priest, "are in fact, taught and ever, also to pray to the Blessed Virgin, and to pray for one for another, on the principle that the prayer of the faithful is more powerful than that of the priest. When we pray for the prayers for us, when we pray to God for our sins, when we pray for the souls of the departed, we are asking them to pray for us, to ask of God His blessings upon us, to ask of the
