Fire Island, N.Y., Jan. 4.—Removal or 200 wounded, the last of the army transport. Nothern Pacific's soldier passenger list aboard the stranded liner, was best on early today under clearing skies and in an even sea. Submarine chasers and naval launches, carrying the men to the fospital ship Solace, were expected to complete the operation before noon.

Four naval launches drew alongside the ship, which developed a heavier seaward list during the night and the hospital ship Solace took a position closer inshore in preparation for the rescue of the wounded veterans of European battlefields. Many of those remaining on board are litter cases, thus adding to the percentage of disability.
